$1,000 in loot

Pair holds 2 at gunpoint in area home

Two men were held at gunpoint in a Diamond Bar home Wednesday while the place was looted of almost $1,000 in household items, sheriff's deputies reported.

The resident, James Pennington, 24, and his companion, Guy Maggard, 19, of Baldwin Park, said Pennington was confronted by a man with a hand gun when he answered a knock on the door shortly before midnight.

The gunman forced Pennington back inside the house and then tied up both before being joined by a second man and rifling the place.

Among the items taken were a color television set, AM-FM radio receiver, a tape player, tapes, a variety of jewelry pieces and some cash. The loot apparently was driven away in a noisy car the victims heard leave later.

It took Pennington and Maggard almost 30 minutes to free themselves, deputies said.

The intruders were described as two young Negroes.

Nixon served 2 subpoenas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two subpoenas requiring Richard M. Nixon to give testimony in trials were served on the former president at his San Clemente home Wednesday night, the Justice Department said today.

A Justice Department spokesman said a representative of the U.S. Marshal Service served both subpoenas at 6:30 p.m. PDT to Nixon "in person."

One subpoena requires Nixon to appear as a defense witness for former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman at his Watergate cover-up trial scheduled to begin in Washington Sept. 30.

The second subpoena requires Nixon to give a sworn statement on Sept. 24 at Santa Ana, Calif., for use in a civil suit by a group of persons claiming they were illegally denied access to a "Billy Graham rally" at which Nixon appeared in 1971 in Charlotte, N.C.

Unidentified man killed in crash

An unidentified elderly man was killed this morning when his van truck, westbound on Holt Boulevard in Ontario, apparently went out of control and crashed into a utility pole.

Police this morning had not positively identified the driver of the vehicle, who was pronounced dead on arrival at Ontario Community Hospital shortly after the 10:10 a.m. accident.

On impact, the utility pole was severed.

It fell across the 1000 block of E. Holt Boulevard, halting traffic for nearly half an hour along the busy highway.

There also was a woman, possibly the victim's wife, in the van. She was apparently only sligitly injured, the police said.

No further information was immediately available.

Getting upper hand with new infrared device

2,200 on line in Hemet blaze

HEMET, Calif. (UPI) — Firefighters using Vietnam War technology gained an upper hand today over an arson-set fire which had raced out of control through thousands of acres of brush timber and set vacationers fleeing.

For the first time in fire fighting annals, helicopter pilots wearing binocular-like eyeglasses that allowed them to see as well as in daylight made repeated water drops during the night.

By dawn, the U.S. Forest Service said the blaze which broke out Tuesday was 60 per cent contained. No estimate was made for when full containment was expected.

Los Angeles County Fire Department and Forest Service helicopter pilots flew joint infrared scanning flights during the night for the first time in fire fighting control, a Forest Service spokesman said today.

The binocular-like eyeglasses were developed during the Vietnam War to pick out the fire lines. The glasses utilize the light from stars to enable the pilots to see clearly.

"They actually made water drops at night," the spokesman said. "This is a direct spin-off of Vietnam War technology.

"We're very enthusiastic about this because for the first time we can make night water drops on fires to assist the ground crews."

An estimated 2,200 men working 12-hour shifts were on the fire lines today in a major effort to bring the fire under control.

The spokesman said the blaze had burned through 17,500 acres, much of it in steep mountain terrain, and had a perimeter of 34 miles.

More than 1,000 persons were evacuated from campgrounds, resorts, a juvenile detention camp and the mountain community of Pine Cove.

Firefighters were airlifted by helicopter over the flames and rugged mountains Wednesday to try to save the village of about 700 persons 5,800 feet high on Indian Mountain. The blaze was turned back only three miles from the town.

"The fire was definitely caused by arson," said a spokesman for the California Division of Forestry. "Investigators found the match that began it —one match —on the Soboba Indian Reservation." The blaze began Tuesday morning.

Palm Springs, 20 miles east of the main fire area, was blanketed in soot, smoke and a light dusting of ashes.

"There's a grey carpet of ash on the sidewalks, and people are skimming it off their swimming pools," said Palm Springs newsman Ed Kibbey.

"We can't see the sun or the sky or anything else" because of the smoke clouds, said Chuck Price, of neighboring Palm Desert. "It's just all yellow."

"The smoke cover reduced the temperature by 10 degrees during the day," Libbey said. The smoke could be seen in Borrego Springs, 50 miles to the south.

Three firemen suffered minor injuries, including a broken ankle. The force included 12 air tankers, six helicopters, 92 pumper trucks and 26 bulldozers.

The highway patrol closed California 243, the road from Idyllwild to Banning, when the flames leaped the highway. An unoccupied two story home was burned.

Eighty youths were trucked away from the Twin Pines Ranch, a Riverside County detention camp for delinquent boys, as flames stabbed to within a mile of the facility, whipped by erratic, 30-mile-an-hour winds.

An outbuilding burned at a Girl Scout camp, where 38 scout leaders, warned to clear out, rounded up more than 100 girls between the ages of 10 and 15.

The scouts marched two miles in orderly ranks through clouds of smoke, singing songs, to reach a point where they could board buses.

The fire had destroyed more than 5 million board feet of timber by late Wednesday.

State forestry officials said two other fires —quickly extinguished —were deliberately set Wednesday, near Anza and Sage, and announced "a heavy fire prevention patrol throughout western Riverside County and southwestern San Bernardino county, including use of aircraft."

They also offered a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest of the arsonist.

MASSIVE DOWNTOWN EXPLOSION

Firemen douse burning rubble after an early morning explosion leveled two nightclubs, a church, businesses and homes in Chattanooga's downtown area. At least 13 persons were hurt.

At least 13 injured in massive downtown Chattanooga blast

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) — A thunderous explosion ripped through a strip of nightclubs, businesses and apartments in a predominantly black section of Chattanooga today, hurling debris more than a block away and causing an estimated $10 million in damages.

Police said at least 13 persons were injured. There were no reports of fatalities.

Fire and Police Commissioner Gene Roberts declined to speculate on whether the blast was caused by natural gas. "Preliminary indications are that it was something other than a bomb," Roberts said.

Chief Deputy Gene Glaze estimated damage at $10 million and said the entire 300 block of Chattanooga's Ninth Street where the explosion occurred would have to be razed because buildings that escaped the fire resulting from the blast sustained extensive structural damage.

The explosion left a smoldering six-foot crater at Ninth and Mable, where a one-story building had housed the Stardust Lounge and the Cactus Club. A two-story building extending the remainder of the block and housing a barbershop, another lounge and upstairs apartments was badly damaged.

Flames from the explosion soared 200 feet into the air and destroyed the St. James Baptist Church and two frame houses behind the clubs.

Sgt. Don Weller and officer Rick Wynn of the Police Department were three blocks away when the blast occurred and said they found a holocaust when they arrived.

"We saw people lying on the sidewalk and running from the buildings screaming their heads off," said Weller. "We went to what was left of the barbersrop and pulled about five people from under the bricks. We stayed inside as long as we could trying to search for others but the walls started caving in on top of us."

"You've never seen anything like this in your life," said Wynn. "I thought all of the Big Nine (nightclub strip) was gone."

John Banks, 73, a Chattanooga native now living in Chicago, was sitting in the barbershop with his brother-in-law, Rev. John McDonald, waiting for a bus to return to Chicago.

"We had been in the barbershop about two hours talking," said Banks. "All of a sudden there was a boom and the walls and ceiling started coming down on me. Then I heard boom boom. There were three explosions and that's all I remember."

Firemen dragged Banks from his brother-in-law's barber shop unconscious.

State Senate clears way for 'no-fault' car insurance

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Landmark no-fault car insurance legislation promising big cuts in insurance prices and quick settlement of claims, was hurried to the Assembly today for a final and decisive vote as lawmakers neared adjournment.

The Senate ended a bitter, 18-month deadlock Wednesday night by approving the historic bill on a 22-15 vote.

It was the closest no-fault has come to enactment in the nation's most populous and automobile happy state.

Affecting all 13 million licensed drivers in California, the compromise proposal (AB50) supported by Gov. Ronald Reagan and most of the insurance industry contained these provisions:

—Immediate payment of up to $55,000 per person in medical and related benefits from a motorist's own insurance company regardless of who is at fault in an accident.

—A mandatory reduction of at least 15 per cent in the cost of personal injury insurance policies for a minimum of one year.

—Limits on the ability of injured motorists to sue in court for extra, "pain and suffering" damages beyond their medical expenses.

The theory behind the proposal is that by severely restricting the number of costly lawsuits, motorists will benefit with lower insurance costs and speedier settlements.

Opponents contended it would strip Californians of their right to seek legitimate damages in court.

The bill passed the Assembly a year and a half ago, but quickly stalemated in committee. The last-minute Senate vote sent the measure back for approval of amendments.

Its author, Assemblyman Jack R. Fenton, D-Montbello, told reporters he had been assured of enough support to send it to the governor. If signed into law, it would become effective at 12:01 a.m. on Sept. 1, 1975.

Senate action occurred after two nights of floor debate, two compromise amendments and an on-again, off-again roll call which spanned seven hours.

No-fault insurance, already enacted in many other states, has come before legislators for the past four sessions, but was stymied in a high-stakes, economic tug-of-war between insurance companies, trial lawyers, consumer groups and the Reagan administration.

The California Trial Lawyers Association, a powerful group representing scores of attorneys who earn their livings from auto accident cases, bitterly opposed the Fenton measure.

They sponsored their own rival no-fault plan (AB801), authored by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, which the Senate defeated Wednesday by a 16-19 vote, although supporters were given permission for another try later.

During the protracted debate and negotiations, lobbyists representing various interests, crowded into visitors' galleries in the ornate Senate chambers and huddled outside the doors with friendly lawmakers.

The legislature was scheduled to adjourn this week, allowing senators and assemblymen to prepare for re-election campaigns.

Rock concert at speedway canceled

The rock concert scheduled for Sept. 21 and expected to draw 100,000 at the Ontario Motor Speedway has been cancelled.

This resulted from a "major dispute" with the rock musical group, Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young, said Samuel Crowe, attorney for the producers, California Concert, Inc.

"I don't know if the dispute was internal and I don't know why the group backed out," he said.

The rock concert, the second to be scheduled at the speedway, had been an on-again, off-again affair since first proposed. It was first set for July 6, but was canceled due to a scheduling problem."

Then the promoters postponed an August date because of hot weather.

A major controversy had developed after the initial concert, the California Jam, because of the behavior of the 200,000-plus crowd and traffic snarls.

A crowd of 100,000 had been anticipated, said Ken Hunter, Ontario city manager. Promotions were limited to Southern California.

Police officials had spent "some time" in preparing for the concert. "We have a $75,000 cash deposit to cover the preliminary work," he noted. "We will have no problem of pay for city costs."

Body to discontinue weekly gas reports

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California State Automobile Association has discontinued its weekly report on gasoline availability in various areas of the state.

The action was taken Wednesday because the auto group said the situation has stabilized "at near normal levels." The association said it will continue to monitor the situation, and will resume the report if availability deteriorates.

No price controls

Ford indicates compassion for Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford feels Richard Nixon has suffered enough from the Watergate scandal, and he thinks the country agrees. While making no commitment, Ford said he is reserving his right to pardon his predecessor should Nixon be prosecuted.

Ford also told his first White House news conference Wednesday that Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski "has an obligation" to take whatever legal action he deems warranted against Nixon or anyone else involved in Watergate.

A White House official said Ford is leaning toward a pardon for Nixon if his case should reach Ford's desk.

Ford faced another busy schedule today, with meetings with top women presidential appointees, United Autos Workers president Leonard Woodcock and Saudi Arabian foreign minister Omar Saqqaf.

Ford, outwardly calm and confident throughout the nationally televised news conference in the East Room of the White House, also said he has totally rejected wage and price controls to solve economic problems.

"Wage and prices controls are out —period," he said. But officials said voluntary wage-price guidelines are under consideration.

Ford reiterated that the nation's number one problem is inflation. He promised budget cuts to hold federal spending below $300 billion in the fiscal year ending next June 30. He spoke of a $5.5 billion reduction in spending and said that "will convince people who might have some doubts that we mean business."

On other matters, Ford:

—Repeated that he "probably" will be a candidate in 1976 and said he and vice presidential nominee Nelson Rockefeller would make a "good team." But Ford added that the ultimate decision would be left to the Republican National Convention.

—Hinted that U.S policy of sanctions againt Cuba could change "if Cuba changes its policy toward us and its Latin neighbors.." But he said the United States "would certainly act in concert with other members of the Organization of American States." Several Latin American countries have broken the economic embargo on Cuba and resumed diplomatic relations with the Castro government.

In a friendly atmosphere, contrasting to the hostility evident in Nixon's last few news conferences, Ford fielded 27 questions in a half hour and appeared at ease.

He said he had asked for "prayers

Local judge issued order on Sinatra

Singer Frank Sinatra was to answer questions about his drinking habits and alleged misbehavior today in San Francisco on order of Judge Robert Firth of U.S. District Court of Los Angeles.

Firth is a Pomona resident and a former supervising judge of the Pomona Superior Court.

Sinatra first was ordered to answer questions at Lake Tahoe, then Los Angeles and finally San Francisco. His attorneys have succeeded in barring newsmen from the proceedings.

Firth ordered Sinatra to provide a deposition for use in the trial of a $2.5 million suit filed against the singer and two others by a Salt Lake City, Utah, businessman.

Firth said Sinatra must appear today in the San Francisco law offices of Marvin Lewis, attorney for Frank J. Weinstock, who said he was beaten by by singer and two of his cronies in Palm Springs in May 1973.

In his suit, Weinstock alleges he was beaten by Sinatra, restaurateur Jilly Rizzo and Jerry Arvenitas following an argument over Weinstock's wife.

Man denies he ordered death of valley farmer

A Los Angeles man, on trial with his wife in Los Angeles Superior Court where they are accused of murder in the death March 19 of a wealthy San Dimas strawberry farmer, Wednesday denied he ordered the killing and said it was the idea of a student of his.

James Mitose, 57, described by the prosecution as a self-styled minister and karate master, said his student, Terry Lee, 27, had offered to kill Frank Namimatsu, 65, for $3,000.

Lee, a former Marine, pleaded guilty in July to second-degree murder in the slaying of Namimatsu and faces sentencing Oct. 4.

Mitose testified that Lee had proposed the murder and threatened to kill him if he went to police.But Lee previously said that Mitose instructed him to kill Namimatus and recover $100,000 which belonged to Mitose.

The prosecution contends that Mitose bilked Namimatsu out of $100,000 in a phony medical cure of Mrs. Toshiko Namimatsu, 61, and then ordered their death to prevent their going to police.

Namimatsu was choked and beaten to death and his wife was choked but survived in a night-time attack in their Los Angeles home.

Namimatsu and his brother, Pete, operated Namimatsu Farms Inc., with offices at 427 E. Allen Ave., in San Dimas. They planned a 300-unit cluster housing development there.

Man picked up as drug suspect admits robbery

A 33-year-old Upland man arrested on suspicion of being under the influence of heroin by Upland police Wednesday admitted robbing the Fotomat store at 273 E. Foothill Blvd. last week, police reported.

LeRoy Chancery Collins of 822 San Ysidro Ave., Upland, was booked in the West End Jail this morning on suspicion of being under the influence of heroin and armed robbery following his arrest at the Upland Police Station.

Police said that Collins was brought to the station by detectives and, under questioning, admitted to the robbery. In the robbery, a man simulated a weapon and demanded the cashier, Patty Caperton, 18, hand over all the cash and change from the register.

Santa workshop helpers needed

Santa Claus needs help in his Pomona workshop.

Volunteers are sought to make dresses for dolls and to repair "wheel" toys such as bikes, trikes and wagons.

The Santa Claus, Inc., which maintains a workshop at 163 Pomona Mall West, expects to distribute some 3,000 toys to 1,000 children next Christmas.

"But we can't wait until December to begin working on the toys," said Mrs. Ella Bockover, president. "We need volunteers now."

Workers are needed especially to dress some 500 dolls. This includes making the clothes. "If individuals would take from 10 to 12 dolls each, then we have these completed in a short time."

At present, senior citizens and friends of Mrs. Bockover are preparing the dolls. Mrs. Bockover said she has wigs and shoes and socks for these.

In addition to volunteers, the group is seeking money and materials for certain toys and also manpower to put the bikes together.

Members of the Altrusa Club are presently making Christmas stockings for the children. "Now we need some small toys to fill them," she said.

The workshop is open daily from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Ocean raft survival experiment

Ordeal trims 40 pounds off them

HONOLULU (UPI) — Two Navy reserve pilots who wanted to keep going were rescued today, 120 miles short of their destination after spending 53 days crossing the Pacific Ocean in a rubber liferaft.

Bearded and gaunt George Sigler, 29, and Charles Gore, 27, both of Alameda, Calif., were picked up by a Coast Guard helicopter and brought to Honolulu along with their 16-foot craft.

Despite 20 days without food and brush with death when a storm capsized the raft off Monterey, Calif., both were in excellent health and fully prepared to press on to the island of Kaui, 120 miles to the west.

"We were just testing the survival equipment we had designed," Sigler said. "We are happy to say it was successful."

Their voyage was intended to prove that two men in a 16-foot rubber raft with simple survival gear but without food or water could not only survive, but find their way across the ocean.

The two reserve pilot lost 40 pounds apiece since they were towed out of the Golden Gate July 4, unfurled their small sail and headed for Hawaii.

Two days later both were nearly drowned when a giant wave capsized the raft and they spent two hours struggling to get back aboard. All their equipment and clothes were lost except for a few emergency spares.

Their only food energy came from three pieces of candy and one Vitamin C pill a day for the first 40 days.

Then they ran out of pills and candy, and existed solely on water made from a solar still until the day before they were rescued, when they caught their first fish —five dolphin.

They lived in soaked clothing and slept and kept house in a six-by-three-foot space, always fearful that a wave would capsize their raft again.

"The sea can be a dangerous place." Gore mused. "But it is a capricious danger, one that man can challenge, and we did that.

"We dared to go the 2,600 mile route in a 16-foot boat and didn't take any food or water. We met the challenge, and we hope that what we did will save the lives of future castaways."

Although both men said they were big eaters who rarely missed lunch, neither ever got hungry or suffered from stomach cramps. But their thoughts were constantly on food.

"Everything we said was related to food," Sigler said. "Every night we dreamed about food. I always dreamed of pancakes covered with syrup."

They got their water from solar stills, navigated with a wrist watch and hoped to supplement their diet with fish.

The pair explained that they did not know the Coast Guard —upon instructions from the Navy —was looking for them, and said they contacted the Coast Guard "quite unintentionally."

"As this was an official Navy medical experiment," Sigler said, "We understood why they wanted us to terminate it, but we wanted to make a landfall.

"It was a slight misunderstanding. We were going to go on since we had caught those fish and we felt ecstatic about that.

"We understood the Navy wanted to get us into the hospital to complete their part of the experiment, and also we wanted to do it too as we were interested in knowing what happened to our bodies on the trip."

After surviving the big wave off California, Sigler said, "We were both very concerned, and in our own minds we were both thinking of terminating the experiment then and there, but we didn't tell each other.

"We were both thinking that, Christ, if we turned over on the second day out, what was going to happen the rest of the 2,600 miles."

Child injured by car, three others hurt in city mishaps

A 6-year-old child suffered head and internal injuries Wednesday evening when he was hit by a car in Pomona as he was hurrying home because it was getting dark.

The victim, Desmond A. Palmer, 2311 W. Laurel Ave., was reported in fair condition today at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. His condition was stable, however.

Willie Paul Leonard, 35, 1121 Cromwell St., Pomona, told police that the boy ran in front of his car while he was southbound in Ganesha Boulevard near Murchison Avenue.

Earlier, three persons suffered minor injuries when their car overturned in Mission Boulevard west of Phillips Boulevard.

The driver, Patty Ruth Weeks, 37, of Perris, was arrested on suspicion of felonious drunken driving. She, her daughter, 15-year-old Debbie, and a passenger, Kathy Ann Geiger, 19, Perris, all were treated for minor injuries at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Police reported that Mrs. Weeks apparently lost control of her car when the wheels on one side ran off the pavement.

Suspect in strangling case faces Superior Court trial

Gary Lee Dacanay, 22, 945 Nocta St., Ontario, has been bound over to West Valley Superior Court to stand trial on a charge of murder in connection with the strangulation death of an Ontario woman on July 23.

Dacanay was ordered held to answer on the murder charge following a preliminary hearing by West Valley Municipal Court Judge Martin Hildreth. Hildreth ordered Dacanay to return to the Superior Court on Sept. 9 for arraignment.

Dacanay accused of strangling his 21-year-old girlfriend Sharon Louise Cramer, 21, of 531 E. State St., Ontario. Mrs. Cramer was found dead under a pile of clothing on a bed in the home of Dacanay on July 23. Her body was dressed in a U.S. Army uniform.

In the preliminary hearing, Patton State Hospital psychiatrist Dr. Otto Gericke testified that Dacanay may be suffering from either schizophrenia or epilepsy. He said that the defendant, had he strangled the woman, may have been insane at the time of act. A county pathologist testified that Mrs. Cramer died as a result of manual strangulation, but said it was an unusual death as the woman's neck bore no bruises. The pathologist testified that someone suffering from an epileptic seizure sometimes loses control of his hands, and his fingers involuntarily tighten up.

Youths rob 2 valley firms

Ontario police this morning were investigating a hold-up at the Burger Bandit drive-in at 1244 N. Grove Ave. and a strong-armed robbery the Frontier Surplus Store at 401 S. Euclid Ave. Wednesday.

About 10 p.m. two youths, one armed with a black handgun, robbed the Burger Bandit drive-in at 1244 N. Grove Ave. in Ontario of a small amount of cash.

Police said that cooks Chris Allen Austin, 16, and Stephen Adcock, 17, were in the process of closing the drive-in when two men in a white car drove into the parking lot. The two men exited the vehicle and confronted Austin while he was repairing a speaker outside. Austin said he was forced back into the business when one of the robbers produced a handgun. The two robbers emptied the safe at the drive-in and ran to their car, escaping south on Grove Avenue.

The cooks described both of the robbers as Negro juveniles, one 16 to 17 and the other 14 to 15. One of the youths was wearing a dark colored jacket and other a green derby hat.

Wednesday afternoon Corinne Concetta Pascita, 17, a cashier, reported the theft at the Frontier Surplus Store by two youths.

Miss Pascita said the youths gathered up seven pairs of pants and a shirt and brought them to the counter. She said she rang up the merchandise and told them the total. One of the youths, described as a Negro 17 to 18, picked up some of the clothes and dashed out of the store without paying. Miss Pascita said the other youth, also a Negro 17 to 18, grabbed for the rest of the clothing, but she covered them with her arms. She said she struggled with the the thief for a few minutes, but he managed to pull the clothes from her grasp. She said the second man ran out the door laughing.

Amusement ride operator dies

Melvin Robertson, the 23-year-old man nearly decapitated Sunday in an accident at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds, died Wednesday night at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Robertson, 806 Buena Vista Ave., Pomona, had been in critical condition since admission to the hospital's intensive care unit. He suffered massive neck injuries and possible internal injuries.

The victim was operating a Kiddieland amusement zone ride called the Sled at the fairgrounds when the accident occurred. Witnesses told police that he appeared to stagger and fall onto the ride's rail. Then the car caught him by the neck and carried him one complete revolution of the course, about 60 feet, before the machinery was shut off.

The ride was being operated because of a company picnic being held at the fairgrounds.

An autopsy has been ordered by the coroner's office.

Pitzer names aide of student dean

Sheryl Matlock, a graduate of Scripps College and Claremont Graduate School, has been appointed assistant dean of students at Pitzer College.

Miss Matlock, who has recently been employed by an executive recruitment firm, will be responsible for housing arrangements and some student activities on the Pitzer campus.

Police arrest man and youth for interference

A 24-year-old Chino man and a youth were arrested Wednesday night after allegedly interfering with a police officer questioning a suspicious person in the area of Monte Vista Avenue and D Street in Chino.

Chino Police Officer Ken Duvall said he stopped in the area about 9 p.m. to question a suspicious person. The police car attracted approximately 15 to 20 juveniles and adults. DuVall said one of the crowd stepped out and began shoving him and the suspicious man ran. Duvall said he was then struck in the chest several times by a man identified as Manual Martinez, 24, of 13209 Monte Vista Ave.

Martinez was arrested on suspicion of assaulting an officer and the crowd moved in towards the police car. Duvall said a youth in the crowd threw a bottle at the police car, shattering its windshield. Officers assisting Duvall arrested the youth and brought him to the police station for investigation of throwing an object at a vehicle.

Pact expanded for Dynamics

A contract between General Dynamics and the Naval Sea Systems Control has been expanded to include the construction of 36 Standard Missiles, type two, for flight tests. Value of the contract change is $23 million.

This brings the total invested in the missile's development to $56 million, reported Rep. Victor Veysey, R-43rd Dist.

Testing of the first series has been successfully completed.

Ayala won't add staffer

State Sen. Ruben Ayala, whose district includes most of the local valley, has declined to add a new staff member because of his seeking re-election this year.

Ayala, of Chino, said he has nine staff members — the same as his predecessor, Sen. William Combs.

It was reported in Sacramento that the State Senate does provide additional field representatives at a starting salary of $942 a month for those senators seeking re-election.

Of the 17 senators involved, 10 have taken the extra employe. Sen. James Mills, D-San Diego, said a person seeking re-election draws more attention while campaiging and more people call his offices. These employes are supposed to be used only for legislative work.

Griswold's fined $250 in state labor code violations

Griswold's Restaurants, Inc., of Claremont was fined $250 Wednesday after a no contest plea involving three state labor code violations before Pomona Municipal Court Judge James H. Piatt.

Piatt suspended a stifter fine of $750 and placed the corporation on two years' probation. At the same time he dismissed six of the nine counts filed against the firm and also released Chief Chef Isadore Montoysa from the complaint.

Originally, Griswold's was charged with nine labor code violations involving its employment of minors. Violations alleged involved the employment of minors for more than eight hours a day; not providing breaks for meals after five-hour working periods; working minors before 5 a.m.; not allowing rest periods for each four hours worked; and not paying a minimum wage because of deductions from pay of a 25-cent-per-hour tip credit.

The complaint was filed after an investigation by Denos J. Carras of the California Division of Industrial Welfare. He reported having received several complaints about Griswold's work practices involving minors.

Previously, Alton Sanford, owner of Griswold's, said that the firm hires many youngsters and it is difficult for supervisors to know who is 18 and who is less than 18. The firm employs 350 to 400 persons, he said, many of them teen-agers working on their first jobs.

City holds line again

6th year without tax hike

Walnut residents received some good news Wednesday night when the City Council officially set the tax rate — there will be no increase.

As it happens, there will be no cut in taxes, either, as the council fixed the rate for 1974-75 at 87 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The action meant councilmen were holding the line on taxes for the sixth straight year.

"It's interesting that we haven't raised taxes for number of years," commented Mayor Joe Dyer.

The council also established the amount of revenue from property taxes ($171,000) necessary to support the city and pay the county for certain contracted services for this fiscal year.

Councilmen adopted a tight budget of nearly $600,000 on June 26, for fiscal 1974-75.

In other action, the council approved second reading on zone changes made to conform to recent general plan amendments. The changes involve residential, commercial and industrial property in central Walnut.

Changes in "Sub Area A" are from R3 (multiple residential) and C3 (heavy commercial) to R1-8500 (single family residences) on property fronting Camino De Rosa from the city boundary to Castlehill Drive; from C3 to M1 on Valley Boulevard, west of Lemon Avenue; and from R-3 to R-1-7200 on property fronting on Lemon Avenue south of Lemon Creek.

"Sub Area B" changes are from C3 to M1 on property north of Valley, east of Lemon and south of Carrey Road and on the southside of Carrey, north of Valley and west of Pierre Road.

Councilmen postponed ratification of a joint powers agreement to build a swimming pool at Walnut High School. They indicated county supervisors had not yet ratified the contract, and the city would wait until they did before taking action.

The agreement, would involve the city, Walnut Valley School District and Los Angeles County.

Father-in-law of Mexico president kidnaped

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (UPI) — Police said today they had found the vehicle believed used in the kidnaping of the 83-year-old father-in-law of Mexican President Luis Echeverria, whose government since 1973 has refused to negotiate with political kidnapers.

The "Revolutionary Armed Front of the People" —the mysterious terrorists who kidnaped U.S. Consul General Terence Leonhardy here early last year —claimed responsibility for the kidnaping.

A Mexico City radio station said the guerrillas were demanding a $1.6 million ransom and the release of 100 political prisoners in return for the life of Jose Guadalupe Zuno Hernandez, father of Echeverria's wife Maria Esther.

Zuno, a political power in Mexico for half a century, was abducted Wednesday by four gunmen who forced his chauffeured car to the curb in a Guadalajara slum.

It was feared that the ailing and aged Zuno would not be able to long withstand the ordeal. Sources close to the family said he suffers from diabetes which has weakened his heart.

Despite his age and illness, police said, he "must have resisted. We found signs of a struggle in the back seat of the abandoned car."

Police said a rigorous search of Guadalajara, Mexico's second largest city, turned up the abandoned 1966 car Wednesday night whose description matched the one used in the Zuno abduction.

Troops threw roadblocks around the city while local and federal police systematically searched cars and houses.

Echeverria's government maintained official silence about the investigation into the kidnaping, which occurred four days before the president's scheduled annual report to Congress on Sunday.

A presidential spokesman said there will be no changes in the speech or ceremony and "the nation's work must go on."

The abduction posed a dramatic challenge to Echeverria and his policy of refusing to negotiate with terrorists, instituted after the Leonhardy abduction.

Echeverria released 30 political prisoners and shipped them to Cuba last year to get the American consul general released but has steadfastly refused to bow to subsequent ransom demands.

Police said Zuno was riding in his chauffered limousine through a poor district of Guadalajara when four gunmen forced his car to the curb..

The four men, armed with machine guns, used some kind of gas to subdue Zuno's chauffeur, Miguel Gonzalez, according to the Guadalajara newspaper El Informador.

SEARCH IS OVER

The bodies of a young woman and child are removed from a remote area of Monrovia Canyon Park after a massive search by police uncovered them hidden in tall brush Wednesday. They are believed to be a mother and 14-month-old daughter kidnaped from a shopping center nearly a week ago.

2 bodies discovered in woods

MONROVIA (UPI) — Working on a telephone tip, sheriff's deputies scoured the northern end of Monrovia Canyon Park Wednesday and found the bodies of a young woman and a child in the Sawpit flood control channel.

Deputies at the scene said they believed the bodies were those of Audrey Lee Gaines, 25, and her daughter, Heather Michelle, 14 months, who were abducted from a shopping center laundromat last Thursday.

Autopsies were performed Wednesday night and Coroner Thomas Noguchi said he would hold a news conference today giving a positive identification of the victims and details of their deaths.

Authorities said Mrs. Gaines had just finished loading her laundry into her station wagon in a parking lot when she was approached by a man.

Witnesses said the man got into the back seat, and seconds later, the car drove off.

The car was found abandoned about three hours later.

Sheriff's deputies focused their search for Mrs. Gaines and her daughter in the park after receiving a telephone call Tuesday night that a white woman and a black man in a station wagon were seen driving in the area.

Turks back off from British tanks

By United Press International

Turkish troops chased a group of Greek Cypriot soldiers onto the British base at Dhekelia on Cyprus today but pulled back when they found themselves in direct confrontation with British tanks.

"A British sergeant major politely told them to get off and they did," a British soldier told reporters.

Tricky, dangerous return made at night

Two Russian cosmonauts in hair-raising descent

MOSCOW (UPI) — Two Soviet cosmonauts rode their space capsule back to earth early today, dropping through darkness and bad weather in a hair-raising descent apparently caused by trouble aboard the craft.

The official Tass news agency said the spacemen —grandfather Lev Demin, 48, and his 32-year-old commander, Gennady Sarafanov — were in good health" following the unprecedented, pre-dawn landing in Central Asia.

Western experts said the tricky and dangerous return of Soyuz 15 in adverse weather conditions suggested an emergency aboard the craft, but Tass treated the landing as routine.

The news agency said Col. Demin and Lt. Col. Sarafanov landed their capsule soon after midnight in Soviet Kazakhstan about 30 miles from the city of Tselinograd.

Tass explained the Soviet Union's first, manned nighttime landing by saying one goal of the 48-hour mission was to develop "methods and means of search for and evacuation of a spaceship landing at night."

The news agency said the cosmonauts also carried out "experiments for developing the processes of maneuvering and rendezvous" with the orbiting Salyut 3 space laboratory.

Western specialists had predicted the two cosmonauts would try to board the space station, but Tass made no mention of any attempts to link up with the lab.

Earlier, Tass said the spacemen made repeated approaches to the 20-ton space lab. Last month, two Soyuz 14 cosmonauts spent two weeks aboard the station, which was launched June 25.

Tass said ground recovery teams speedily evacuated the cosmonauts "in a difficult meteorological situation," but the news agency made no other comments about the bad weather conditions.

Western space experts said they had no doubt the two-day flight ended prematurely. They said there might have been trouble with the docking system or problems —mechanical as well as human —inside the Soyuz capsule.

"Something must have been wrong," one Western expert said. "They could not have accomplished anything significant in two days.."

U.S. space officials in Washington said the Soyuz 15 flight would have no direct bearing on next year's planned Soviet-American space mission.

The officials said the U.S. and Soviet spacemen would use a new docking mechanism especially designed for next July's Apollo-Soyuz linkup.

The Soyuz program has been plagued with problems.

In the worst incident, three Soyuz 11 cosmonauts died on their return to earth in 1971 after 24 days aboard the Salyut 1 space lab. Scientists blamed the mishap on a faulty hatch cover.

Stay over after White House party

Rocky, Happy sleep in Lincoln's bed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President-designate and Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller stayed at the White House Wednesday night and, given a choice by President and Mrs. Ford, they slept in Abraham Lincoln's seven-foot bed.

The other choice was the Queen's Bedroom, but Happy Rockefeller said "it was Nelson's choice" to say in the Lincoln Suite.

The Rockefellers were guests at a party thrown by Ford for his cabinet and senior White House staffers.

While talking to reporters Happy laughed as she spotted her husband on the dance floor with First Lady Betty Ford.

"They dance so well together," she said. "I can't follow Nelson."

Asked how she felt about her husband's return to the political limelight, she said, "I think it's really the beginning of a new adventure.... As a concerned citizen, I'm thrilled."

The Marine band combo, playing in the grand foyer, had struck up "Sweet Georgia Brown," and Mrs. Rockefeller said: "Nelson requested that."

Most of the music was of that vintage, but there were more up-to-date numbers. When the band played a slow rock tune, Ford and the First Lady joined the other couples on the floor.

The dinner party was an intimate affair for 54 guests.

Ford, in an expansive mood after his news conference, admitted that he was "nervous for the first five minutes." But after that, he said, he was ready to "hold another one tomorrow."

Everyone seemed to be caught up in the convivial spirit of the evening. "It's a delicious party," said United Nation ambassador John Scali.

"It's good to bring life to this place," said Labor Secretary Peter Brennan, who lingered long on the dance floor.

Man who aided jail breaks to get chance for his?

PARIS (UPI) — It got real quiet in the visiting room of Fleury-Merogis jail when the wife of a prisoner started a slow-motion strip-tease.

As she slowly unbuttoned, police said her husband and another convict tried to escape over the prison wall.

But the wife's attempt to distract the prison officials failed when the escape rope snapped and the men fell back into the jail yard. One of them suffered a broken ankle.

That was last July 14. Today, a man accused of providing the would-be jailbreakers with equipment to scale the wall, Yvon Deloison, awaits trial. The two prisoners who tried to escape were not identified.

Gallant French officials lodged no charges against the wife who took off her clothes.

Police said they suspected Deloison tried to help more than one con break out. For a mere $400, they said, Deloison sold would-be jailbreakers an escape kit containing a 33-foot rope, hooks, steel saws and a detailed plan of the prison.

Accord signed for release of Laotian POWs

VIENTIANE (UPI) — Laotian rightists and members of the Communist Pathet Lao signed an agreement today to release all Laotian prisoners of war, including civilian pilot Emmet Kay, the last known living American prisoner.

Under terms of the agreement, signed by members of the Joint Commission for the Implementation of the Peace Agreement, the exchange of prisoners will begin Sept. 19 at four locations in Laos.

Kay, of Honolulu, will be released along with the other prisoners, the commission said.

More than 300 other Americans are still listed as missing Laos.

Sparks from drill ignite bird's nest

Sometimes life is for the birds.

Or so it seemed Tuesday afternoon to David Morrison of 1579 McComas St., Pomona. Morrison was using an electric drill to replace a screen on an attic vent when sparks from the drill ignited a bird's nest.

Morrison called the fire department and tried to put out the fire with a garden hose before they arrived.

Damage from the fire was limited to the unoccupied nest.

Burger refuses any more delays in Watergate trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, saying that Judge John J. Sirica knows what he is doing, has refused to grant any further delay in the Watergate cover-up trial set to begin Sept. 30.

In a four-page opinion Wednesday, Burger turned down an emergency appeal from defendant John D. Ehrlichman that the trial be postponed at least until January on grounds of massive prejudicial publicity surrounding former President Nixon's resignation.

Burger said any doubts about Sirica's decision to press ahead with the trial now —especially since a federal appeals court did not reverse it —"are not sufficient to form a basis for contrary action" by a single Supreme Court jurist.

The District Court bears responsibility commensurate with its authority in such matters, and only in the most extraordinary circumstances should an individual ... justice intervene," Burger said.

He said he could have referred the issue to the entire nine-man court when it returns Oct. 1, but noted this would have had the effect of putting off the Watergate trial until late fall.

Burger did note the "gravity of the claim of prejudicial pretrial publicity" in the coverup case, but said these questions "must await the normal appellate process" if they arise once the verdict is in —in other words, if Ehrlichman is convicted.

Ehrlichman and five other former key Nixon aides, indicted last March in the cover-up, had been scheduled to go to trial Sept. 9. After Nixon resigned Aug 9, four of them asked for a lengthy delay on grounds extensive publicity about Nixon's admitted role in the plot had made a fair trial impossible.

Ford indicates...

and guidance on this very important point" of possible immunity for Nixon, who selected Ford for vice president and then turned the White House over to him.

Responding to one question, Ford said he agreed with Rockefeller that Nixon had, figuratively speaking, been hanged and that the tone and mood of the country was against having the former president drawn and quartered.

Until there is some legal action, Ford said, "I think it is unwise and untimely for me to make any legal commitment."

But he said his right of presidential pardon is a "proper option" and "I am not ruling it out."

Jaworski is said to be agonizing over whether to proceed against Nixon. The former president has hired a Washington lawyer, Herbert Miller, to represent him in any legal proceedings and has said Jaworski is giving "trouble."

Ford said there would be no Watergate scandals in his administration because "there will be no one person nor any limited number of individuals who will make decisions. I will make the decisions and take the blame for them or whatever benefit might be the case."

"The code of ethics that will be followed will be the example I set," he added.

Ford also:

—Held out the possibility of a major public service employment program to help areas of high joblessness, saying that "we will approach this problem with compassion and action where there is a need for it."

—Gave no indication that he expected a significant slow down of inflation very quickly, advising wage earners to "watch every penny" and follow the federal government's example of belt tightening.

—Said Secretary of State Henry Kissinger would be meeting with Soviet representatives soon to discuss arms control negotiations and that efforts now are being made to arrive at a U.S. policy backed by experts at the State Department and the Pentagon so that the weapons negotiations can proceed.

—Called for continued cooperation between oil producing and consuming nations to avert "serious economic problems throughout the industrial world."

—Said he favored "limited expansion" of U.S. naval facilities at Diego Garcia in the Indian Ocean and that this should not be seen as "any challenge to the Soviet Union."

Thomas Pye, of Surrey, was walking along the railroad tracks near his home Monday with his dog and a friend.

When the boys heard a train coming, young Thomas attempted to get the dog off the tracks, the dog balked and both were struck and killed. The other youth escaped injury.

$74 million for schools approved by legislature

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill providing an additional $74 million for California schools to meet inflation has won final legislative approval.

The bill (SB1592) by Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, was sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan Wednesday by the Senate on a bare majority 21-6 vote to accept Assembly amendments.

Opponents, including Sen. John Stull, R-Leucadia, objected that the measure would amount to a tax increase for local property owners without their approval.

Dills said the inflation-fighting funds would be distributed in a "first step" effort to equalize school spending between poor and rich districts.

Poorer schools would receive the lion's share of the money and a ceiling would be placed on rich districts, limiting the amount they can spend per student.

The state Supreme Court earlier this year ruled unconstitutional the state's current system of school financing. It said the disparity between high and low-wealth districts is too great.

Reagan vetoes measure on 'for sale' signs

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill preventing cities from banning the posting of "for sale" signs in front of real estate was vetoed Wednesday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

In his veto message, Reagan said he agreed with the bill's intent but felt the measure was "contrary to the principle of local control and home rule."

The measure (AB3301) by Assemblyman Paul T. Bannai, R-Gardena, would have wiped out such existing city ordinances and prevent enactment of new ones.

'Braless' robber distracts teller

LOS NGELES (UPI) — "I guess she provided the distraction and he got the money," a police spokesman said of the man-woman robbery team that stole $2,000 from an office of Empire Savings and Loan Monday.

The braless woman bandit wore a knit white top so sheer that police first reported the bank had been robbed by a barebreasted woman. Her partner menaced a teller with what appeared to be a pistol hidden in a handkerchief.

Police said the male teller could not describe the woman bandit's face.

Palmdale site recommended for airport

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A site near Palmdale in the Antelope Valley appears to be the best location for a proposed $1 billion intercontinental airport despite the ecological problems involved, an environmental impact study reported Wednesday.

The study, presented to the Board of Airport Commissioners, said the alternative to putting the airport near Palmdale is to increase traffic at existing civil and military airports, which would cost money and cause bigger environmental problems in order to handle the predicted increased air travel in the next 25 years.

The location of Palmdale for the airport, proposed for the early 1980s, was favored over four other sites "in terms of available land with minor relocation of population, the least airspace conflicts, initial available ground access, the least major air and noise pollution potential and visible community and institutional support," the study said.

The other sites considered included Edwards Air Force Base, Fox Field in Lancaster, the Chino Hills area and a location offshore from Long Beach.

These locations were rejected because of environmental damage, unavailability or plans to build homes there.

The report said the airport would be good for Palmdale, by bringing in more people and money, but would drive away desert animals.

The report predicted, "Many species sensitive to man and his activities would retreat to the more remote areas of the desert, and endangered species such as the golden eagle, the desert tortoise and the Mojave ground squirrel would be further threatened."

Although the site has not yet been approved —public hearings on the airport and the environmental impact report will begin in mid-November — the Department of Airports has already acquired 12,893 acres of the estimated 17,700 acres needed for the airport.

RUSH HOUR RECON—Norm Callahan, rear, enjoys the respect and awe given his restored World War II armored car. He likes to drive the M-8 to the store and back, to children's birthday parties and parades. His daughter, Stephani, is at left.

Armored car restored by Texan creates sensation on highways

By GARY L. TAYLOR

HOUSTON (UPI) — Peace-loving Norm Callahan, standing Patton-like high above the crunch and confusion of rush hour traffic, soaked up the respect given his restored World War II M-8 armored car.

"It's just an expression of the individual," he said, cruising along Interstate 610, feeling the warm, moist breeze in his face.

"Just another way of expressing individuality; another way to get away from the crowd, as the cigarette ads go."

Looking much like an armored, olive-drab turtle, with a humpback gun turret aimed harmlessly at a tiny yellow car in front, Callahan's "tank" accelerated smoothly and quickly.

"Patton used it as his point for recon platoons," Callahan said, "because he could penetrate with it.

"He would send a recon platoon behind enemy lines, and really mess them up. And with this 37 millimeter cannon on here, you could really wipe them out."

The M-8 was built by Ford in 1944 and nicknamed the "Greyhound" for its 65 mile an hour capability.

Callahan, a lieutenant colonel in the Texas National Guard, his daughter Stefani Koch and a friend bought it last winter.

"We bought it at a Department of Public Safety auction in Lubbock, worked on it three days and obtained a license and drove it 600 miles back to Houston," Callahan said.

Mrs. Koch now owns the M-8 under the corporate name of Armored Fighting Vehicles.

"She hopes to own a string of them, just for fun you understand," Callahan said.

Just for fun, Callahan, Stefani and Callahan's son, Stephen, drove the tank into a drive-through hamburger stand.

"The kid at the pay window did a double take," Callahan said. "I was riding the side of the tank and was eyeball to eyeball with him. He was speechless.

"After we paid, everybody from the street started coming up, looking at our 'tank' and asking about it. It's like that everywhere we go.

"It's insured just as an ordinary passenger automobile," he said. "It is a lot safer from the standpoint of other motorists because they can't miss seeing it."

As a light rain began to fall, Callahan came down from his spot above the gun turret, crouched down inside the tank and hand cranked the turret and its cannon around to the rear for protection against the driving rain.

Other drivers, meanwhile, seeing the cannon barrel swing wide over the tank and then come their direction, gave it a wide berth.

Callahan and his son drive the M-8 to the store and back, to children's birthday parties and, of course, in military parades.

The tank, which uses non-leaded regular gas, is more economical to drive, Callahan said, "than that Thunderbird there in front of us."

Callahan wants drivers in Houston to consider his "car" just one of the gang.

"That's the concept we have to get across," he said, "that this is an automobile with a lot of armor on it."

Year round auto registry bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill officially tallying staggered year-round registration for California's 15.7 million vehicles until 1976 has advanced to the Assembly floor.

The measure (SB1140) by Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, unanimously cleared the Ways and Means Committee Tuesday on an 11-0 vote.

Because of delays in developing a new consolidated computer system for the Department of Motor Vehicles, state officials have planned to postpone implementation of a year-round registration program until 1976. It had been scheduled for next January.

The bill simply makes it legal for the DMV to delay the program for one year.

U.S. trade balance in the red

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The value of U.S imports outpaced exports by $728 million in July, pushing the nation's trade balance almost $1 billion in the red for the first seven months of the year, according to the Commerce Department.

The high cost of foreign-produced oil continued to be the chief cause of the deteriorating trade picture.

The United States now has run trade deficits in four of the first seven months of the year and the combined deficit totals $983 million. This is well ahead of the $823 million deficit for the comparable January-July period last year. In 1973 the United States chalked up a $1.7 billion surplus.

Last month, the U.S. spent a record $2.3 billion for petroleum products. The volume of foreign produced crude oil and related goods, 200 million barrels, was also an all time high for one month.

Overall imports rose nearly five per cent in July, faster than in the previous three months. Exports, on the other hand, fell 0.6 per cent after an unusually fast 10 per cent jump in June.

Air bags, lap belts would cut road toll

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If all cars were equipped with air bags and lap belts, there would be 15,000 fewer auto fatalities a year and 1 million fewer injuries, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

In a report issued recently the government agency said the air bag-lap belt system would add $210 to the cost of a car.

The question facing motorists, said NHTSA director James Gregory, is whether they are willing "to pay the added cost for saving thousands of lives during the next decade."

Seat belts that prevent the engine from starting until they are locked are now mandatory. The House of Representatives recently passed legislation that would make the seat belt and air bag systems optional equipment.

The American Automobile Association and the American Safety Belt Council also oppose the mandatory safety features.

The annual highway death toll is now running at 56,000 a year.

The agency said if the air bag-lap belt system were made mandatory for 1977 model cars it could save "an estimated 85,000 lives and reduce vehicle injuries by more than 5.4 million over a nine-year span."

By comparison, the seat belt interlock system would save more than 47,000 lives and cut the injury rate by more than 2 million.

When the entire automobile population was equipped with air bags and belts, the death toll would even out to a saving of "15,600 lives annually and a reduction of the injury toll by 1 million," the report said.

"This study clearly shows the superiority" of the air-bag lap belt system, Gregory said.

The annual highway death toll is now about 56,000.

WHAT A WONDERFUL WAY TO LOSE FAT!
THE "MODEL-ETTS" WAY HELPS CURB YOUR APPETITE
HELPS YOU LOSE THAT EXTRA WEIGHT
■ NO CALORIE COUNTING ■ NO EXTREMES
■ NO SPECIAL DIETS

Thanks to a group of New York doctors, you can lose two pounds of ugly fat without going on any special diet, without cutting out any special foods. HELPS REDUCE HUNGRY MOMENTS. These New York doctors discovered a food additive called "MODEL-ETTS."

"Model-etts" does remarkable things. It helps cut down your caloric intake by a natural automatic curbing of the appetite and of the desire for foods, resulting automatically in a reduced intake of calories.

Model-etts" was offered to you, it was tested clinically by the doctors on a large group of overweight men and women.

The doctors carefully checked results, and here is what they found:
1. Weight losses of 6 to 20 pounds without any ill effects whatsoever.
2. 96% of the men and women who tried "Model-etts" lost weight.

"Model-etts" is absolutely safe. It is a food adjunct, not a drug.

So, start today to shed those unwanted pounds and inches. If your condition is glandular or organic, see your doctor. "Model-etts" may help you stay on the diet your doctor recommends. Ask him about it.

You can get a full month's supply of "Model-etts" for $3.00 on money back guarantee. In clinical tests, "Model-etts" was 96% successful. "Model-etts" may not be 100% successful in all cases, but you take no risk in trying "Model-etts" on our Money Back Guarantee.

Come to General Nutrition to get "MODEL-ETTS." The sooner you start, the sooner you may have the loss of weight you yearn for.

Sounds too good to be true, but it is true!

Teaches art to inmates

In prison 23 years, couldn't stay away

HOUSTON (UPI) — Larry Condon, the son of Irish immigrants caught in the poverty of the depression, spent 23 years behind bars of New York prisons for armed robbery.

"I was a violent criminal. I was into the worst scenes in crime, but I was able to make a complete turnaround," said Condon, 48. When he was released April 23, his only thought was to get away from prison life. Instead the three-time loser went to work for the South Carolina Department of Corrections as an art instructor and, hopefully, as an example prison rehabilitation can work.

"I'm an old dog. I thought I was condemned, but I started to make something of myself through painting," he said, standing near a display of his works at the 104th Congress of the American Correctional Association.

Condon dabbled with sketches as a child in Brooklyn to escape the squalor around him. In 1959, he began painting again.

"While I was in Greenhaven Prison, there was a prisoner named Jerry Moore. He said he'd been a painter for 10 years and was not as good as I," Condon said.

"I resisted. He kept harrassing me. I finally said okay just to get him off my back. Out of my first five paintings, I sold four, made $95 and got my money back for paint and supplies."

Condon has since won numerous prizes for his work including a $5,000 first prize in the Grand Galleria national competition in Seattle, Wash.

William P. Leeke, director of the South Carolina Department of Corrections, noticed Condon after he won the top prize two years in a Columbia, S.C., exhibit.

"He wrote me a letter while I was in prison and asked if I would be interested in establishing an art program and relocating in South Carolina," Condon said.

"At first I thought he had to be kidding. When I got out, I thought at first I just wanted to get away from it all. But I decided to try it for a while. I don't plan to make it a lifetime career. I thought I'd try a few years."

"Maybe prison, the soul searching, was destiny —to find myself and what I wanted," he said. "If it had not been for prison, I wouldn't be as complete a person as I am today."

DEFIED HITLER — Otto Strasser, the man whom the Nazis at one time named Hitler's "enemy number one," is dead in Munich at the age of 77. He was a publicist for the Nazi Party in 1920s, but later repudiated Hitler.

Shell strikes oil in sea off S. Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — A major Western oil company has discovered petroleum nearly a mile under the South China Sea just off the coast of South Vietnam, the Saigon government said today.

Pecten, a subsidiary of the Shell Oil Co., struck oil Sunday in the country's first test drilling, Industry Minister Nguyen Duc Cuong told a news conference today in a nationwide radio broadcast.

"At this time we can only say that there is oil there, that the oil is of a very good quality —a light, brown oil —and the surrounding rock is of a good quality and able to hold the oil," Cuong said.

But he said the actual amount and commercial value of the petroleum was unknown.

Patrick Glover, Pecten's president and general manager, said the oil was found about 250 miles southeast of Saigon, 120 miles east of the southern tip of South Vietnam and some 4,500 feet under the South China Sea.

He was less enthusiastic than Cuong, however, about whether or not huge oil deposits lie beneath the sea.

Glover indicated that although the findings are encouraging, the amount of oil beneath the sea may be too small to justify the high cost of pumping it out.

"At this time, we cannot say too much about the significance of this finding because additional drilling and much study will be required," Glover said.

Saigon government sources said the test drilling showed a large oil field of high octane petroleum existed in the area of the Pecten oil rig, the Ocean Prospector.

TRUCK DRIVER HONORED

Planners spur proposal to seek state aid for parks

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

An application for state funding to improve six Pomona parks and a school playground cleared another hurdle Wednesday night when the Pomona Planning Commission approved environmental impact report exemptions.

The action was needed in preparing a blanket request for $264,560, which is the city's share of the state's park and recreation bond act approved by voters last June.

Necessary paperwork must be submitted to the state by Sept. 15 for submittal as a budget request for the 1975-76 fiscal year. Funding could begin after next July 1.

The recreation areas involved are Lincoln, Garfield, Kennedy, Weber, Harrison and Jaycee parks and the Palomares Junior High School.

These projects were selected from a priority list established by the city staff and Parks and Recreation Commission.

The largest allocation sought is $100,000 for Harrison Park, a new site now in the initial stages of development. Officials propose extensive tree planting, particularly along the borders of the 4.5-acre site; concrete walkways in the park interior; overhead lighting along the walkways; picnic tables and combination restroom and maintenance equipment storage buildings.

The park, located at Valera Avenue and Battram Street, adjoins the Harrison Elementary School.

Another significant project will be at Palomares Junior High School. This includes the lighting of a existing softball field and construction of a scorer's booth. Officials propose to place six, 60-foot light poles along the perimeter of the left and right infield and an outfield. Total cost is estimated at $40,000.

Other projects include:

—Garfield Park. Conversion of the existing lawn watering system from the old "quick coupler" system to an automatic system with pop-up sprinkler heads controlled by an electric timer clock. Officials also plan to upgrade the existing walkways from dirt and gravel to concrete and install picnic tables. Estimated cost, $12,000.

—Kennedy Park. Expansion of the lawn sprinkler system to complete coverage of the entire park, extensive planting of trees and shrubs, construct concrete walkways and improve the parking lot. Estimated cost, $50,000.

—Weber Park. Extensive tree planting, particularly along the borders of the six-acre park, overhead lighting along existing walkways, picnic areas, construction of a combination restroom-maintenance equipment storage building, and installing a chain link fence along the north and east boundaries. Estimated cost, $65,000.

—Jaycee Park. Extensive tree planting, concrete walkways, overhead lighting and picnic tables. Estimated cost, $60,000.

City officials sought an exemption from the state-required environmental impact report since all the projects are limited to the existing park or school sites. And as such, these should result in only limited impact on the surrounding areas.

In commission discussion, Jim Lightfoot, a planning staff member, reported that all the projects are in the northern part of the city.

This has resulted, he explained, from federal funds being used to develop parks in other areas. He mentioned Sharkie Park, Cherrieville Park and Martin Luther King Park.

Board to ask revenue-sharing funds for demolition of 2 school buildings

The Bonita school board agreed Tuesday to apply for $30,000 in revenue sharing funds to be used to demolish two buildings on the San Dimas Elementary School site. School officials weren't optimistic about getting the money however.

Several trustees were informed by school administrators of the application to the Department of Urban Affairs by phone prior to the application deadline of Aug. 23 and gave tentative approval. The application calls for $22,000 for the demolition and $8,000 for cleanup and grading.

The school's demolition has been the topic of many discussions between the district, citizens and San Dimas city officials, with each of the groups calling for the destruction of the buildings which they agree are unsafe and a potential danger to residents living in the area of the school. So far, legal technicalities have prevented the action.

According to Supt. James T. Johnson Jr., the application for demolition was necessitated by the continuance of vandalism at the school. He stated that Molotov cocktails which had not functioned properly were found on the roof of one of the school's buildings and that graffiti and weeds on the site continue to be a problem.

Johnson also said that the chances of the district's application being approved are not great. "It (the approval for a school district) is not common, but this is a community as well as an educational problem." He added that the district had included pictures of the buildings with the application.

The superintendent explained that the City of San Dimas could not apply for the demolition funds because the city does not own the school property. But he added that the city has received an acceptable bid for the demolition that the school district could use should funds be approved.

In other business the trustees approved an increase in Type "A" lunches from 40 to 45 cents at intermediate and high schools, from 35 to 40 cents at elementary schools and from 60 to 65 cents for adult lunches.

Increases in the cost of food, supplies and utilties were cited as reasons for the price hikes.

Seniors get warning about con operation

Los Angeles County Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess today warned senior citizens receiving Social Security benefits about a man posing as a special Social Security agent.

The impostor approaches elderly persons, claiming he is either a state Department of Social Services worker or a federal Social Security agent, Pitchess said. Then he suggests that he may be able to get their benefits increased.

After gaining entry into the victim's home the man attempts to find out where any money is and ask the victim to leave the room, usually stating he needs a urine specimen. Once the resident is gone, the bunco artist steals the money and flees, Pitchess said.

The man has been reported operating in Pasadena, Duarte, Monterey Park and Azusa.

He is described as white, 5 feet 7 to 6 feet, weighing 200 pounds. He has dark hair and was seen driving a late-model, brown, two-door sedan. Any information about such a suspect should be given to the nearest law enforcement agency, Pitchess said.

$206 million county budget holds tax line

San Bernardino County supervisors have adopted a property tax rate of $3.0034 per $100 assessed valuation—the same as levied the past fiscal year.

Officials said the rate will raise about $60 million of the county's $206 million budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year.

In a percentage breakdown, they said 50 per cent of the budget funds will come from state and federal sources, 20 per cent from fines, fees and service charges, and 30 per cent from property taxes.

Last year's budget total was $212 million. The reduction this year resulted from new budget procedures involving state and federal funds going to the county's welfare and hospital departments.

South Hills asks for food donations

The South Hills Neighborhood Service Center staff is appealing to the community for donations of canned food for needy valley residents.

Sandy Hester, social services coordinator at ths center, reports that the reserve of canned foods has been gone for two weeks and the demand to provide food to the poor cannot be met. She stressed urgency in replenishing the food supply at the service organization in order to respond to requests from Pomona residents.

"Families are going hungry in your community. We need your help in providing food for these families," said Miss Hester.

Persons wishing to make donations may call 623-8602 for pickup service.

2 on committee on tax override

Nelson D. Scherer and Michael A. Wharton, both of Pomona, head a committee of Pomona and Diamond Bar residents "committed to the passage" of the school district tax override which will be presented voters Nov. 5.

Bill Montgomery of Pomona heads a subcommittee for community contact.

Appointments were made at an organizational meeting this week.

"Passage of this measure in November will insure the continuation of better programs of study in the Pomona public schools and will reflect the ongoing revitalization of the community as a whole," said Scherer and Wharton in a joint statement.

The committee will open headquarters in the Speidel Building at 300 S. Park Ave. prior to the election. Those seeking additional information, or desiring to volunteer to assist, may call 622-9705 or 622-4945.

The district will ask approval of a $1.44 per $100 of assessed valuation increase in the general purpose tax rate to become effective in 1975-76.

HEARTLINE

800-543-2393

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions—fast. It costs you nothing. Call Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. or write Heartline, 8514 North Main St., Dayton, Ohio, 45415. Remember, Heartline pays for all calls on its toll-free number . . . 800-543-2393.

Heartline: I am 63. I will retire in 1976. I'd like to know what is meant by "fully insured under Social Security."—O.I.

Answer: This means that you have worked long enough under Social Security to be eligible for Social Security retirement benefits. If you were born in 1911, you need credit for six years of work under Social Security to be fully insured. No one needs more than 10 years of credit to be fully insured.

Heartline: I applied for a senior citizen's apartment in Dayton, Ohio, but gave my daughter's address in Dayton since I live here in Pittsburgh, Pa. If they find out that I live here, will I be disqualified?—H.W.

Answer: No. It makes no difference. When your name comes up, you will still be entitled to the apartment.

Heartline: I am confused as to who pays for blood when you are on Medicare.—I.C.

Answer: Under Medicare, you pay for the first three pints. However, there are many different blood programs across the country. Please inquire at your hospital or local community blood center.

Heartline: I have worked under Social Security for 12 years. I am not a citizen of the United States. Can I still receive benefits?—Y.R.

Answer: Yes. Your checks are the same whether you are a citizen or not. The checks may be affected, however, if you leave this country.

Heartline: I need the pressure test for glaucoma. The ophthalmologist charges $25 for the test. Is there any way I can get this done cheaper? It only takes a minute.—F.B.

Answer: Yes. Call your local optometrist. Many of them can give this test. Their usual charge is anywhere from three to ten dollars.

Registration for the trip may be made at the Recreation Department at the Community Building any weekday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. through Sep. 5.

For further information, persons may call 627-3119.

Already scheduled are Conversational Spanish I, taught by Mrs. Reginia Roettger at both locations; Conversational Spanish II, by Mrs. Helen Molina; and Converstional French, by Mrs. Jo Ann Witherbee.

The course, You and Your Vehicle will be offered in La Verne on Tuesday morning and in Pomona on Thursday while a new class, Writing and Marketing the Short Story will be instructed by Mrs. Jeanne O'Reilly on Tuesday afternoon.

The classes are noncompetitive and noncredit. Most are scheduled for 10 weeks and are limited to 20 participants. Additional courses will be offered if an interest is indicated.

Rocky moves in on Teddy's turf

President Ford has stolen the ground from Ted Kennedy for 1976.

The partial amnesty proposal was a starter.

The nomination of Nelson Rockefeller for vice president was the coup de grace.

Theodore White in his 1968 book on "The Making of the President" recalls that some of Robert Kennedy's most ardent supporters, including a major Kennedy California organizer, moved into the Rockefeller camp when Kennedy was assassinated. White relates in detail the way in which the ex-Kennedy youth mobbed Rockefeller with their cheers and banners — "Rocky is Zap," "Go Go Go with Rocky" and "Rock, Rock, Rock, with Rocky." Other reporters noted that some of Rockefeller's speeches at that time echoed Bobby, using virtually the same phrases.

Some careful political analysts (perhaps prejudiced) believe Rockefeller could have defeated John Kennedy in 1960 if he could have been nominated.

Now for the Kennedy issues.

Nelson Rockefeller's great grandfather ran an Ohio station in the underground before the Civil War, helping runaway slaves escape to Canada. The Rockefellers have donated heavily to Martin Luther King and his Southern Leadership Christian Conference and secured low-cost loans for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. They have over the years been major donors to black colleges.

Nelson Rockefeller has carried on the family tradition. There is no suspicion here as with Kennedy, that this concern for civil rights may be political. For it was a part of Rockefeller's life long before he ran for office. So much for Robert Kennedy's hold on the black vote.

Rockefeller has staked out a record in urban renewal transportation, pollution control, medical assistance, aid for education and scholarships that will win a Ford-Rockefeller team votes with traditional Kennedy issues and in the heart of traditional Kennedy strongholds in the big cities. He has pushed for gun control and compulsory health insurance. It is powerful political medicine when you can say as governor you put these concepts into effect rather than lobbied for them as a legislator.

Kennedy was counting on a hefty percentage of labor. Rockefeller has AFL-CIO chief George Meany as a friend. He has won the approval of most major unions in New York. And so it goes with the Spanish speaking, the youth, independents, the poor. His works in Latin America are legion. He has argued with strength the poor should have a greater voice in welfare, else these programs are doomed to fail.

Worse yet for Kennedy (and any other opponent for that matter) he is a dangerous campaigner. His managers are the best that money and a skilled judge of men can employ. He loves to pin his opponent on issues, leaving him explaining for days, weeks and months after. He is willing to spend millions on research to make points that will stick. In battle he presses so vigorously that even those who defeat him find, more often than not that they have been mortally wounded in the process. Goldwater and Nixon will attest to this.

There is, perhaps, one fly in the ointment. Larry King in Harpers Magazine for February 1968 quotes Rockefeller, standing on the White House grounds, as saying: "I think there are a lot of things I could do here, a lot of things I want to do, but I just don't have the drive anymore."

A hymn to city life

Despite the fact that churchgoers in America are overwhelmingly urbanites, the hymns they sing each Sunday morning that have environmental references are mostly rural in nature, according to Dr. Stephen Stephan, professor emeritus of sociology at the University of Arkansas.

Analyzing hymns from several books used by different denominations, he found that the verses are "replete with rural thought forms and imagery."

For example, of 72 hymns in The Methodist Hymnal that contain environmental references, 66 are rural in nature and only six urban. Much the same ratio is found in the 1956 hymnal of the Southern Presbyterian and (northern) United Presbyterian Churches. Even in the hymn book used by many Unitarian churches, the rural emphasis is pronounced.

Stephan's research showed that "the more fundamentalistic and 'old timey' the hymn books are, the more rural is the imagery." He points out that many urban worshippers, particularly in fundamentalist faiths, have been uprooted from rural heritages in recent years. The hymns may assuage their feelings of alienation and loneliness.

Another reason for the emphasis on rural themes is a bias against the city and urban life growing from the early-day association of rural areas with "the good life" and of cities with that which is bad — sin, vice, poverty, crime and the more recent ills of pollution, noise, waste and ugliness.

Hymns are more than just the music of the church, says Stephan. Rather, they reinforce what he terms "the teaching ministry." He suggests that the ecological movement could benefit from new hymns that are "relevant to modern urban man."

Tax and business reform

I am sorry to see you supporting Sen. Goldwater's 10 per cent federal wage cut comment which unfairly singles out the federal worker as the cause of inflation.

Besides being unfair, the proposal would cripple the federal government's ability to attract and retain personnel. Budget cutting should be done by setting priorities on programs. Incidentally, all federal programs are not for salaries but include capital expenditures for highways and buildings, and grants to local government and to nonprofit agencies.

I hope to see some comment on income tax reform which would close unfair tax loopholes for the wealthy. Much has been written in the last few years that shows that our income tax law is inverted and regressive. The lost revenues could help balance the budget.

In addition to tax reform, we need business reform that would put some teeth in the anti-trust laws and protect the consumer so he would know what he is purchasing. This would return competition to the market place.

While you are at it, you could support some changes in our welfare laws. At present a father is punished for trying to work but if he leaves home his wife is rewarded by a supplement if she takes the same job as her husband had. In this way the taxpayer pays but still loses the benefit of these families' production.

All sectors of the nation will have to make sacrifices if inflation is to be licked. The fight must look for basic causes of inefficiency and waste. Band Aid cures like high interest rates and price freezes only stagnate growth and cause shortages. Blaming one group over another avoids facing the real issues and, worse, causes more national disunity. Incidentally, I am not a federal employe.—Charles R. Donaldson, Montclair.

Greece to shut NATO bases

WASHINGTON — Public statements to the contrary, Greece is already making plans to shut down every NATO base in the country within a year, thus leaving a gaping hole in the fabric of the Western world's defense systems.

So secret are the new Athens civilian government's plans that even top U.S. officials are unaware of the seriousness of the threat. Just a few days ago, Defense Secretary James Schlesinger was speaking honestly when he said he had "little indication" of such a move.

Our information, however, from high but confidential diplomatic sources who backed up their talk with documents, is that the NATO shutdown is already a matter of Athens policy, barring a radical change in the current U.S. attitude towards Cyprus.

The importance of the Greek NATO bases is difficult to overestimate. Naval, bomber, missile and communications facilities in Greece give NATO a striking power directly beneath the belly of Soviet Russia and her satellites.

At the same time that Greece was setting its course on NATO, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger was assuring a private meeting with President Ford and Republican leaders that the U.S. policy on Cyprus is neutral.

"We have made major efforts to elicit concessions from both the Greeks and the Turks," he said, according to confidential minutes of the White House meeting. "We will take a new look if the Turks cross the cease-fire line."

The restive Republicans wondered why Kissinger had not simply halted aid to Turkey. Kissinger replied, according to the minutes, that this "would not have stopped the three-day occupation."

Indeed, Kissinger warned, such drastic action "would have enormous consequences on NATO, Turkish nationalism and (the) possible approach to the Soviet Union." One "possible solution," Kissinger said, "may be a federalized republic or a Cantonal structure" — in short, a semi-partitioning of Cyprus with Greece and Turkey each controlling part of the island.

Added President Ford hopefully, "I think we'll come out all right as friends of both parties."

Kissinger also met privately with five congressmen of Greek descent who gave him a far more obstreperous going over than the Republican leaders. One of the Greek-American legislators who attended the off-the-record meeting told us they tore into Kissinger "in a manner to which he is unaccustomed."

The congressmen were Louis Bafalis, R-Fla., John Brademas, D-Ind., Peter Kyros, D-Me., Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., and Gus Yatron, D-Pa. At one point, they told Kissinger he was personally responsible for a "grievous policy . . . The U.S. has egg all over its face."

The strong-willed Kissinger was "patient" but "stuttered, reeled back and reddened" under the onslaught, we were told. At one point he left the meeting for a telephone conversation with Turkish Prime Minister Bulent Ecevit. But at the end of the meeting, Kissinger courteously invited the lawmakers to come back again.

Despite appearances of even-handedness, we are told by high diplomatic sources that Kissinger tentatively and confidentially agreed in recent meetings with British Ambassador Peter Ramsbotham to a Cyprus plan drawn up in London.

To the distress of the Greeks, it would, in effect, chop Cyprus into Greek and Turkish enclaves. The Turks would make an ostentatious pullback to a line running across the northern third of the island to pacify world opinion — a move they had intended anyway.

When the plan was delicately put to deposed Cypriot president Archbishop Makarios in London by Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Foreign Secretary James Callaghan, the peppery Makarios was outraged, we were told.

In Athens, Greek leaders are also fuming. For years, they have gone along with almost every twist and turn in American policy, while the Turks have often refused to cooperate with Washington. A few weeks ago, for instance, Turkey defied the United States and resumed cultivation of opium.

Meanwhile, we have learned that Athens risked her good relations with the Arabs by secretly permitting the United States to use Greek NATO bases for shuttling supplies to Israel during the Middle East war last October. As a result, Israel is secretly grateful to Greece and hopes it will keep its NATO ties.

During the October War, Greece also allowed U.S. intelligence services to use a communications station outside Athens to monitor Soviet and Arab radio broadcasts. Turkey, on the other hand, reportedly permitted the Soviets to overfly her territory to deliver arms to the Arabs.

Footnote: At the State Department, a spokesman denied Greek bases were used by the United States to resupply Israel. He also said the British initiative was not yet "developed." It does not have any "arms or legs" yet, he said.

Chronology of unfortunate events

It is history now. What I am about to recite, however wearied you may be of the subject, is not recapped without purpose. I would hope that you will accept my chronology of the unfortunate events and hear me through.

It started in the Sixties, and it is important that we remember this. It started in the Sixties when our people were bitterly divided by a brutal and tragic war. There were parades and protests against the draft, against the war, against federal policies.

Then, in an ugly outburst of hatred and venom, the President was assassinated, the Vice President took over. Even after the climactic assassination, resentment of national policies continued so President Johnson decided he would not run for re-election in '68. That year's race was hotly contested, ended with a very narrow Republican victory. But re-election four years later was by a landslide because the Democratic candidate was characterized as "the most inept man who ever ran for high office."

The Republicans enjoyed the heady euphoria of their big victory for only a little while before an Eastern newspaper began picking at and probing election practices of the President and the conduct of his office.

Almost overnight, whispers became shouted accusations of graft and corruption. The President's chief of staff and other trusted aides were involved in a far-reaching scandal. The President protected them by declaring their innocence, claiming executive powers, invoking privilege to suppress evidence.

The federal prosecutor hired to handle the case was fired by the President. And gradually it came out that the burglary of an office safe had been engineered by the White House. Cabinet members began to desert the sinking ship: three secretaries of interior, four secretaries of treasury, five attorneys general.

As related scandals engulfed the White House, the Vice President was forced to retire from office, ruined. Even the President's personal family came under attack.

His brother-in-law was accused of accepting a bribe from one of the richest men in the nation in exchange for trying to influence important legislation.

With the war over the President was under continuing pressure to grant amnesty to draft dodgers. Indians near Wounded Knee in North Dakota staged a major protest.

Against this background the dollar lost purchasing power, inflation was rampant, unemployment increased, interest rates soared, the stock market declined and the price of gold skyrocketed to more than $160 an ounce.

The only bright spot was the President's record in foreign affairs. He and his brilliant secretary of state managed landmark treaties promising a generation of peace.

Now it is history. Just as it happened—to President Ulysses Grant 100 years ago.

Just in jest

One reason you get so many busy signals these days when you try to make a phone call is because the party you are trying to reach is in the process of dialing the time, dialing a joke, dialing the weather or dialing a prayer. And from here on out the situation is undoubtedly going to worsen. How could it be otherwise now that DIAL A THRILL has been added to the list? Designed for the special benefit of this nation's millions of frustrated females, DIAL A THRILL connects them with a husky, sexy, suggestive male voice which whispers 60 seconds of insinuating sweet nothings into their twitching ears.

Amnesty for Rocky won't come easily

WASHINGTON — Ford and Who in '76? The issue is anything but foreclosed. And yet, it could be. It's all up to Nelson Rockefeller.

No matter how tight Gerald Ford's lock on the presidency, Sen. Barry Goldwater has served notice that the Republican vice-presidential nomination could be up for grabs two years from now. The Arizona Senator isn't sounding empty threats. Nor does his interest in who will be President Ford's running-mate stem from any personal ambition Goldwater might have for the job.

In declaring that delegates to the next Republican convention ought to have a free hand in naming the other half of a Ford-led ticket, Goldwater is only speaking for millions of conservatives who, like the symbol of their party, own long memories.

To be sure, editorial pundits along the Hudson-Potomac Line have been ecstatic about Ford's vice-presidential selection. Many, in fact, have gone so far as to write obituaries regarding Democratic chances to capture the White House in '76, if faced with a Ford-Rockefeller ticket. But let's keep such predictions in perspective: these are the same "experts" who less than a month ago were lighting candles over the imminent demise of the Republican party.

Nevertheless, I expect that we'll be reading and hearing a great deal in the months upcoming about an old editorial bugaboo. Specifically, our pundit friends and kibitzers will be arguing that since a Ford-Rockefeller ticket seems unbeatable, the brewing right-wing campaign to dump Rocky reflects a conservative "death wish."

I can practically give you the words and phrases, verbatim: "Don't conservative Republicans want to win? Would they rather tear the Republican party to pieces for mere ideology?"

The trouble with this old bugaboo argument is that it misses the point of conservative objections to Rockefeller. It's not a matter of ideological purism at all. The fact is that Republican conservatives over the years have been quite flexible in compromising ideological purity to keep the party unified.

Too flexible at times for the party's own good. Remember 1960? The right wing dutifully accepted Nixon's desire for a "balanced" ticket, with Henry Cabot Lodge as his vice-presidential running mate. A real winner, that one.

Again, in 1968, some conservative purists—including Goldwater and Sen. Strom Thurmond—were "pragmatic" enough to turn away from a pure conservative candidate, Gov. Ronald Reagan, in order to support Richard Nixon. Big win. So big that here we are six years later recovering from our victory hangover.

No, the record shows that it hasn't been conservatives who've proved unwilling to bend, in order to win election. It's been Republicans like Nelson Rockefeller—especially Nelson Rockefeller.

Time and again, like the petulant, self-centered rich kid on the block, Rocky has picked up his mitt and gone home when the intraparty game hasn't gone to his liking. And now, in the name of "pragmatism," conservatives are being asked to wipe the slate clean. Forgive and forget.

What Goldwater is saying, I think, is that all will not be forgiven and forgotten simply because a popular Republican President waves a hand. Right-wing amnesty for Rockefeller's past sins won't be automatic.

But neither, let me say, should it be out of the question. The Vice President-designate spent one day last week paying courtesy calls to Democrats on Capitol Hill. If Rockefeller is truly interested in wiping out old, bitter memories, he has the next 24 months to show similar courtesies to some of his old intra-party rivals. All conservatives might need, really, is some sign that their new Republican Vice President now recognizes party loyalty as a two-way street.

SOME DAYS AN ELEPHANT WANTS TO FORGET—With the circus coming to town North Beach publicist Davey Rosenberg picked the elephant for the walk from the circus train to San Francisco's Cow Palace. Rosenberg weighs 340 pounds and it took three circus hands and 15 minutes to mount him.

Army housing men, women in same barracks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army is quietly housing both men and women in some of its barracks without the same fanfare that greeted other military concessions to modern mores.

Male and female soldiers are not allowed to live in mixed rooms or even adjoining ones, but many barracks now have a separate female floor above a floor of males, an Army spokesman said.

The two sexes share the same day room with television, games and other entertainment diversions.

Normally women have been assigned to a separate WAC barracks. But in recent years women have poured into the Army and can no longer fit in the WAC barracks.

They also have been allowed into all jobs not involving combat such as the engineers and military police. This means women are being assigned to bases that don't even have WAC barracks, requiring base commanders to make new housing arrangements.

It is now, according to the spokesman, "a common practice on Army posts where women are assigned."

At all barracks, a sergeant is normally assigned in the evening and over night to handle telephone calls and security, the spokesman said. Among the sergeant's responsibilities would be seeing that the sexes don't mingle in the rooms —at least between 4:30 p.m. and 7:30 a.m.

The spokesman said there had been no fanfare because there had been no changes in Army regulations or Army policy.

The housing rules have long stated simply that women must be billeted with "separate entrances" from the men and with separate latrines and showers. Mixed rooms have thus always been forbidden but a separate floor or wing for women long permitted even if not followed in practice.

Longer skirts mean trouble

By ERMA BOMBECK

The skirt is coming back.

I know this won't choke up women cello players, but it's true. Not only do designers say American women are going to be wearing more skirts and dresses, but the hemlines are going to be longer.

This is bad news in more ways than one. Several years ago, someone figured out as the hemlines go . . . so goes the economy. The longer the hemline, the more acute the depression . . . the shorter the hemline, the greater the country's prosperity.

The way I look at it, with beans at 87 cents a pound I'm stuck with a closet full of blouses.

"What am I going to do with all those short dresses?" I asked Mother.

"Like I always said, 'You can make a skirt shorter,' said Mother. 'But you can't make it longer after it's cut off.' "

"When did you say that?" I asked.

"When you cut off your winter coat."

"Mother! You can't walk around in a coat with a hem so thick you look like you're storing rifles in it."

"So, don't yell at me. You're the one with the closet full of blouses."

"Remember Margaret Shelhaas? I went to school with her and when hemlines dropped in 1947, she made new tops for all of her skirts out of muslin, wore long sweaters and never raised her arms."

"Did it work?"

"No, it was miserable. She couldn't try out for cheerleading, mail a letter, wave good-bye, hang up her coat, or comb her hair in public. She finally dropped out of school."

"Because of fake tops on her skirts?"

"Yes. She was failing everything because she never participated in class by raising her hand to answer anything."

"Maybe hemlines won't get too long and you can just slouch for a few years," offered Mother.

"Oh, they're going to get long all right. Remember the economy in 1900 to 1927 and then how skirts went thigh-high by 1928? And how they went down in 1929, and up again in 1940?

From '47 to '54 they were mid-calf and in 1967 hemlines went as high as 30 inches."

I was still discussing the problem with my husband last night at a movie when we saw a young girl lean over the drinking fountain.

"I don't remember the economy being that good," I said.

"It wasn't," he said dreamily. "But when skirts get that high no one seems to care."

Meat packer fined $30,000

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Bernard Fineman was fined $30,000 and his firm, the Highland Meat Packing Co. in Vernon, was also fined a similar amount Tuesday following a guilty plea on charges of bribing federal meat inspectors.

Fineman and his company were accused of paying $1,180 in cash bribes to a federal inspector last year and of offering a $200-a-week bribe to influence the grading of certain meats.

Only monkeys, apes, humans

Maybe a little more than $500, that's all the great composer Franz Schubert earned from his music during his entire lifetime. However, Sigmund Romberg made at least $100,000 from "Song of Love," which he lifted from Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony." Was that fair?

AM TOLD the only mammals that can distinguish colors are monkeys, apes and humans.

A — Doesn't have an official one. But both "God Save the Queen" and "O Canada" are sung as such.

Q — "I CAN'T even get this sink white with scouring powder and chlorine bleach. . . .?"

A — Try scrubbing it with a paste of cream of tartar and hydrogen peroxide.

A — Sansei.

OUR LANGUAGE MAN thinks the word "mummy" came from the Arabic "mumiya" meaning "pitch." Maybe you already knew the ancient Egyptians used pitch to embalm their dead.

RIO

It was just about 50 years ago that the citizens thereabouts air conditioned Rio de Janeiro. A high hill called the Morro do Costello blocked off the sea breezes. So teamsters hauled away said hill in wagon loads. Average summertime temperature downtown dropped almost 10 degrees. This comes to mind because a client asks if any city in the world is completely air conditioned. Know of no other.

THOSE SLEEP SPECIALISTS just about always come up empty when they try to research nightmares. Ordinary dreams, no problem. Citizens do indeed dream when they serve as subjects in laboratory experiments. But they don't have those screamy scarey terrifiers. Something about the controlled circumstances prevents such, evidently.

Deserter tries running back to Canada, caught

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — An Army deserter who tried to run back into Canada was in the Ft. Lewis stockade today.

The incident occurred recently when Ronald J. Anderson, 31, decided to move from Canada to the United States with his two children.

When customs officials at the border 140 miles north of Tacoma ran a computer check on Anderson, a customs official said, Anderson decided to make a dash back to Canada.

He ran out of the customs station and was pursued by customs agents, who caught him. A customs official was not clear whether Anderson was caught on American or Canadian soil.

"It's an international park at the Peace Arch," said resident customs agent Ed Kennedy at the border.

An FBI agent, who did not want to be identified, said the whole question of the arrest "is a bit of a touchy subject right now."

Canadian officials were not available for comment.

A military spokesman at Ft. Lewis Monday night said Anderson was being processed into the stockade here. The spokesman said he could not answer questions on how long Anderson had been missing, what his home town was, his rank, where Anderson's children are now and whether Anderson was returning to the U.S. because of President Ford's promise of possible amnesty.

This isn't the kind of help I need.

At this moment I'm on the floor. You're all staring at me. And, right now you can't help me. But, tomorrow you can. You can literally help pick me up off the floor... by understanding epilepsy.

You see, my epilepsy isn't hurting me. Your attitudes are.

What is your attitude? Would you hire me? Work with me? Invite me to join your club?

Do you really know as much about epilepsy as you may think you know? For instance, that epileptics aren't absent from their jobs as much as so-called "healthy" employees are with the common cold? Or, that many epileptics may have I.Q.'s higher than your own? But, most important of all... are you perhaps just a little frightened in the presence of a known epileptic—frightened he'll suddenly become the way I am right now?

There's no reason to be. Write or phone the Los Angeles County Epilepsy Society (LACES) for the facts. Your understanding will be of great assistance; also, your gift of love, no matter how large or small, will help minister to the special needs of other people like me.

Make it a real gift...give out of love.

Ford sets outline on amnesty issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford, in unveiling his proposal for the possibility of an "earned re-entry" of American war resisters before the Veterans of Foreign War, was doing politics at its best.

By setting his own proposal for a limited leniency for resisters and deserters within the context of the adamant opposition of the veterans organization, Ford carefully set the limits of the national debate on the amnesty question between those who totally oppose amnesty and those who favor a limited or conditional amnesty.

Left on the outside, it appears, are all of those who favor a general, unconditional blanket amnesty.

Ford's own position, however, seems grounded in the political realities. He was urged to make the proposal by former Defense Secretary Melvin Lird who had urged a similar action on former President Nixon but was rebuffed.

In addition, administration officials met with Sen. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, only days before the Ford speech and carefully went over Taft's proposed "Earned Immunity" legislation which would give case-by-case immunity from prosecution to resisters who complete up to two years alternate service for the country.

Those who favor a more liberal approach to the amnesty issue —generally religious leaders whose position is based on moral rather than political considerations —are attempting to broaden the limits set by the Ford speech.

Bishop James S. Rausch, general secretary of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, for instance, said the Ford initiative was "a constructive step toward opening a genuine national dialogue on this pressing issue."

Rausch also noted that the general position of the NCCB was "fully supportive of the approach" suggested by Ford. But he added:

"Consideration should be given to unconditional amnesty at least for those who resisted military service because of their conscientious convictions."

Rabbi Balfour Brickner, co-director of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations' department of social action, in a letter to Ford, appealed to the President to include the religious community in the process that would develop the machinery for any amnesty program.

He, too, "enthusiastically" supported Ford's "initial effort" at beginning to focus attention on the problem of amnesty.

At the same time, Brickner carefully pointed out that his organization, which represents 1.1 million Reformed Jews in the United States has adopted a position supporting unconditional amnesty both for draft resisters and deserters who found "they could not participate in that war...."

Ford, however, in plunking himself down between the religious leadership's call for unconditional amnesty and the VFW's adamant opposition — restated a day after the President's speech —has placed himself squarely with a majority of Americans.

A Gallup poll, taken in April shortly after extensive and well publicized hearings on the amnesty question, showed that a significant majority of Americans —58 per cent — oppose unconditional amnesty for war resisters.

At the same time, only 8 per cent said they believed the conditions imposed for a resister or deserter's return should be a fine or imprisonment.

That is precisely the course Ford is trying to steer in his proposal.

50,000 stolen credit cards recovered

BOSTON (UPI) — About 50,000 stolen blank Master Charge credit cards that banks said could cost them $15 million if distributed nationwide Tuesday were seized by Massachusetts officials who said it was the largest such recovery in the United States.

Suffolk County district attorney Garrett Byrnes said the cards were seized in an automobile in Boston's Park Square area. Two suspects were arrested and taken into custody. Byrnes declined to identify them until they were formally charged and arraigned.

Byrnes said the seizure and arrests resulted from an investigation begun sevra weeks ago at the request of Master Charge credit card officials. He said the officials estimated that if the cards were distributed nationwide, it would result in a loss of $10-15 million.

"The officials told me this would be the minimum loss," Byrnes said. "They said it was the largest seizure of credit cards that they knew of."

The recovered Master Charge cards were in small cardboard cartons. The names of three different banks appeared on the cards, but the names of customers were not in evidence.

The banks were Valley National Bank, Phoenix, Ariz., the Bank of Mexico and Marine Midland Bank.

Also seized were photographic plates upon which were printed what appeared to be names and account numbers of existing Master Charge customers. The dates on the cards indicated that most had expired.

Pair accused of stealing autos

LONG BEACH (UPI) — Peter Angles, 31, and Michael Armendares, 28, were arrested Tuesday and booked on suspicion of grand theft auto for allegedly stealing 50 old cars during the last month and selling them to a Wilmington junk yard as scrap metal.

The suspects were arrested as they were towing a car into the junk yard.

Saxbe sees U.S. downfall in crime rate

CHICAGO (UPI — Attorney General William B. Saxbe Tuesday warned that the nation will need a national police force to keep it from "falling apart," unless another means is found to reverse a skyrocketing crime trend.

With the crime rate soaring from a 6 per cent increase in 1973 to a 15 per cent increase in this year's first quarter, Saxbe, said, the nation is in "deep trouble."

"If we go on as we are, there is every possiblity that crime will inundate us," he said in a speech prepared for a conference of law enforcement administrators from the nation's major cities.

"The nation would then be faced with the prospect of falling apart or devising a national police force in one final effort to restore domestic order," Saxbe said.

But he said this would be a great danger because a national police force could become "an instrument of national repression."

"A police state can control crime, but that is not our way," Saxbe said.

Rejecting police state "efficiency" as a solution, Saxbe said the answer lies in restoring the "inner strengths" of the people and their institutions.

"It is partly the job of every citizen, of every institution, of every business," Saxbe said. "Because if they fail, then our system of criminal justice simply will be unable to hold back the tide."

Will stop 10-cent gas tax hike--Mills

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee says any proposal to raise the federal gasoline tax by 10 cents a gallon would die in his committee.

"If I know anything about President Jerry Ford, I know he's not going to recommend a 10-cents-a-gallon increase on gaslone," Mills told the Southern Farmer's Association. "If he did, he would know that as long as I am chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, it would not be enacted."

The White House said the gasoline tax hike is under considera'ion. The measure would go to Mills' committeee, and the Arkansas Democrat said he would fight it "as strong as I can fight it."

"And I guarantee you one thing, as long as I'm chairman of the committee, it will never see the light of day. It will never get out of the committee."

The doctor comments

Subaortic stenosis surgery can be risk

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am so angered by your reply to the parent of the 16-year-old girl who died of subaortic stenosis that for the first time in my life. I am motivated to write to a newspaper. For 17 years I'd been told by several of New York City's best cardiologists that, through surgery was known for this condition the mortality rate was too high to subject my son to it. He was an active, alert, bright individual who could lead a normal life, with periodic checkups by a doctor.

At 17 he suffered an aortic aneurysm and after an excruciating week he died in 1967. Obviously when seven years later a 16-year-old girl succumbs to the same condition the medical profession knows no more now than it did then! How can you assert that subaortic stenosis can go unnoticed by the victim?

Dear Reader — You need to appreciate that subaortic stensis (obstruction to the oulet of the heart) is an unpredicatable disease. You doctors gave you the best advice available at that time. I checked my own experience with the leading text on heart diseases and note that in 1968 the death rate for aortic stenosis at surgery or in the next four years following surgery was about 20 per cent. With thsese odds most heart specialsits then agreed it was not wise to subject a person to surgery unless he already had symptoms. You say your son suffered no ill effects and was active, so it is quite understandable that his doctors did not recommend surgery at that time. Open heart surgery was just beginning around 1955. The risk 17 years ago was very great indeed. The problem is quite different if the patient has symptoms. As soon as there is some evidence that the obstruction in the heart is great enough to cause the patient to have symptoms then the risk of sudden death is high enough that most heart specialists think surgery should be done right away, unless there are other problems. The doctor has to balance the risk of operation against the risk of not having the operation. In unpredictable disorders of this type and sometimes because of sudden changes in the patient's condition, it is not possible to always make the right choice, regardless of training or experience. Hindsight is so much better than foresight.

I think you are being unnecessarily hostile about some matters in which you are not adequately informed. There has been some improvement in surgery in the past seven years and better information about when to operate. But still there is no foolproof way to be absolutely sure.

Now, about my stating that a patient may not notice the condition. I have seen men in the service in uniform, some of them doctors, who had this problem and had been unaware of it until an abnormal sound in the heart led to its discovery. It is simply a statement of well established fact that if the obstruction is mild it may cause no symptoms at all. So the person will first find out about its presence when the doctor notices it on an examination. I'm sure you did all that could reasonably be expected for your son. It was just a series of unfortunate and unpredictable events.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of the Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on cholesterol, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for the "Cholesterol" booklet.

CHP pay raise by $12 million

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation providing Highway Patrolmen with annual pay raises totaling an estimated $12 million has passed the Senate.

The bill (AB3801) by Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, was passed Tuesday night on a 28-6 vote, one more than needed, and returned to the Assembly for acceptance of amendments.

It requires the state Personnel Board to set Highway Patrol salaries according to the average pay for equivalent officers in the state's five largest metropolitan police departments.

Floor sponsor Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, estimated the annual cost to taxpayers at $12 million a year.

Highway Patrol salaries currently are pegged to the average pay for 20 select police departments, including [illegible] ones where wages [illegible]derably below metro[illegible]ties.

DAVEY STEALS IT

Chicago shortstop Don Kessinger leaps high to snag the peg that was intended to catch L.A.'s Davey Lopes, who stole the base in Dodgers' 7-6 win Wednesday at Dodger Stadium.

Dodgers trim Cubs behind a little luck

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — "I was lucky," observed Dodger first baseman Steve Garvey in reference to his five-hit performance Wednesday night.

The Dodgers en masse would probably agree to that statement after Wednesday's wild 7-6 win over the visiting Chicago Cubs before 27,053 fans. L.A. came back to win a game it very nearly let slip away.

The Dodgers were more than fortunate to pull the game out on Willie Crawford's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the last of the ninth. Chicago, which has proven to be a special Dodger patsy of late, once pitched in with a barrage of miscues Wednesday to pave the way to the L.A. triumph.

The wild game saw a little bit of everything. The two teams almost erupted into a beanball war, there was a pinch-hit grand slam homer, a Chicago "bush" play backfired, and, appropriately enough, the most meager of diamond weapons, the bunt, won the battle.

The win, despite its tribulations, was a welcome one for the Dodgers. It enabled them to protect their slim three-game lead in the National League West over Cincinnati, a 4-3 winner over Philadelphia Wednesday.

Until an unscheduled appearance by the Cubbies' Bill Madlock, the Dodgers appeared to have the victory salted away.

L.A. rode 11 singles and four stolen bases to a 6-2 lead going into the top of the eighth. But Dodger starter Don Sutton suddenly lost it, as three straight Cub singles were followed by Madlock's grand slammer.

Madlock, an off-season resident of Pomona last year was not supposed to play in the game due to some recent leg problems, but he picked on Sutton's first delivery and then could have crawled around the bases as the ball soared out just above the 385-sign in left-center.

However, even with Madlock's spirit-lifting blast, the Cubs found yet another way to lose to the Dodgers.

Mike Marshall, entering the contest for the shell-shocked Sutton, got the side out in the eighth but ran into immediate trouble in the ninth.

One-out singles by Don Kessinger and Jose Cardenal put runners at first and third. With rookie Pete LaCock at the plate, Chicago got itchy for the go-ahead run and it cost them.

In the Chicago version of the old "bush" play, Cardenal broke for second on a Marshall delivery and drew a throw from catcher Joe Ferguson. Cardenal then rightly stopped and got into a rundown, supposedly allowing Kessinger time to break for home plate.

Kessinger hesitated as the Dodgers ran Cardenal back and forth between second and first. By the time he finally broke for the plate, he was easy game for Davey Lopes, who fired a strike back to Ferguson to nail him sliding in.

Marshall proceeded to retire LaCock and the Dodgers proceeded to put Chicago out of its misery.

Sun storms past Portland, 45-15

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — There is little thunder and even less lightning in the Portland Storm.

The Southern California Sun dominated play from the outset Wednesday night at Anaheim Stadium and rolled to an easy 45-15 victory.

It marked the third straight win for the Orange County entry and enabled the Sun (5-3) maintain its lead over second-place Houston in the WFL's Western Division.

Quarterback Tony Adams picked the Storm secondary apart as the Sun wrapped up the game in the first half.

Adams completed 12 of 13 passes for 166 yards and three touchdowns, two of them to Dave Williams as the Sun built up a 37-7 halftime lead. Portland made only 26 yards passing.

"Our offensive line did a great job, especially Dennis Crane," said Adams modestly. "He was only switched to offense this week and he did a super job."

Crane, a 6-6, 273-pound USC grad, was switched to offense to replace the injured Booker Brown.

"Portland's personnel was okay," Adams continued. "But they played a man-to-man defense and kept it the same the whole game. I called the game I'd like to call all the time. But you just have to get the feel. Earlier in the year, I just didn't want to take chances. I'm young and still learning."

Coach Tom Fears agreed. "Tony was hitting good tonight," he said. "We're trying to get him to be less conservative. He can throw. Dennis Crane had only three days of practice at offensive tackle and did a helluva job. He's a dedicated player and a fast learner."

Fears also singled out Williams for some special attention.

"Dave has superb reflexes and good timing," he said. "He's as as good as there is around. But he's very underrated. Some may do as well, but none better."

The Portland defensive backs were no match for the tall Sun wide receiver. At 6-3 and 205 pounds, there are few defensive backs that are tall enough or strong enough to compete with him at jumping for a ball. He finished with six receptions for 68 yards.

The Sun stampede started on the second play of the game following the kickoff. Linebacker Cleveland Vann recovered Marv Kendricks' fumble at the Portland 41.

Kaline belts homer, praises Halos' Tanana

DETROIT (UPI) — Al Kaline thinks Frank Tanana has a brilliant future. He wouldn't hurt himself if he'd learn how to get a guy like Kaline out when it counts.

Kaline unloaded his 10th home run, one of the hardest he's hit in perhaps a couple of years, on Tanana's second pitch of the ninth inning Wednesday night and it gave the Detroit Tigers a 2-1 victory over the California Angels.

Kaline's 396th career homer, which left him just 26 hits shy of 3,000, was a rocket that landed in the upper deck in left. The only doubt that existed when he hit it was whether it would go off the seats or through them.

Tanana also gave up a home run on his first pitch of the eighth inning, Ed Brinkman's 12th, and now has allowed 25 this season. Nine of his losses in a 9-16 season are directly attributable to the big blast.

"He's going to be a great pitcher—if he doesn't hurt himself," Kaline said. "He's got a great fastball, a real good curve and great control. You usually don't find a pitcher that young with control as good as he's got."

Despite the loss, Tanana still ended August with a 1.65 earned run average for the month. He's lost his last two starts but had a pair of shutouts before that.

Connors, Evert begin their bids

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (UPI) — Chris Evert and Jimmy Connors are expected to start their walk down the aisle to the U.S. Open Tennis titles today, but one, or both of them could trip on the carpet.

The love match between the two Wimbledon winners may be the stuff of which dreams are made but each of them will have to prove their tennis greatness here today on the second day of the 12-day, $271,760 tournament, the richest in the game's history.

Connors, plagued with an intestinal disorder, was getting snappish during the first day's matches, watching John Newcombe, Ken Rosewall, Ilie Nastase and the other seeds moved to the second round without too much difficulty in a day of smothering heat and humidity.

The 21-year-old independent soul was to face Jeff Borowiak in his first test, slated for center court in the stadium as the fourth match there, after his girl, Chris, had the honor of opening women's play against Gail Chanfreau of France.

"If one more guy asks me how I feel," Connors said after what he thought was the 6,342nd question about his tummy aches, "I think I'll punch him on the nose."

Miss Evert, meanwhile, took her ponytails and trimmed-down figure onto the court seeking to continue her 52 straight match wins over 10 tournaments, which had been climaxed by her Wimbledon triumph and victories in Italy and France.

Newcombe toyed with a last minute fill-in opponent when Leif Johannson of Sweden decided there was no point in showing up. Last year's winner trounced young Ramiro Benavides of Bolivia, 6-2, 6-0, 6-1, then said he was having a bit of trouble with his back because of an injury he sustained in his conditioning program.

Rosewall, too, has been out of tournament competition, playing WTT, But he showed much the same skill and form which brought him to his fourth Wimbledon final this year. He suffered a momentary lapse in the second set, but then brushed off countryman Colin Dibley, 6-4, 7-6, 6-1.

Rams deal Schuh to Green Bay

FULLERTON, Calif. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams traded veteran tackle Harry Schuh, who is beginning his 10th pro season, to the Green Bay Packers Wednesday for an undisclosed draft choice, it was announced.

Intrepid's victory over Courageous may have turned table in yacht trials

NEWPORT (UPI) — Intrepid, which had to win Tuesday's race against Courageous to avoid elimination in the U.S. America's Cup yacht trials, has turned the tables and it was Courageous which sorely needed a victory in today's race.

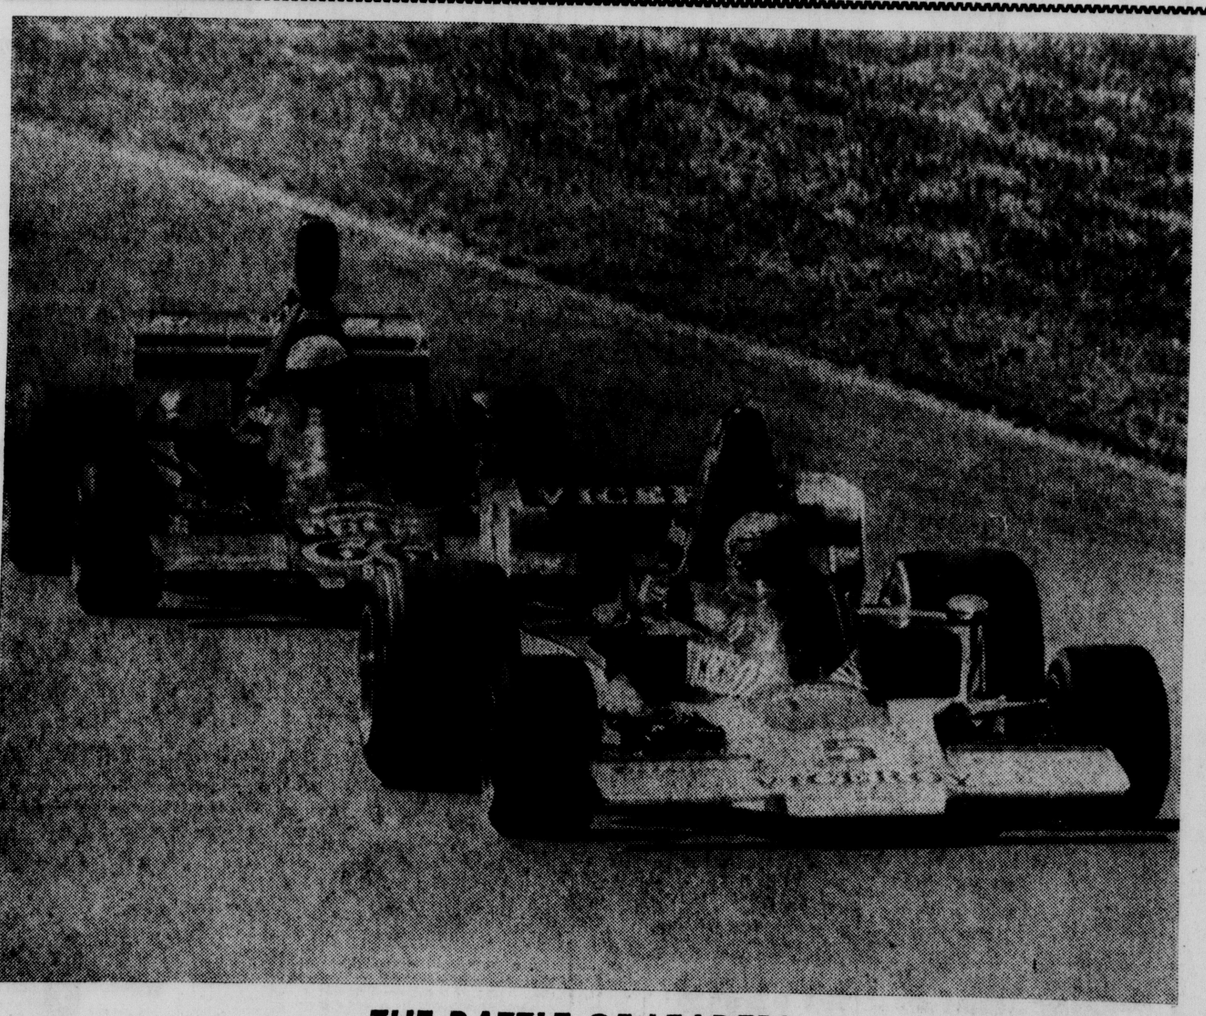
As expected, Australia's Southern Cross beat France Wednesday by four minutes 22 seconds to win the best-of-seven series 4-0 and become the challenger in the best-of-seven Cup races starting September 10th.

In the U.S. trials, Intrepid beat Courageous Wednesday for the second straight day, this time by 52 seconds, and appeared to be in peak form. Courageous still leads 4-3 in head-to-head racing with Intrepid in the final series, but the selection by the New York Yacht Club is made on an overall basis..

All of the Courageous victories came in light air—winds of five to eight knots. The two latest Intrepid victories have been in winds of about 15 knots —which is the usual September weather on the 24.3-mile triangular course on Rhode Island Sound.

"The selecton committee wants an all-around boat, of course," said Intrepid skipper Gerry Driscoll. "The race selection committe is looking at the whole picture, not just aluminum or wood, light air or heavy."

Courageous is a new aluminum 12-meter while Intrepid is a wooden-hull which has beaten Australian twice in Cup defenses—against Dame Pattie in 1967 and Gretel II in 1970.



THE BATTLE OF LEADERS

Mario Andretti (No. 5) and Brian Redman (No. 66), currently tied for the point lead in the Formula 5000 series, play cat and mouse at a recent race. They'll be at Ontario Motor Speedway Sunday for the California Grand Prix. Andretti has won the last two races of the series.

Mario Andretti doesn't really have advantage after all in this Sunday's California Grand Prix

Mario Andretti won the first — and only — major road race at Ontario Motor Speedway, the Questor Grand Prix in 1971.

If his rivals in the California Grand Prix here Sunday consider that an advantage for the 34-year-old star of the Viceroy racing team, it isn't.

"Yes, I was happy when this race (fifth among seven in the Formula 5000 series) was scheduled at Ontario," recalls Andretti. "I felt I at least would know the track."

Not so, though.

In 1971, an international field of Formula One and Formula A drivers drove the course, which winds within the track's 2½-mile oval, in a clockwise direction. This time, however, officials reversed the route and shortened it a bit to 2.9 miles.

"You almost can't compare the courses," commented Andretti after a recent test run in his Viceroy-Lola. "It's really like they are at two entirely different locations."

Andretti feels the change of direction was for the better. It will provide more interesting racing for the spectators in his opinion. But it will also mean a little more work for the drivers.

"There is not a single turn with the same approach or line," he explains. "In some ways it is harder to drive this way.

"The radius of the turns doesn't open up for acceleration. Instead, they're just the opposite since the track was originally designed to go the other way. Now the approaches are wide and the radius in each case tightens. You must take a different line and approach altogether."

This amounts to what Andretti sees as "a pretty tricky course."

Another challenge for drivers, he adds, is the fact that the course is "so flat there are no reference points."

"The cars are so low," he says, "that it is hard to see the apex of each turn. And you don't dare get a wheel off the track or you're in trouble."

Andretti describes the track also as "quite fast, about a 120 m.p.h. course."

"I like it. It's one of those places where you've really got to get your car working right."

Andretti feels his Chevrolet-powered Viceroy-Lola is all of that. "Our recent tests here were very successful."

That has been the way things have been going lately for the 1969 Indianapolis 500 winner. He's won the last two Formula 5000 races (Elkhart Lake, Wis., and Watkins Glen, N.Y.) and has been the fastest qualifer in each of the season's four events. In the drive for the championship, he shares the lead with Britisher Brian Redman at 50 points each.

The competition is expected to be considerably deeper at Ontario for the 100 miler which is jointly sanctioned by the Sports Car Club of America and Upited States Auto Club.

Several of Andretti's USAC championship car rivals have entered the Coca-Cola sponsored race, including Indianapolis champion Johnny Rutherford. Another addition is Formula One campaigner James Hunt of England.

"Maybe the numbers (of competitive drivers) are greater," observed Andretti, "but it's been competitive for me right along with Brian Redman. I don't care who shows up. My chief rival is still Redman."

Redman won the season opener and has finished second behind Andretti in the last two races. Between them, they have won all eight of the 50-mile qualifying races this season.

Earlier this week, Andretti opened tests with the Vel's-Parnelli Jones Racing Formula One car at Riverside International Raceway. The car is being readied for its debut Sept. 22 in the Canadian Grand Prix at Mosport.

Illustrating his versatility, Andretti has another winning streak working. He scored wire-to-wire victories in the last two races for the front-engine USAC Championship dirt cars in his Viceroy-Ford at Sedalia, Mo., and Springfield, Ill.

He holds a strong lead in championship points with 560, 120 ahead of runnerup Tom Bigelow of Whitewater, Wisc.

WILMINGTON, Ohio (UPI) — Neal Craig, a starter at safety for the Cincinnati Bengals the past three years who lost his job while walking the picket line, has been traded to the Buffalo Bills.

WFL roundup

Someone finally stopped Matuszak

By United Press International

A deputy sheriff did with a little piece of paper what three bruising New York Stars were having difficulty accomplishing.

He stopped John Matuszak.

Matuszak, the 6-foot-8, 282-pound defensive tackle who was made the No. 1 pick in the National Football league draft last season by the Houston Oilers, suddenly jumped Wednesday to the Houston Texans of the World Football League. The former Tampa star had practiced with the Oilers for the last two days before his switch Wednesday.

The Oilers threatened legal action but Matuszak was in a Texan uniform Wednesday night when they played host to the Stars at the Astrodome. He wasn't hard to miss. He was the big guy sitting on the Stars' backfield.

Matuszak entered the game in the first period and promptly made his presence felt by nearly decapitating New York quarterback Tom Sherman. After running back Bob Gladieaux was nearly split in two by Matuszak, the Stars decided that one man could not handle him.

But two didn't help as Matuszak again wound up squatting on Sherman's shoulder pads after a pass and New York finally assigned three men to stop the onrushing giant.

But all they really needed was John Growson—once he found his way to the field.

Growson, a Harris County deputy sheriff, served Matuszak on the Houston bench with a temporary injunction prohibiting him from playing for the Texans and the big tackle was through after just five plays, much to the relief of the Stars' offensive line.

Matuszak responded by waving the court order to the slim crowd of just over 10,000 and then taking his seat alongside owner Steve Arnold for the rest of the game.

"I didn't have time to read the court order and evaluate it," Arnold said. "But God, it looked real. And I didn't want to go to jail."

What Matuszak saw was a reversal of last week's game in which the Stars routed Houston 43-10 in New York. Houston played defense Wednesday night and Mike Taliaferro threw TD passes of six yards to Willie Frazier and 35 to Rick Eber to spark a 14-11 Texans' victory. Sherman threw 11 yards to Kreg Kapitan for New York's lone TD as the Stars saw their five-game winning streak snapped.

Matuszak, who may have been stopped from appearing at all if Crowson hadn't gotten lost trying to get to the playing field, is confident he can remain in the WFL.

"I can beat them in court," he said. "I've got principle on my side."

He jumped after issuing the following statement:

"The most important aspect of my signing with the WFL was not to demean or undermine the National Football League, but rather to make professional football a form of employment where management recognizes its workers as individuals capable of communicating on an intelligent level."

In other WFL action Wednesday night, the Bell edged the Detroit Wheels 27-23 before 15,100 in Philadelphia; the Memphis Southmen downed the Florida Blazers 26-18 before 17,148 in Orlando, Fla.; and the Southern California Sun trounced the winless Portland Storm 45-15 before 27,814 in Anaheim. Undefeated Birmingham is at once-beaten Chicago tonight in the national television game.

Bell 27, Wheels 23

King Corcoran threw TD passes of 17 yards to Claude Watts and 24 to Donnie Shanklin to lead Philadelphia over winless Detroit, now 0-8. Watts also plunged for another TD while quarterback Bubba Wyche scored both Detroit TDs on short runs.

The Wheels played one of their best games of the year despite the fact they were not sure of being paid for the game because of financial problems in Detroit. There is a strong possbility the club may be moved to North Carolina.

Suothmen 26, Blazers 18

John Harvey's 49-yard run for a TD ignited Memphis past the Blazers. John Huarte threw a 35-yard scoring pass to Ed Marshall for Memphis while Bob Davis had TD passes of 22 yards to Greg Latta and 25 to Charles Collins.

Despite the loss, the Blazers remained one game ahead of New York in the eastern race.

Sun goes wild against Portland in 45-15 win

It took only four plays for the Sun to score with Adams passing 28 yards to Williams for the touchdown. Williams, in the left end zone, simply went up higher than either 5-10 Phil Borjas or 5-11 Joe Larkin and grabbed the ball.

Nine minutes later the Californians scored again. After a 35-yard punt, one of many miserable punts by the visitors, Adams again required only four plays to drive the Sun 51 yards, passing 37 yards to Terry Lindsey for the TD.

In the second quarter the Sun signal caller engineered drives of 57 yards (five plays) and 56 yards in six plays for scores. Ralph Nelson scored once on a one-yard plunge and it was the Adams-to-Williams combo for the other. Again Williams got into the left corner of the end-zone and went high in the air for the pass. He caught it with the head of 5-11 Robin Sinclair tucked in his stomach.

The other first half touchdown came midway through the second period when former Ram Gene Howard picked off a Greg Barton pass at the Portland 44 and went all the way with it.

The Storm scored 2:12 into the second quarter. Barton passed four yards to tight end Bob Christiansen to climax an 11-play, 61 yard drive.

Kendricks scored the other Portland TD on a one-yard sweep around left end late in the third quarter. That completed a 73 yard-13 play drive with two penalties for 33 yards helping out. It also completed the scoring for the night.

It came after the Sun had scored with backup quarterback Gary Valbuena taking the Sun 41 yards in five plays, passing 26 yards to Lindsey for the TD. Ralph Nelson scored on the action point and it gave the Sun a 45-7 lead.

Lindsey's touchdown was made simply when defensive back Ray Jones went for the interception at the 20 and missed leaving Lindsey an open road to the end zone.

Valbuena played the entire second half completing 8 of 14 passes for 77 yards and the one touchdown.

Alonzo Emery led a host of Sun runners with 40 yards on seven carries for an average of 5.7. Kermit Johnson gained only 14 yards on five carries.

The Sun now must play three more games in the next 14 days. Fears' team will host the Chicago Fire Monday night then travel to Ypsilanti, Michigan for a Friday game with the Wheels, then over to Chicago for a return match with the Fire the following Wednesday.

SUNSPOTS — Fears thinks Greg Herd, the big fullback, will be a good one. Herd averaged 6.1 yards per carry on five carries. "Herd is just getting in shape," revealed Fears. "He weighed 272 pounds when he reported. He's down to 236 now."

Middle linebacker Eric Patton led the defense with nine tackles. Patton and company kept the Storm runners pretty well bottled up. Rufus Ferguson was tops with 31 yards in 13 carries.

National League roundup

Lou may steal MVP award

By United Press International

Lou Brock has just about "stolen" the National League's Most Valuable Player Award from the sluggers.

"Lectrifyin' Lou moved two thefts closer to Maury Wills' single season stolen base record Wednesday night and became only the third player in modern history to steal at least 90 bases in a season when he pilfered a pair to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-1 triumph over the San Diego Padres.

Brock joined Wills and the legendary Ty Cobb as the only three players since 1900 to steal at least 90 bases in a season, and it now seems he will easily beat Wills' record of 104 steals set during the 1962 season.

If he can accomplish that feat, which is akin to breaking Roger Maris' single season home run record, he would stand a pretty good chance of being named the league's MVP ahead of such powerhitters as Cincinnati's Johnny Bench, Philadelphia's Mike Schmidt and Los Angeles' Jimmy Wynn.

Brock has, after all, been the soul of the Cardinals' club this year by making a contender out of a team that does not hit the long ball very often. He is hitting .315, has scored 81 runs and his daring baserunning has forced the opposition into innumerable mistakes which do not show in the box score.

Brock, who was thrown out for the 21st time in his first attempt Wednesday night, stole his 90th base in the fifth inning then singled in the seventh and promptly stole No. 91 to set the stage for a four-run inning which proved decisive.

Walks by Reggie Smith and Joe Torre moved Brock to third and Bake McBride snapped the 1-1 tie with a two-run single. Ted Simmons then capped the rally with a two-run double. Simmons also doubled home a sixth inning run in helping Lynn McGlothen to his 15th win.

In other NL games, Cincinnati nipped Philadelphia 4-3, Atlanta topped Montreal 4-2, Pittsburgh beat San Francisco 3-1 in 11 innings, Houston edged New York 3-2 in 10 innings and Los Angeles downed Chicago 7-6.

Reds 4, Phillies 3

Pinch-hitter Terry Crowley doubled home Darrell Chaney in the eighth inning to give the Reds a victory over the Phillies. Chaney singled off losing pitcher Ron Schueler with two out and scored when Crowley doubled. Bob Boone homered for the Phils.

Braves 4, Expos 2

Ralph Garr's two-run triple triggered a three-run ninth inning that lifted the Braves over the Expos. A double by Vic Correll and a walk to pinchhitter Hank Aaron preceded Garr's double and Marty Perez singled home the final run of the inning. Carl Morton gained his 14th win for the Expos.

Pirates 3, Giants 1

Ed Kirkpatrick doubled home two runs in the 11th to give the East Division-leading Pirates their sixth consecutive triumph. Kirkpatrick's hit came with two out after loser Jim Barr had walked two batters.

Astros 3, Mets 2

Cliff Johnson's fifth pinch-hit homer of the year with two out in the 10th enabled the Astros to defeat the Mets. Johnson connected off reliever Jerry Cram and moved to within one of the record for most pinch-hit homers in a season set by Johnny Frederick of Brooklyn in 1932.

Major league roundup

A typical night for Oakland A's

By United Press International

It was just another typical night on the pennant road for the Oakland A's.

Steady Jim "Catfish" Hunter became a 20-game winner for the fourth straight year; Reggie Jackson won it for him with a pair of homers; Charlie Finley was on hand to share the spotlight.

And Manager Alvin Dark managed to spoil the occasion just a bit with one of his mystifying decisions that leaves the A's shaking their heads in disbelief.

That's the way it is for Oakland, a club that is rapidly proving itself to be one of the great teams in baseball history. It has a real shot at its third straight world championship—a feat performed only twice in history.

But the A's do it in their own style. For example, they don't hide the fact they don't like some of the moves that Dark makes. But they win anyway.

On Wednesday night, Hunter was rolling along with a 3-1 lead over the Milwaukee Brewers in the ninth inning. With one out, Tim Johnson singled and Dark went out to lift Hunter.

"I told him I didn't want to go out," Hunter admitted. "I didn't think he was going to take me out and when he put up his left hand, I just flipped the ball up in the air because I wanted to stay in. Lucky for me, it didn't hit the ground."

Hunter said Dark told him after the game, "I didn't want to take you out but I had to." Dark brought in both Paul Lindblad and Rollie Fingers to preserve the triumph.

Reserve Ted Kubiak said, "everyone on the bench was surprised when he took Hunter out. Everyone felt he should have stayed in. Like Ken Holtzman has said before, it's done so often, you come to expect it." Holtzman has complained in the past about Dark's quick hook.

But these incidents don't bother the A's, a group of unruffled veterans who live together in easy camaraderie.

When Jackson went up to the plate in the seventh inning with the score tied 1-1, Hunter asked him to hit a homer. He responded with his 25th homer.

"Are you glad I took you seriously," Jackson smiled when he returned to the dugout. Jackson then added his 26th homer in the ninth inning, a shot that almost cleared the rightfield bleachers more than 400 feet away.

Jackson got annoyed at himself earlier in the game when he got picked off base in the fourth inning. "Here my team is fighting for the pennant and I get picked off base so I earn my dough with two homers," Jackson said.

In the other games, Chicago downed Boston 3-0, New York blanked Minnesota 5-0, Texas beat Baltimore 4-2, Cleveland routed Kansas City 7-1 and Detroit nipped California 2-1.

White Sox 3, Red Sox 0

Bart Johnson's four-hitter handed Chicago the victory over Boston and Luis Tiant. The loss cut the Boston lead over New York to 4 ½ games. Tiant was touched for 11 hits as he suffered his ninth loss against 20

Dodgers slip past Chicago

Garvey led off the last of the ninth by hitting his fifth straight single of the evening, as he bounced one to deep short and outlegged Kessinger's throw.

Roy Cey followed by bunting the ball down the first base line. Cub reliever Oscar Zamora, in a spirit of self-destruction, grabbed the ball just before it would have rolled foul. To compound that miscue, he then dropped it and everyone was safe.

Ferguson followed with another bunt, this one moving the runners along to second and third. Von Joshua was given an intentional pass, but Crawford, pinch-hitting for Bill Russell, smacked a Zamora delivery far enough to right field to allow Garvey to scoot home with the game-winner.

Outside of Madlock's blast and a two-run homer by Rick Monday in the second, the game was anything but on the pleasant side for Chicago.

A near-baseball war broke out in the fifth when Sutton nicked Cardenal with a pitch. Cardenal started towards first, but suddenly turned and began towards Sutton on the mound. Cardenal was restrained, and play continued, but not without Cub retaliation.

Batting in the sixth, Sutton was hit on the arm by a Jim Todd toss. The Cub hurler was promptly warned (and fined) by plate ump Shag Crawford, who also gave a friendly reminder to the Dodger dugout that the close shave antics were at an end for the evening.

Andy Messersmith (15-5) will oppose Bill Bonham (10-16) in tonight's 7:30 p.m. series finale, after which the Dodgers will bid a sad farewell to the Cubbies. L.A. now has won four straight and seven of their last eight.

Malone signs contract with ABA's Stars

PETERSBURG, Va. (UPI) — The next time Moses Malone writes his name, he can add the middle initial "M" to his signature. "M" for millionaire.

With quick, brief strokes of a pen, the Petersburg, Va., teenager Wednesday vaulted from 19 years of poverty and doing without to the strange, new world of money, more than he perhaps ever knew existed, and surely more than he once ever expected to earn in a normal lifetime.

Sitting in the office of Washington attorney Donald Dell, Malone, his mother and officials of the Utah Stars of the American Basketball Association agreed to terms of a professional basketball contract estimated to be worth over $3 million.

In a matter of seconds, it was over. Weeks of secret meetings, hide-and-seek games and "now you see me, now you don't" melted into wide grins as Malone turned aside a scholarship to the University of Maryland—and a probable national college championship—to become the highest paid teenager in pro basketball.

Giles upset by architect

RIDGEWOOD, N.J. (UPI) — It figured that a golf course architect would know where all the trees were planted.

And it was just such a fluke that ended Vinnie Giles' remarkable run of success in the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

Graham Cooke, a 27-year-old Canadian who has a landscape architecture degree from Michigan State and designs golf courses for a living, bounced two shots out of the woods on the final hole Wednesday when he upset Giles 1-up in the third round of this year's tournament.

"There's just no excuse for it," said Giles, who was four under par for three days and is going home today.

That's what happens in match play, however.

Cooke, who had gone ahead with a 40-foot birdie putt from the back of the green at 17, pushed his drive on 18 far to the right of the fairway and into the trees.

It bounced out to the middle of the fairway.

"Someone must have thrown it out," Cooke joked.

Then he pushed his second shot to the right, too. It caught some limbs, came down in front of the green, and he got it up and down from there for the par that ended the match. Giles also parred 18.

"He hit it absolutely into the middle of the woods and it bounces out into the fairway," complained Giles. "Then he hits his second shot off another tree and it bounces out. I hit three perfect shots on the hole and don't get anything."

Not since Giles finished 38th as a 23-year-old in 1966 had a U.S. Amateur championship been decided without him as a leading figure.

Giles, who now is in business as an agent representing among others, young pro golfers like Allen Miller, Eddie Pearce and Tom Kite, finished second in the Amateur in 1967, 1968 and 1969, when it was conducted at stroke play.

He was sixth in 1970 and third in 1971.

Finally, in '72, Giles beat a field including Ben Crenshaw and won the title, and in last year's return to match play he was knocked out in the semifinals by the eventual winner, Craig Stadler.

Dick Siderowf, the 1973 British Amateur champion, also was an upset victim Wednesday, losing 2-up to Julian Arnold, a 50-year-old food packager from Miami, Fla.

Among those advancing to today's fourth and fifth rounds were 1964 champion Bill Campbell, now the only former winner still in contention, George Burns, the 1973 Canadian Amateur champion and current North & South titlist and Seniors champion Bill Eyndman III.

Curtis Strange, the NCAA champion from Wake Forest, stopped Jim Joseph of Homewood, Ill., an early two-hole lead before rallying from behind for the third straight day. Walker Cuppers Marty West and Gary Koch also won on Wednesday.

Now you can go to Palm Springs in the desert or Arrowhead in the mountains or Santa Barbara by the sea and get back again.

On one tank of gas.*

Introducing the Toyota-Chinook Round Tripper.

It takes you just about anywhere within a 120 mile radius and back again! On one 13.7 gal. tank of gas.

That's something you wouldn't expect from a bigger camping vehicle. But this one gets over 19 miles per gallon!

(Tests, verified by an independent testing laboratory, were conducted over mountain roads, city streets and freeways in Southern California.)

Yet, you still get the basics you expect in the bigger vehicles. Like a sink. A dinette. An ice box. Carpeting. And a couple of beds.

It's fully integrated, too. Just walk back through the cab and pop up the top for over six feet of headroom.

*Distances were measured, according to the AAA, from city hall to city hall by the most direct route. Actual gas mileage, of course, depends on personal driving habits and road conditions.

Game bird regulations set by CFG for '74-75 seasons

SACRAMENTO — The California Fish and Game Commission has adopted 1974-75 resident game bird hunting regulations that restore the quail limit in the southeastern desert and increase the chukar limit statewide.

Upland game bird regulations until this year were adopted with those for mammals at the end of May. The change was mandated by the Legislature in an effort to give commissioners more current data on which to base their decisions on seasons and big limits.

The FGC approved a suggestion by Commission President Peter T. Fletcher to ban the use of shot larger than No. 2 in hunting upland game and waterfowl. Fletcher had proposed outlawing BB and buckshot-sized pellets as a means of reducing crippling losses. Also approved was a regulation requiring that shot remain loose in the shell—this to prevent "stringing." Both provisions will remain in effect for one year.

The decision to increase bag limits for the two species came after the second consecutive year of wet weather that produced good forage, resulting in high reproduction levels and more quail and chukar.

The bag and possession limit for quail in the southeastern desert was restored to 10 birds, the limit for the balance of the state. This limit was reduced to six two years ago because of poor reproduction.

Also two years ago, the bag and possession limit for chukar was decreased from eight to four birds. The limit for 1974-75 is six.

The commission also added a week each to the fall and spring turkey seasons, expanded the areas open to hunting and increased the bag limit in the spring season.

No major changes were made in regulations for other resident game bird species.

Eighteen counties were added to the 23-day fall turkey season, bringing the total to 32, and the bag and possession limit will remain at two birds of either sex per season.

The spring season, also running 23 days, will include all of the fall hunt area with the addition of Madera, Mariposa and Tuolumne counties where turkey were stocked in 1969 and 1970. The seasonal limit was increased from one bearded tom to two.

The following is a rundown of regulations by species:

PHEASANTS — Nov. 16-Dec. 8 statewide. Bag and possession limit two birds of either sex per day for first weekend, four birds of either sex thereafter in southern counties; two males per day for first weekend, four males per day thereafter in balance of state.

ARCHERY PHEASANTS — Dec. 14-22 statewide; bag and possession limit two birds of either sex per day in southern California; two pheasants per day Dec. 14 and 15, four pheasants per day Dec. 16-22 in balance of state.

FALCONRY PHEASANTS — Dec. 14-Jan. 12, 1975; bag and possession limit one pheasant either sex per day.

QUAIL — Sept. 28-Jan. 31, 1975 in Marin, Napa, Sonoma, Solano, Lake and Mendocino counties; Oct. 26-Jan. 1, 1975 in Humboldt, Del Notre, Siskiyou, Modoc and Lassen counties; Oct. 26-Jan. 31, 1975 in balance of state. Bag and possession limit 10 per day statewide. Special additional mountian quail season Sept. 14-Oct. 25 in same counties open in 1973. Bag and possession limit 10 per day.

ARCHERY, FALCONRY QUAIL — Aug. 17-Sept. 10 in described areas. Bag and possession limits same as in gun seasons.

RED-LEGGED PARTRIDGE (CHUKAR) -- Oct. 26-Jan. 1, 1975 in Modoc and Lassen counties; Oct. 26-Jan. 31, 1975 in balance of state; bag and possession limit six per day statewide.

Bag and possession limit two per day.

ARCHERY, FALCONRY SIERRA AND RUFFED GROUSE — Aug. 17-Sept. 3 in same and area and with same bag and possession limit as regular season.

FALL TURKEY SEASON — Nov. 2-24 in Alpine, Alameda, Amador, Butte, Calaveras, Colusa, Contra Costa, El Dorado, Fresno, Glenn, Kern, Lake, Lassen, Marin, Mendocino, Monterey, Napa, Nevada, Placer, San Benito, San Luis Obispo, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Shasta, Sonoma, Tehama, Trinity, Tulare and Yuba counties. Bag and possession limit two birds, either sex, per season.

Dove hunting starts Sunday

California's 1974 dove hunting season will open Sunday, Sept. 1, and prospects in the southeastern desert areas are equal to last year.

The Department of Fish and Game says prime hunting opportunities should be found in the Palo Verde Valley and along the Colorado River.

Elsewhere in the state, fair hunting is forecast in southern California along the south coast whereas hunting will be less productive further north because of recent cold weather. A sharp drop in the number of birds in the northeastern part of the state was noted during the second week of August.

This year's 46-day split season continues through Monday, Sept. 30, then reopens Saturday, Nov. 23 and runs through Sunday, December 8. Daily bag and possession limits are 10 birds, with 20 allowed in the bag after opening day.

Cat avoids getting poisoned by spiders

By Dr. Frank Miller

DEAR DR. MILLER: Midnight often catches spiders, but more than once, I've caught her with a black widow from a nest behind our garage. She's either escaped being bitten by them, or else s she's immune to that poison. Which do you think it is? Is this a dangerous game, or can she take care of herself? Oh yes, Midnight's a cat. — K. S.

Dear K. S.: Most likely Midnight's skillful or lucky, rather than immune to black widow venom. Her hunting has to be hazardous to some degree. Pursuing poisonous prey (spiders, anyway) close to home is actually likely to be less menacing to Midnight than crossing streets in her expeditions after meadow mice or what have you. Hunting hazards, whatever the prey, are frequently fewer and less lethal than those encountered in getting there and back.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Sugar Pie, my Maltese, is a little bit on the chubby side. Her doctor told me to reduce her food by 60 per cent until she's lost five pounds and then increase her food by ten per cent. I'm curious. How many calories will she be getting? — D. F.

Dear D. F.: Dry commercial dog foods contain approximately 1,500 to 1,600 calories per pound. Canned dog foods have about 500 (ration-type) to 600 (all meat) calories per pound. Soft-moist foods average 1,300 to 1,350 calories per pound. Naturally, the total calories Sugar Pie is ingesting depends on the type and quantity of food you're feeding.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Fanny, my doe rabbit, a Flemish giant, has raised two litters, or almost raised them. Both litters left the nest at well under three weeks which, I understand, is the age that they're supposed to do this. Most of the babies survived, and they had excellent appetites, but I was wondering how come they left "home" so soon. Is this anything to worry about, or are they simply precocious? — V. W.

Dear V. W.: Precocious, possibly. More probably though, the youngsters left the nest early (three weeks IS the normal time) because the nest was uncomfortable: Possibly it was too hot, or packed with parasites, i.e., fleas. Most often, though, youngsters leave because of hunger pangs related to short rations. Does, particularly of the larger breeds, may be hard pressed to produce enough milk to maintain their litter for the normal three weeks. If Fanny's production has fallen behind the cause could range from her own poor nutrition, to heredity.

'Short' club zaps declarer

By Oswald James Jacoby

There is a certain abomination that is used in connection with not opening four-card majors. It is what is popularly called the short club. This is not otbe confused with the artificial club systems like the Vanderbilt, the Neapolitan and the Precision. It is just a sort of nondescript club opening, with three small or a doubleton.

South can make a grand slam in hearts, if he just pulls one round of trumps and then crossruffs. Six hearts will make if he takes two rounds of trumps. If he pulls all East's trumps, he will hold himself to five.

However, South never opened four-card majors. Most five-card majorities would make an exception and open one heart, but South was going to rise and fall with a silly short club.

Everything might have been, fine if good old West hadn't stpck in a nonvulnerable four-spade bid. North wasn't going to be shut out. He Blackwooded but settled for a six-club bid, in spite of South showing both missing aces.

East was too happy to double. He just waited and collected three trump tricks.

Cite dangers in foraging for edible wild plants

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — With more and more Americans foraging edible wild plants, a Purdue University research team is checking on the unsuspected dangers of a wild harvest.

The team, under a national science foundation undergraduate research program grant, is examining 60 to 80 types of wild plants and some house plants for poisonous agents.

"I don't want to buck the trend,'' said Dr. Jerry McLaughlin, the professor of pharmacy who heads the project. "But there are many poisonous plants that may look edible to the untrained gatherer.

''There are also those where poisonous agents are removed by proper cooking, plants that have certain parts edible and others poisonous, some that should be eaten only in certain times of the year and some that are poisonous if consumed in sufficient quantities."

McLaughlin, who has been called in often as a consultant to hospitals treating patients for plant poisoning, said, "There isn't too much known about the chemistry of plants."

"When you consider the amount of testing and re-evaluation that goes on before a new drug is tried on human beings, much less put on the market, it is amazing that plants are not treated with all this caution," he said.

After isolating the chemical in wild plants, the substances are then fed to mice to see what effects they have on them.

"We give the mice a pretty high dose, equal to a gram of the substance to a thousand grams of the mouse's weight," McLaughlin said. "Our research is just sort of a starting point because if something happens, more tests will be needed.

"Also there can be mistakes in trying to over extend the data of lab tests. For example, our tests with skunk cabbage showed it didn't kill mice, but that doesn't mean it could not harm humans."

McLaughlin said another reason for checking all types of chemicals in plants was that some of them are now being used differently than in the past. For example, for years people have made a "herb tea" from catnip —containing water soluable extracts —but in the past few years, some persons have started smoking it.

He also cited cases where persons have been poisoned because they ate the wrong part of a plant. Perhaps the most common example of this is rhubarb leaves, which contain deadly oxalic acid although the stalk is edible. But, McLaughlin said, the kernel in the pits of peaches, apricots, plums and apple seeds all contain prussic acid — cyanide.

The dangers to children from eating a harmful substance are much greater than for an adult because poison is more toxic the greater its strength is to the weight of the person.

McLaughlin recalled once he had been asked to help find out what was wrong with a little girl who had become ill and later died.

"She said she had eaten some spinach, but when we traced her path back to where she had picked the plants, we found it was wild hemlock —the same stuff that Socrates drank and the same stuff the Greeks used to give their criminals to execute them," he said.

Scouts vied for two $1,000 scholarships with 70 entrants receiving scout merit badges and award certificates. Among the more impressive entries was Philip Voss' seascape (above). The 14-year-old Gettysburg scout won $250 for this blend of craggy rock and a picturesque lighthouse scene. At right, 15-year-old David M. Environment

HELEN, Ga. (UPI) — Four Southern governors warned recently that the South must curb its rapid industrialization to save its environment and protect its natural resources.

Winding up a three-day conference of the Commission on the Future of the South, the governors drafted a report for submission to the Southern Governors Conference in Atlanta Nov. 13.

"If we want reins on the wild horse growth, we'll have to suffer the harness," said the report prepared by Govs. Jimmy Carter of Georgia, John C. West of South Carolina, James E. Holshouser of North Carolina and Mills E. Godwin of Virginia.

Carter said the time is past when the South will welcome new industry with promises of cheap labor.

"We formerly took as a basic premise the proposition that one of our major advertising efforts should be, 'Come on down here, South, where you can get cheap labor and produce your product cheaper in the South because labor's cheaper,'" said Carter.

"We don't want to have industry move into Georgia or to other southern states anymore with the basic premise that they can depend on cheap labor."

The governors and 160 delegates from 13 southeastern states agreed that booming population growth in the South is inevitable.

Carter, chairman of the commission, said that rigid population controls have been ruled unconstitutional in other areas, so that states cannot dictate where people will live or whether a farmer can sell his pasture for development of housing tracts.

Assembly OKs pilot light ban by 1976

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The assembly has voted to outlaw pilot lights on gas appliances sold after 1976.

The bill (SB1521) by Sen. Alfred L. Alquist, D-San Jose, was passed Monday on a 46-6 vote and returned to the Senate for agreement on Assembly amendments.

Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles said that pilot lights currently consume 16 per cent of the natural gas burned in California.

Warren, floor sponsor of the bill, said the measure was designed to promote development of devices which could easily light gas appliances without continuously burning pilot light.

Assassination by car suspected in Belfast

BELFAST (UPI) — Police said today they have ordered three youths charged in court in what could be a new assassination method in Northern Ireland — killing by automobile.

Police said an 18-year-old Roman Catholic youth was killed and four persons were critically injured in a Catholic enclave Friday by two automobiles which drove at them on the sidewalk.

Police said if the incident was part of the province's Protestant-Catholic conflict it would be the first such killing in five years of strife between majority Protestants, minority Roman Ctholics and security forces which has taken 1,064 other lives.

From mouths of babes oft come . .

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Becky Schroeder was 10 years old when she became frustrated while trying to do homework one night waiting in a car for her mother at a local shopping center.

"I couldn't see what I was writing and I wondered why someone didn't invent something so people could write in the dark," she said.

The youngster, now 12 years old, went home and invented "luminescent writing sheets" — an invention that may have many people, including the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, knocking on her door.

Becky explained her invention as being a heavy sheet of paper coated with phosphorescent paint. The paper is coated and exposed to light for a minute or two. It then glows in the dark "pretty brightly" for one to two hours. She said her invention will allow people not only to write in the dark but also to write neatly.

Becky applied for a patent number and got it. Patent No. 3,832,556 will become official Aug. 27 —making her one of the youngest inventors in the nation.

"My dad helped me by buying the materials I needed," Becky said, noting the invention was all her own idea.

She said she recently received a letter from the NASA expressing interest in the invention for possible use on spaceflights.

She said her idea would also prove helpful to police officers writing tickets and reports in the dark and to movie critics trying to take notes in theaters.

When in debt

No need to panic

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UI) — You need not head for bankruptcy court or hide behind bushes (to avoid collectors) when monthly payments for debts exceed income — be it from paycheck or pension fund.

A lawyer who makes his living helping debtors survive said in an interview there are stratagems for survival before bankruptcy court —and after you've stopped hiding from collectors.

Sidney Sherwin, the lawyer, said: "Don't panic."

His Rx: fill yourself with advice and information and then select the wisest, most economical, most painless legal way to get out of debt.

You won't survive, unless the experience teaches you to stay out of the debt trap, says Sherwin.

It sounds as though Sherwin, who once advised creditors how to get deadbeats to pay up, is peddling some kind of tricky solution.

"I'm not," he said, "for it is possible for people in debt over their heads to survive without bankruptcy. The trip to bankruptcy court, when necessary, has no substitute. But I say bankrutcy isn't always the avenue of best resort."

Sherwin, of New York City, is out with a new book, "What To Do When Your Bills Exceed Your Paycheck" (Prentice Hall).

As a lawyer who advises persons in debt head over heels, he is dismayed over the rise in bankruptcies and the extent to which young marrieds and young single workers are running into debt beyond control.

"Most debtors don't realize," he said, "that immediate mental relief can be obtained if one will bear in mind that one can never be put in jail for merely being in ordinary debt."

"I say 'ordinary' because the exceptions to this rule are being delinquent in the payment of alimony or in support payments for members of the family."

If the creditor uses unreasonable harassing tactics or unreasonably frightens you with deliberately prepared documents that look like court processes, you can do something about it.

Sherwin says he advises his clients to send a telegram when so threatened or exposed to such tactics. In the telegram clients are advised: tell the creditor to bug off or he will be sued.

Under the law unreasonable harassment or threats are no-nos.

"In trying to collect his debt, a creditor may commit extortion by threatening the debtor enough to induce fear in him of extreme consequences," Sherwin said.

In many states, the lawyer indicted, this is extortion.

Now suppose you realize you can't pay and the creditor is threatening to sue. Quick, before that point, contact the creditor. Find out the basis of his action. You may have some defense—an out—in that.

In his book, Sherwin explains the various defenses. They include legal defenses that may justify not paying a debt.

Excerpts from the list:

—USURY. Defined as charging excess interest. More than the legal rate. If you signed a contract rate that is higher, you may have an out.

—INFANCY. This applies to anyone under 21 —considered an infant. Various states have changed the ages to under 20 or under 18. It is worth checking.

A case study: an infancy may be entitled to any money he has paid on a contract he declares void, but he must return the goods. To wit: An 18 year old buys a car under a conditional sales contract. He makes one payment and does not make any more. He is sued. The "infant" can and should advise the dealer by certified mail he is giving up the contract and then return the car to the dealer.

Another legal defense: incompetency. Say you were drunk, insane or incompetent when you signed an agreement. You plead that as a legal defense.

Many rings

Rings for schoolgirls are sweet things dangling initials from a narrow braided band. They also are gold filled and coiling a tiny snake. The newest ones include, too, one that's just a curved golden heart. Many rings on the fingers of each hand is still the jewelry accent schoolgirls most like.

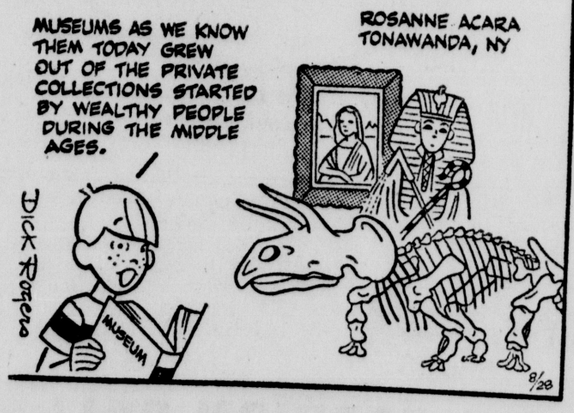
Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "HOW DID MUSEUMS START?"



Where could you go to see an Egyptian mummy or the paintings of great artists? Where could you see the bones of a dinosaur?

The answer is "a museum."

Just as you may collect stamps or coins, museums are places that collect and display valuable art works, stuffed animals and many other interesting historical and scientific objects.

The first museums were founded in ancient Egypt.

They were usually places where art, music and the sciences were studied. Museums as we know them did not develop until many centuries later.

They grew out of the private collections of works of art and other treasures started by wealthy people during the Middle Ages. Today there are many different kinds of museums to visit. Art museums, for example, collect and show paintings, statues and other masterpieces of art.

And you can see model dinosaurs in museums of natural history.

A BRITANNICA Atlas, radio, camera, globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061

$1,000 in loot

Pair holds 2 at gunpoint in area home

Two men were held at gunpoint in a Diamond Bar home Wednesday while the place was looted of almost $1,000 in household items, sheriff's deputies reported.

The resident, James Pennington, 24, and his companion, Guy Maggard, 19, of Baldwin Park, said Pennington was confronted by a man with a hand gun when he answered a knock on the door shortly before midnight.

The gunman forced Pennington back inside the house and then tied up both before being joined by a second man and rifling the place.

Among the items taken were a color television set, AM-FM radio receiver, a tape player, tapes, a variety of jewelry pieces and some cash. The loot apparently was driven away in a noisy car the victims heard leave later.

It took Pennington and Maggard almost 30 minutes to free themselves, deputies said.

The intruders were described as two young Negroes.

Nixon served 2 subpoenas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two subpoenas requiring Richard M. Nixon to give testimony in trials were served on the former president at his San Clemente home Wednesday night, the Justice Department said today.

A Justice Department spokesman said a representative of the U.S. Marshal Service served both subpoenas at 6:30 p.m. PDT to Nixon "in person."

One subpoena requires Nixon to appear as a defense witness for former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman at his Watergate cover-up trial scheduled to begin in Washington Sept. 30.

The second subpoena requires Nixon to give a sworn statement on Sept. 24 at Santa Ana, Calif., for use in a civil suit by a group of persons claiming they were illegally denied access to a "Billy Graham rally" at which Nixon appeared in 1971 in Charlotte, N.C.

Unidentified man killed in crash

An unidentified elderly man was killed this morning when his van truck, westbound on Holt Boulevard in Ontario, apparently went out of control and crashed into a utility pole.

Police this morning had not positively identified the driver of the vehicle, who was pronounced dead on arrival at Ontario Community Hospital shortly after the 10:10 a.m. accident.

On impact, the utility pole was severed.

It fell across the 1000 block of E. Holt Boulevard, halting traffic for nearly half an hour along the busy highway.

There also was a woman, possibly the victim's wife, in the van. She was apparently only slightly injured, the police said.

No further information was immediately available.

Getting upper hand with new infrared device

2,200 on line in Hemet blaze

HEMET, Calif. (UPI) — Firefighters using Vietnam War technology gained an upper hand today over an arson-set fire which had raced out of control through thousands of acres of brush timber and set vacationers fleeing.

For the first time in fire fighting annals, helicopter pilots wearing binocular-like eyeglasses that allowed them to see as well as in daylight made repeated water drops during the night.

By dawn, the U.S. Forest Service said the blaze which broke out Tuesday was 60 per cent contained. No estimate was made for when full containment was expected.

Los Angeles County Fire Department and Forest Service helicopter pilots flew joint infrared scanning flights during the night for the first time in fire fighting control, a Forest Service spokesman said today.

The binocular-like eyeglasses were developed during the Vietnam War to pick out the fire lines. The glasses utilize the light from stars to enable the pilots to see clearly.

"They actually made water drops at night," the spokesman said. "This is a direct spin-off of Vietnam War technology.

"We're very enthusiastic about this because for the first time we can make night water drops on fires to assist the ground crews."

An estimated 2,200 men working 12-hour shifts were on the fire lines today in a major effort to bring the fire under control.

The spokesman said the blaze had burned through 17,500 acres, much of it in steep mountain terrain, and had a perimeter of 34 miles.

More than 1,000 persons were evacuated from campgrounds, resorts, a juvenile detention camp and the mountain community of Pine Cove.

Firefighters were airlifted by helicopter over the flames and rugged mountains Wednesday to try to save the village of about 700 persons 5,800 feet high on Indian Mountain. The blaze was turned back only three miles from the town.

"The fire was definitely caused by arson," said a spokesman for the California Division of Forestry. "Investigators found the match that began it —one match —on the Soboba Indian Reservation." The blaze began Tuesday morning.

Palm Springs, 20 miles east of the main fire area, was blanketed in soot, smoke and a light dusting of ashes.

"There's a grey carpet of ash on the sidewalks, and people are skimming it off their swimming pools," said Palm Springs newsman Ed Kibbey.

"We can't see the sun or the sky or anything else" because of the smoke clouds, said Chuck Price, of neighboring Palm Desert. "It's just all yellow."

"The smoke cover reduced the temperature by 10 degrees during the day," Libbey said. The smoke could be seen in Borrego Springs, 50 miles to the south.

Three firemen suffered minor injuries, including a broken ankle. The force included 12 air tankers, six helicopters, 92 pumper trucks and 26 bulldozers.

The highway patrol closed California 243, the road from Idyllwild to Banning, when the flames leaped the highway. An unoccupied two story home was burned.

Eighty youths were trucked away from the Twin Pines Ranch, a Riverside County detention camp for delinquent boys, as flames stabbed to within a mile of the facility, whipped by erratic, 30-mile-an-hour winds.

An outbuilding burned at a Girl Scout camp, where 38 scout leaders, warned to clear out, rounded up more than 100 girls between the ages of 10 and 15.

The scouts marched two miles in orderly ranks through clouds of smoke, singing songs, to reach a point where they could board buses.

The fire had destroyed more than 5 million board feet of timber by late Wednesday.

State forestry officials said two other fires —quickly extinguished —were deliberately set Wednesday, near Anza and Sage, and announced "a heavy fire prevention patrol throughout western Riverside County and southwestern San Bernardino county, including use of aircraft."

They also offered a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest of the arsonist.

Firemen douse burning rubble after an early morning explosion leveled two nightclubs, a church, businesses and homes in Chattanooga's downtown area. At least 13 persons were hurt.

At least 13 injured in massive downtown Chattanooga blast

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) — A thunderous explosion ripped through a strip of nightclubs, businesses and apartments in a predominantly black section of Chattanooga today, hurling debris more than a block away and causing an estimated $10 million in damages.

Police said at least 13 persons were injured. There were no reports of fatalities.

Fire and Police Commissioner Gene Roberts declined to speculate on whether the blast was caused by natural gas. "Preliminary indications are that it was something other than a bomb," Roberts said.

Chief Deputy Gene Glaze estimated damage at $10 million and said the entire 300 block of Chattanooga's Ninth Street where the explosion occurred would have to be razed because buildings that escaped the fire resulting from the blast sustained extensive structural damage.

The explosion left a smoldering six-foot crater at Ninth and Mable, where a one-story building had housed the Stardust Lounge and the Cactus Club. A two-story building extending the remainder of the block and housing a barbershop, another lounge and upstairs apartments was badly damaged.

Flames from the explosion soared 200 feet into the air and destroyed the St. James Baptist Church and two frame houses behind the clubs.

Sgt. Don Weller and officer Rick Wynn of the Police Department were three blocks away when the blast occurred and said they found a holocaust when they arrived.

"We saw people lying on the sidewalk and running from the buildings screaming their heads off," said Weller. "We went to what was left of the barbersrop and pulled about five people from under the bricks. We stayed inside as long as we could trying to search for others but the walls started caving in on top of us."

"You've never seen anything like this in your life,"said Wynn. "I thought all of the Big Nine (nightclub strip) was gone."

John Banks, 73, a Chattanooga native now living in Chicago, was sitting in the barbershop with his brother-in-law, Rev. John McDonald, waiting for a bus to return to Chicago.

"We had been in the barbershop about two hours talking," said Banks. "All of a sudden there was a boom and the walls and ceiling started coming down on me. Then I heard boom boom. There were three explosions and that's all I remember."

Firemen dragged Banks from his brother-in-law's barber shop unconscious.

No price controls

Ford indicates compassion for Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford feels Richard Nixon has suffered enough from the Watergate scandal, and he thinks the country agrees. While making no commitment, Ford said he is reserving his right to pardon his predecessor should Nixon be prosecuted.

Ford also told his first White House news conference Wednesday that Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski "has an obligation" to take whatever legal action he deems warranted against Nixon or anyone else involved in Watergate.

A White House official said Ford is leaning toward a pardon for Nixon if his case should reach Ford's desk.

Ford faced another busy schedule today, with meetings with top women presidential appointees, United Autos Workers president Leonard Woodcock and Saudi Arabian foreign minister Omar Saqqaf.

Ford, outwardly calm and confident throughout the nationally televised news conference in the East Room of the White House, also said he has totally rejected wage and price controls to solve economic problems.

"Wage and prices controls are out —period," he said. But officials said voluntary wage-price guidelines are under consideration.

Ford reiterated that the nation's number one problem is inflation. He promised budget cuts to hold federal spending below $300 billion in the fiscal year ending next June 30. He spoke of a $5.5 billion reduction in spending and said that "will convince people who might have some doubts that we mean business."

On other matters, Ford:

—Repeated that he "probably" will be a candidate in 1976 and said he and vice presidential nominee Nelson Rockefeller would make a "good team." But Ford added that the ultimate decision would be left to the Republican National Convention.

—Hinted that U.S policy of sanctions again Cuba could change "if Cuba changes its policy toward us and its Latin neighbors .." But he said the United States "would certainly act in concert with other members of the Organization of American States." Several Latin American countries have broken the economic embargo on Cuba and resumed diplomatic relations with the Castro government.

In a friendly atmosphere, contrasting to the hostility evident in Nixon's last few news conferences, Ford fielded 27 questions in a half hour and appeared at ease.

He said he had asked for "prayers

State Senate clears way for 'no-fault' car insurance

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Landmark no-fault car insurance legislation promising big cuts in insurance prices and quick settlement of claims, was hurried to the Assembly today for a final and decisive vote as lawmakers neared adjournment.

The Senate ended a bitter, 18-month deadlock Wednesday night by approving the historic bill on a 22-15 vote.

It was the closest no-fault has come to enactment in the nation's most populous and automobile happy state.

Affecting all 13 million licensed drivers in California, the compromise proposal (AB50) supported by Gov. Ronald Reagan and most of the insurance industry contained these provisions:

—Immediate payment of up to $55,000 per person in medical and related benefits from a motorist's own insurance company regardless of who is at fault in an accident.

—A mandatory reduction of at least 15 per cent in the cost of personal injury insurance policies for a minimum of one year.

—Limits on the ability of injured motorists to sue in court for extra, "pain and suffering" damages beyond their medical expenses.

The theory behind the proposal is that by severely restricting the number of costly lawsuits, motorists will benefit with lower insurance costs and speedier settlements.

Opponents contended it would strip Californians of their right to seek legitimate damages in court.

The bill passed the Assembly a year and a half ago, but quickly stalemated in committee. The last-minute Senate vote sent the measure back for approval of amendments.

Its author, Assemblyman Jack R. Fenton, D-Montbello, told reporters he had been assured of enough support to send it to the governor. If signed into law, it would become effective at 12:01 a.m. on Sept. 1, 1975.

Senate action occurred after two nights of floor debate, two compromise amendments and an on-again, off-again roll call which spanned seven hours.

No-fault insurance, already enacted in many other states, has come before legislators for the past four sessions, but was stymied in a high-stakes, economic tug-of-war between insurance companies, trial lawyers, consumer groups and the Reagan administration.

The California Trial Lawyers Association, a powerful group representing scores of attorneys who earn their livings from auto accident cases, bitterly opposed the Fenton measure.

They sponsored their own rival no-fault plan (AB801), authored by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, which the Senate defeated Wednesday by a 16-19 vote, although supporters were given permission for another try later.

During the protracted debate and negotiations, lobbyists representing various interests, crowded into visitors' galleries in the ornate Senate chambers and huddled outside the doors with friendly lawmakers.

The legislature was scheduled to adjourn this week, allowing senators and assemblymen to prepare for re-election campaigns.

Body to discontinue weekly gas reports

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California State Automobile Association has discontinued its weekly report on gasoline availability in various areas of the state.

The action was taken Wednesday because the auto group said the situation has stabilized "at near normal levels." The association said it will continue to monitor the situation, and will resume the report if availability deteriorates.

Rock concert at speedway canceled

The rock concert scheduled for Sept. 21 and expected to draw 100,000 at the Ontario Motor Speedway has been cancelled.

This resulted from a "major dispute" with the rock musical group, Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young, said Samuel Crowe, attorney for the producers, California Concert, Inc.

"I don't know if the dispute was internal and I don't know why the group backed out," he said.

The rock concert, the second to be scheduled at the speedway, had been an on-again, off-again affair since first proposed. It was first set for July 6, but was canceled due to a scheduling problem."

Then the promoters postponed an August date because of hot weather.

A major controversy had developed after the initial concert, the California Jam, because of the behavior of the 200,000-plus crowd and traffic snarls.

A crowd of 100,000 had been anticipated, said Ken Hunter, Ontario city manager. Promotions were limited to Southern California.

Police officials had spent "some time" in preparing for the concert. "We have a $75,000 cash deposit to cover the preliminary work," he noted. "We will have no problem of pay for city costs."

Local judge issued order on Sinatra

Singer Frank Sinatra was to answer questions about his drinking habits and alleged misbehavior today in San Francisco on order of Judge Robert Firth of U.S. District Court of Los Angeles.

Firth is a Pomona resident and a former supervising judge of the Pomona Superior Court.

Sinatra first was ordered to answer questions at Lake Tahoe, then Los Angeles and finally San Francisco. His attorneys have succeeded in barring newsmen from the proceedings.

Firth ordered Sinatra to provide a deposition for use in the trial of a $2.5 million suit filed against the singer and two others by a Salt Lake City, Utah, businessman.

Firth said Sinatra must appear today in the San Francisco law offices of Marvin Lewis, attorney for Frank J. Weinstock, who said he was beaten by by singer and two of his cronies in Palm Springs in May 1973.

In his suit, Weinstock alleges he was beaten by Sinatra, restaurateur Jilly Rizzo and Jerry Arvenitas following an argument over Weinstock's wife.

Man denies he ordered death of valley farmer

A Los Angeles man, on trial with his wife in Los Angeles Superior Court where they are accused of murder in the death March 19 of a wealthy San Dimas strawberry farmer, Wednesday denied he ordered the killing and said it was the idea of a student of his.

James Mitose, 57, described by the prosecution as a self-styled minister and karate master, said his student, Terry Lee, 27, had offered to kill Frank Namimatsu, 65, for $3,000.

Lee, a former Marine, pleaded guilty in July to second-degree murder in the slaying of Namimatsu and faces sentencing Oct. 4.

Mitose testified that Lee had proposed the murder and threatened to kill him if he went to police.But Lee previously said that Mitose instructed him to kill Namimatus and recover $100,000 which belonged to Mitose.

The prosecution contends that Mitose bilked Namimatsu out of $100,000 in a phony medical cure of Mrs. Toshiko Namimatsu, 61, and then ordered their death to prevent their going to police.

Namimatsu was choked and beaten to death and his wife was choked but survived in a night-time attack in their Los Angeles home.

Namimatsu and his brother, Pete, operated Namimatsu Farms Inc., with offices at 427 E. Allen Ave., in San Dimas. They planned a 300-unit cluster housing development there.

Man picked up as drug suspect admits robbery

A 33-year-old Upland man arrested on suspicion of being under the influence of heroin by Upland police Wednesday admitted robbing the Fotomat store at 273 E. Foothill Blvd. last week, police reported.

LeRoy Chancery Collins of 822 San Ysidro Ave., Upland, was booked in the West End Jail this morning on suspicion of being under the influence of heroin and armed robbery following his arrest at the Upland Police Station.

Police said that Collins was brought to the station by detectives and, under questioning, admitted to the robbery. In the robbery, a man simulated a weapon and demanded the cashier, Patty Caperton, 18, hand over all the cash and change from the register.

Santa workshop helpers needed

Santa Claus needs help in his Pomona workshop.

Volunteers are sought to make dresses for dolls and to repair "wheel" toys such as bikes, trikes and wagons.

The Santa Claus, Inc., which maintains a workshop at 163 Pomona Mall West, expects to distribute some 3,000 toys to 1,000 children next Christmas.

"But we can't wait until December to begin working on the toys," said Mrs. Ella Bockover, president. "We need volunteers now."

Workers are needed especially to dress some 500 dolls. This includes making the clothes. "If individuals would take from 10 to 12 dolls each, then we have these completed in a short time."

At present, senior citizens and friends of Mrs. Bockover are preparing the dolls. Mrs. Bockover said she has wigs and shoes and socks for these.

In addition to volunteers, the group is seeking money and materials for certain toys and also manpower to put the bikes together.

Members of the Altrusa Club are presently making Christmas stockings for the children. "Now we need some small toys to fill them," she said.

The workshop is open daily from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Ocean raft survival experiment

Ordeal trims 40 pounds off them

HONOLULU (UPI) — Two Navy reserve pilots who wanted to keep going were rescued today, 120 miles short of their destination after spending 53 days crossing the Pacific Ocean in a rubber liferaft.

Bearded and gaunt George Sigler, 29, and Charles Gore, 27, both of Alameda, Calif., were picked up by a Coast Guard helicopter and brought to Honolulu along with their 16-foot craft.

Despite 20 days without food and brush with death when a storm capsized the raft off Monterey, Calif., both were in excellent health and fully prepared to press on to the island of Kaui, 120 miles to the west.

"We were just testing the survival equipment we had designed," Sigler said. "We are happy to say it was successful."

Their voyage was intended to prove that two men in a 16-foot rubber raft with simple survival gear but without food or water could not only survive, but find their way across the ocean.

The two reserve pilot lost 40 pounds apiece since they were towed out of the Golden Gate July 4, unfurled their small sail and headed for Hawaii.

Two days later both were nearly drowned when a giant wave capsized the raft and they spent two hours struggling to get back aboard. All their equipment and clothes were lost except for a few emergency spares.

Their only food energy came from three pieces of candy and one Vitamin C pill a day for the first 40 days.

Then they ran out of pills and candy, and existed solely on water made from a solar still until the day before they were rescued, when they caught their first fish —five dolphin.

They lived in soaked clothing and slept and kept house in a six-by-three-foot space, always fearful that a wave would capsize their raft again.

"The sea can be a dangerous place," Gore mused. "But it is a capricious danger, one that man can challenge, and we did that.

"We dared to go the 2,600 mile route in a 16-foot boat and didn't take any food or water. We met the challenge, and we hope that what we did will save the lives of future castaways."

Although both men said they were big eaters who rarely missed lunch, neither ever got hungry or suffered from stomach cramps. But their thoughts were constantly on food.

"Everything we said was related to food," Sigler said. "Every night we dreamed about food. I always dreamed of pancakes covered with syrup."

They got their water from solar stills, navigated with a wrist watch and hoped to supplement their diet with fish.

The pair explained that they did not know the Coast Guard —upon instructions from the Navy —was looking for them, and said they contacted the Coast Guard "quite unintentionally."

"As this was an official Navy medical experiment," Sigler said, "We understood why they wanted us to terminate it, but we wanted to make a landfall.

"It was a slight misunderstanding. We were going to go on since we had caught those fish and we felt ecstatic about that.

"We understood the Navy wanted to get us into the hospital to complete their part of the experiment, and also we wanted to do it too as we were interested in knowing what happened to our bodies on the trip."

After surviving the big wave off California, Sigler said, "We were both very concerned, and in our own minds we were both thinking of terminating the experiment then and there, but we didn't tell each other.

"We were both thinking that, Christ, if we turned over on the second day out, what was going to happen the rest of the 2,600 miles."

Child injured by car, three others hurt in city mishaps

A 6-year-old child suffered head and internal injuries Wednesday evening when he was hit by a car in Pomona as he was hurrying home because it was getting dark.

The victim, Desmond A. Palmer, 2311 W. Laurel Ave., was reported in fair condition today at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. His condition was stable, however.

Willie Paul Leonard, 35, 1121 Cromwell St., Pomona, told police that the boy ran in front of his car while he was southbound in Ganesha Boulevard near Murchison Avenue.

Earlier, three persons suffered minor injuries when their car overturned in Mission Boulevard west of Phillips Boulevard.

The driver, Patty Ruth Weeks, 37, of Perris, was arrested on suspicion of felonious drunken driving. She, her daughter, 15-year-old Debbie, and a passenger, Kathy Ann Geiger, 19, Perris, all were treated for minor injuries at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Police reported that Mrs. Weeks apparently lost control of her car when the wheels on one side ran off the pavement.

Suspect in strangling case faces Superior Court trial

Gary Lee Dacanay, 22, 945 Nocta St., Ontario, has been bound over to West Valley Superior Court to stand trial on a charge of murder in connection with the strangulation death of an Ontario woman on July 23.

Dacanay was ordered held to answer on the murder charge following a preliminary hearing by West Valley Municipal Court Judge Martin Hildreth. Hildreth ordered Dacanay to return to the Superior Court on Sept. 9 for arraignment.

Dacanay accused of strangling his 21-year-old girlfriend Sharon Louise Cramer, 21, of 521 E. State St., Ontario. Mrs. Cramer was found dead under a pile of clothing on a bed in the home of Dacanay on July 23. Her body was dressed in a U.S. Army uniform.

In the preliminary hearing, Patton State Hospital psychiatrist Dr. Otto Gericke testified that Dacanay may be suffering from either schizophrenia or epilepsy. He said that the defendant, had he strangled the woman, may have been insane at the time of act. A county pathologist testified that Mrs. Cramer died as a result of manual strangulation, but said it was an unusual death as the woman's neck bore no bruises. The pathologist testified that someone suffering from an epileptic seizure sometimes loses control of his hands, and his fingers involuntarily tighten up.

Youths rob 2 valley firms

Ontario police this morning were investigating a hold-up at the Burger Bandit drive-in at 1244 N. Grove Ave. and a strong-armed robbery the Frontier Surplus Store at 401 S. Euclid Ave. Wednesday.

About 10 p.m. two youths, one armed with a black handgun, robbed the Burger Bandit drive-in at 1244 N. Grove Ave. in Ontario of a small amount of cash.

Police said that cooks Chris Allen Austin, 16, and Stephen Adcock, 17, were in the process of closing the drive-in when two men in a white car drove into the parking lot. The two men exited the vehicle and confronted Austin while he was repairing a speaker outside. Austin said he was forced back into the business when one of the robbers produced a handgun. The two robbers emptied the safe at the drive-in and ran to their car, escaping south on Grove Avenue.

The cooks described both of the robbers as Negro juveniles, one 16 to 17 and the other 14 to 15. One of the youths was wearing a dark colored jacket and other a green derby hat.

Wednesday afternoon Corinne Concetta Pascita, 17, a cashier, reported the theft at the Frontier Surplus Store by two youths.

Miss Pascita said the youths gathered up seven pairs of pants and a shirt and brought them to the counter. She said she rang up the merchandise and told them the total. One of the youths, described as a Negro 17 to 18, picked up some of the clothes and dashed out of the store without paying. Miss Pascita said the other youth, also a Negro 17 to 18, grabbed for the rest of the clothing, but she covered them with her arms. She said she struggled with the the thief for a few minutes, but he managed to pull the clothes from her grasp. She said the second man ran out the door laughing.

Amusement ride operator dies

Melvin Robertson, the 23-year-old man nearly decapitated Sunday in an accident at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds, died Wednesday night at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Robertson, 806 Buena Vista Ave., Pomona, had been in critical condition since admission to the hospital's intensive care unit. He suffered massive neck injuries and possible internal injuries.

The victim was operating a Kiddieland amusement zone ride called the Sled at the fairgrounds when the accident occurred. Witnesses told police that he appeared to stagger and fall onto the ride's rail. Then the car caught him by the neck and carried him one complete revolution of the course, about 60 feet, before the machinery was shut off.

The ride was being operated because of a company picnic being held at the fairgrounds.

An autopsy has been ordered by the coroner's office.

Miss Matlock, who has recently been employed by an executive recruitment firm, will be responsible for housing arrangements and some student activities on the Pitzer campus.

Police arrest man and youth for interference

A 24-year-old Chino man and a youth were arrested Wednesday night after allegedly interfering with a police officer questioning a suspicious person in the area of Monte Vista Avenue and D Street in Chino.

Chino Police Officer Ken Duvall said he stopped in the area about 9 p.m. to question a suspicious person. The police car attracted approximately 15 to 20 juveniles and adults. DuVall said one of the crowd stepped out and began shoving him and the suspicious man ran. Duvall said he was then struck in the chest several times by a man identified as Manual Martinez, 24, of 13209 Monte Vista Ave.

Martinez was arrested on suspicion of assaulting an officer and the crowd moved in towards the police car. Duvall said a youth in the crowd threw a bottle at the police car, shattering its windshield. Officers assisting Duvall arrested the youth and brought him to the police station for investigation of throwing an object at a vehicle.

Pact expanded for Dynamics

A contract between General Dynamics and the Naval Sea Systems Control has been expanded to include the construction of 36 Standard Missiles, type two, for flight tests. Value of the contract change is $23 million.

This brings the total invested in the missile's development to $56 million, reported Rep. Victor Veysey, R-43rd Dist.

Testing of the first series has been successfully completed.

Ayala won't add staffer

State Sen. Ruben Ayala, whose district includes most of the local valley, has declined to add a new staff member because of his seeking re-election this year.

Ayala, of Chino, said he has nine staff members — the same as his predecessor, Sen. William Combs.

It was reported in Sacramento that the State Senate does provide additional field representatives at a starting salary of $942 a month for those senators seeking re-election.

Of the 17 senators involved, 10 have taken the extra employe. Sen. James Mills, D-San Diego, said a person seeking re-election draws more attention while campaiging and more people call his offices. These employes are supposed to be used only for legislative work.

Griswold's fined $250 in state labor code violations

Griswold's Restaurants, Inc., of Claremont was fined $250 Wednesday after a no contest plea involving three state labor code violations before Pomona Municipal Court Judge James H. Piatt.

Piatt suspended a stifter fine of $750 and placed the corporation on two years' probation. At the same time he dismissed six of the nine counts filed against the firm and also released Chief Chef Isadore Montoysa from the complaint.

Originally, Griswold's was charged with nine labor code violations involving its employment of minors. Violations alleged involved the employment of minors for more than eight hours a day; not providing breaks for meals after five-hour working periods; working minors before 5 a.m.; not allowing rest periods for each four hours worked; and not paying a minimum wage because of deductions from pay of a 25-cent-per-hour tip credit.

The complaint was filed after an investigation by Denos J. Carras of the California Division of Industrial Welfare. He reported having received several complaints about Griswold's work practices involving minors.

Previously, Alton Sanford, owner of Griswold's, said that the firm hires many youngsters and it is difficult for supervisors to know who is 18 and who is less than 18. The firm employs 350 to 400 persons, he said, many of them teen-agers working on their first jobs.

City holds line again

6th year without tax hike

Walnut residents received some good news Wednesday night when the City Council officially set the tax rate — there will be no increase.

As it happens, there will be no cut in taxes, either, as the council fixed the rate for 1974-75 at 87 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The action meant councilmen were holding the line on taxes for the sixth straight year.

"It's interesting that we haven't raised taxes for number of years," commented Mayor Joe Dyer.

The council also established the amount of revenue from property taxes ($171,000) necessary to support the city and pay the county for certain contracted services for this fiscal year.

Councilmen adopted a tight budget of nearly $600,000 on June 26, for fiscal 1974-75.

In other action, the council approved second reading on zone changes made to conform to recent general plan amendments. The changes involve residential, commercial and industrial property in central Walnut.

Changes in "Sub Area A" are from R3 (multiple residential) and C3 (heavy commercial) to R1-8500 (single family residences) on property fronting Camino De Rosa from the city boundary to Castlehill Drive; from C3 to M1 on Valley Boulevard, west of Lemon Avenue; and from R-3 to R-1-7200 on property fronting on Lemon Avenue south of Lemon Creek.

"Sub Area B" changes are from C3 to M1 on property north of Valley, east of Lemon and south of Carrey Road and on the southside of Carrey, north of Valley and west of Pierre Road.

Councilmen postponed ratification of a joint powers agreement to build a swimming pool at Walnut High School. They indicated county supervisors had not yet ratified the contract, and the city would wait until they did before taking action.

The agreement, would involve the city, Walnut Valley School District and Los Angeles County.

Father-in-law of Mexico president kidnaped

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (UPI) — Police said today they had found the vehicle believed used in the kidnaping of the 83-year-old father-in-law of Mexican President Luis Echeverria, whose government since 1973 has refused to negotiate with political kidnapers.

The "Revolutionary Armed Front of the People" —the mysterious terrorists who kidnaped U.S. Consul General Terence Leonhardy here early last year —claimed responsibility for the kidnaping.

A Mexico City radio station said the guerrillas were demanding a $1.6 million ransom and the release of 100 political prisoners in return for the life of Jose Guadalupe Zuno Hernandez, father of Echeverria's wife Maria Esther.

Zuno, a political power in Mexico for half a century, was abducted Wednesday by four gunmen who forced his chaufteured car to the curb in a Guadalajara slum.

It was feared that the ailing and aged Zuno would not be able to long withstand the ordeal. Sources close to the family said he suffers from diabetes which has weakened his heart.

Despite his age and illness, police said, he "must have resisted. We found signs of a struggle in the back seat of the abandoned car."

Police said a rigorous search of Guadalajara, Mexico's second largest city, turned up the abandoned 1966 car Wednesday night whose description matched the one used in the Zuno abduction.

Troops threw roadblocks around the city while local and federal police systematically searched cars and houses.

Echeverria's government maintained official silence about the investigation into the kidnaping, which occurred four days before the president's scheduled annual report to Congress on Sunday.

A presidential spokesman said there will be no changes in the speech or ceremony and "the nation's work must go on."

The abduction posed a dramatic challenge to Echeverria and his policy of refusing to negotiate with terrorists, instituted after the Leonhardy abduction.

Echeverria released 30 political prisoners and shipped them to Cuba last year to get the American consul general released but has steadfastly refused to bow to subsequent ransom demands.

Police said Zuno was riding in his chauffered limousine through a poor district of Guadalajara when four gunmen forced his car to the curb..

The four men, armed with machine guns, used some kind of gas to subdue Zuno's chauffeur, Miguel Gonzalez, according to the Guadalajara newspaper El Informador.

SEARCH IS OVER

The bodies of a young woman and child are removed from a remote area of Monrovia Canyon Park after a massive search by police uncovered them hidden in tall brush Wednesday. They are believed to be a mother and 14-month-old daughter kidnaped from a shopping center nearly a week ago.

2 bodies discovered in woods

MONROVIA (UPI) — Working on a telephone tip, sheriff's deputies scoured the northern end of Monrovia Canyon Park Wednesday and found the bodies of a young woman and a child in the Sawpit flood control channel.

Deputies at the scene said they believed the bodies were those of Audrey Lee Gaines, 25, and her daughter, Heather Michelle, 14 months, who were abducted from a shopping center laundromat last Thursday.

Autopsies were performed Wednesday night and Coroner Thomas Noguchi said he would hold a news conference today giving a positive identification of the victims and details of their deaths.

Authorities said Mrs. Gaines had just finished loading her laundry into her station wagon in a parking lot when she was approached by a man.

Witnesses said the man got into the back seat, and seconds later, the car drove off.

The car was found abandoned about three hours later.

Sheriff's deputies focused their search for Mrs. Gaines and her daughter in the park after receiving a telephone call Tuesday night that a white woman and a black man in a station wagon were seen driving in the area.

Tricky, dangerous return made at night

Two Russian cosmonauts in hair-raising descent

MOSCOW (UPI) — Two Soviet cosmonauts rode their space capsule back to earth early today, dropping through darkness and bad weather in a hair-raising descent apparently caused by trouble aboard the craft.

The official Tass news agency said the spacemen —grandfather Lev Demin, 48, and his 32-year-old commander, Gennady Sarafanov — were in good health" following the unprecedented, pre-dawn landing in Central Asia.

Western experts said the tricky and dangerous return of Soyuz 15 in adverse weather conditions suggested an emergency aboard the craft, but Tass treated the landing as routine.

The news agency said Col. Demin and Lt. Col. Sarafanov landed their capsule soon after midnight in Soviet Kazakhstan about 30 miles from the city of Tselinograd.

Tass explained the Soviet Union's first, manned nighttime landing by saying one goal of the 48-hour mission was to develop "methods and means of search for and evacuation of a spaceship landing at night."

The news agency said the cosmonauts also carried out "experiments for developing the processes of maneuvering and rendezvous" with the orbiting Salyut 3 space laboratory.

Western specialists had predicted the two cosmonauts would try to board the space station, but Tass made no mention of any attempts to link up with the lab.

Earlier, Tass said the spacemen made repeated approaches to the 20-ton space lab. Last month, two Soyuz 14 cosmonauts spent two weeks aboard the station, which was launched June 25.

Tass said ground recovery teams speedily evacuated the cosmonauts "in a difficult meteorological situation," but the news agency made no other comments about the bad weather conditions.

Western space experts said they had no doubt the two-day flight ended prematurely. They said there might have been trouble with the docking system or problems —mechanical as well as human —inside the Soyuz capsule.

"Something must have been wrong," one Western expert said. "They could not have accomplished anything significant in two days.."

U.S. space officials in Washington said the Soyuz 15 flight would have no direct bearing on next year's planned Soviet-American space mission.

The officials said the U.S. and Soviet spacemen would use a new docking mechanism especially designed for next July's Apollo-Soyuz linkup.

The Soyuz program has been plagued with problems.

In the worst incident, three Soyuz 11 cosmonauts died on their return to earth in 1971 after 24 days aboard the Salyut 1 space lab. Scientists blamed the mishap on a faulty hatch cover.

Man who aided jail breaks to get chance for his?

PARIS (UPI) — It got real quiet in the visiting room of Fleury-Merogis jail when the wife of a prisoner started a slow-motion strip-tease.

As she slowly unbuttoned, police said her husband and another convict tried to escape over the prison wall.

But the wife's attempt to distract the prison officials failed when the escape rope snapped and the men fell back into the jail yard. One of them suffered a broken ankle.

That was last July 14. Today, a man accused of providing the would-be jailbreakers with equipment to scale the wall, Yvon Deloison, awaits trial. The two prisoners who tried to escape were not identified.

Gallant French officials lodged no charges against the wife who took off her clothes.

Police said they suspected Deloison tried to help more than one con break out. For a mere $400, they said, Deloison sold would-be jailbreakers an escape kit containing a 33-foot rope, hooks, steel saws and a detailed plan of the prison.

Burger refuses any more delays in Watergate trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, saying that Judge John J. Sirica knows what he is doing, has refused to grant any further delay in the Watergate cover-up trial set to begin Sept. 30.

In a four-page opinion Wednesday, Burger turned down an emergency appeal from defendant John D. Ehrlichman that the trial be postponed at least until January on grounds of massive prejudicial publicity surrounding former President Nixon's resignation.

Burger said any doubts about Sirica's decision to press ahead with the trial now —especially since a federal appeals court did not reverse it —"are not sufficient to form a basis for contrary action" by a single Supreme Court jurist.

The District Court bears responsibility commensurate with its authority in such matters, and only in the most extraordinary circumstances should an individual ... justice intervene," Burger said.

He said he could have referred the issue to the entire nine-man court when it returns Oct. 1, but noted this would have had the effect of putting off the Watergate trial until late fall.

Burger did note the "gravity of the claim of prejudicial pretrial publicity" in the coverup case, but said these questions "must await the normal appellate process" if they arise once the verdict is in —in other words, if Ehrlichman is convicted.

Ehrlichman and five other former key Nixon aides, indicted last March in the cover-up, had been scheduled to go to trial Sept. 9. After Nixon resigned Aug 9, four of them asked for a lengthy delay on grounds extensive publicity about Nixon's admitted role in the plot had made a fair trial impossible.

Stay over after White House party

Rocky, Happy sleep in Lincoln's bed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President-designate and Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller stayed at the White House Wednesday night and, given a choice by President and Mrs. Ford, they slept in Abraham Lincoln's seven-foot bed.

The other choice was the Queen's Bedroom, but Happy Rockefeller said "it was Nelson's choice" to say in the Lincoln Suite.

The Rockefellers were guests at a party thrown by Ford for his cabinet and senior White House staffers.

While talking to reporters Happy laughed as she spotted her husband on the dance floor with First Lady Betty Ford.

"They dance so well together," she said. "I can't follow Nelson."

Asked how she felt about her husband's return to the political limelight, she said, "I think it's really the beginning of a new adventure.... As a concerned citizen, I'm thrilled."

The Marine band combo, playing in the grand foyer, had struck up "Sweet Georgia Brown," and Mrs. Rockefeller said: "Nelson requested that."

Most of the music was of that vintage, but there were more up-to-date numbers. When the band played a slow rock tune, Ford and the First Lady joined the other couples on the floor.

The dinner party was an intimate affair for 54 guests.

Ford, in an expansive mood after his news conference, admitted that he was "nervous for the first five minutes." But after that, he said, he was ready to "hold another one tomorrow."

Everyone seemed to be caught up in the convivial spirit of the evening. "It's a delicious party," said United Nation ambassador John Scali.

"It's good to bring life to this place," said Labor Secretary Peter Brennan, who lingered long on the dance floor.

Accord signed for release of Laotian POWs

VIENTIANE (UPI) — Laotian rightists and members of the Communist Pathet Lao signed an agreement today to release all Laotian prisoners of war, including civilian pilot Emmet Kay, the last known living American prisoner.

Under terms of the agreement, signed by members of the Joint Commission for the Implementation of the Peace Agreement, the exchange of prisoners will begin Sept. 19 at four locations in Laos.

Kay, of Honolulu, will be released along with the other prisoners, the commission said.

More than 300 other Americans are still listed as missing Laos.

Sparks from drill ignite bird's nest

Sometimes life is for the birds.

Or so it seemed Tuesday afternoon to David Morrison of 1579 McComas St., Pomona. Morrison was using an electric drill to replace a screen on an attic vent when sparks from the drill ignited a bird's nest.

Morrison called the fire department and tried to put out the fire with a garden hose before they arrived.

Damage from the fire was limited to the unoccupied nest.

and guidance on this very important point" of possible immunity for Nixon, who selected Ford for vice president and then turned the White House over to him.

Responding to one question, Ford said he agreed with Rockefeller that Nixon had, figuratively speaking, been hanged and that the tone and mood of the country was against having the former president drawn and quartered.

Until there is some legal action, Ford said, "I think it is unwise and untimely for me to make any legal commitment."

But he said his right of presidential pardon is a "proper option" and "I am not ruling it out."

Jaworski is said to be agonizing over whether to proceed against Nixon. The former president has hired a Washington lawyer, Herbert Miller, to represent him in any legal proceedings and has said Jaworski is giving "trouble."

Ford said there would be no Watergate scandals in his administration because "there will be no one person nor any limited number of individuals who will make decisions. I will make the decisions and take the blame for them or whatever benefit might be the case."

"The code of ethics that will be followed will be the example I set," he added.

Ford also:

—Held out the possibility of a major public service employment program to help areas of high joblessness, saying that "we will approach this problem with compassion and action where there is a need for it."

—Gave no indication that he expected a significant slow down of inflation very quickly, advising wage earners to "watch every penny" and follow the federal government's example of belt tightening.

—Said Secretary of State Henry Kissinger would be meeting with Soviet representatives soon to discuss arms control negotiations and that efforts now are being made to arrive at a U.S. policy backed by experts at the State Department and the Pentagon so that the weapons negotiations can proceed.

—Called for continued cooperation between oil producing and consuming nations to avert "serious economic problems throughout the industrial world."

—Said he favored "limited expansion" of U.S. naval facilities at Diego Garcia in the Indian Ocean and that this should not be seen as "any challenge to the Soviet Union."

SURREY, B.C. (UPI) — An 11-year old boy's last ditch effort to save his dog from a train cost the youth his life.

Thomas Pye, of Surrey, was walking along the railroad tracks near his home Monday with his dog and a friend.

When the boys heard a train coming, young Thomas attempted to get the dog off the tracks, the dog balked and both were struck and killed. The other youth escaped injury.

$74 million for schools approved by legislature

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill providing an additional $74 million for California schools to meet inflation has won final legislative approval.

The bill (SB1592) by Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, was sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan Wednesday by the Senate on a bare majority 21-6 vote to accept Assembly amendments.

Opponents, including Sen. John Stull, R-Leucadia, objected that the measure would amount to a tax increase for local property owners without their approval.

Dills said the inflation-fighting funds would be distributed in a "first step" effort to equalize school spending between poor and rich districts.

Poorer schools would receive the lion's share of the money and a ceiling would be placed on rich districts, limiting the amount they can spend per student.

The state Supreme Court earlier this year ruled unconstitutional the state's current system of school financing. It said the disparity between high and low-wealth districts is too great.

Reagan vetoes measure on 'for sale' signs

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill preventing cities from banning the posting of "for sale" signs in front of real estate was vetoed Wednesday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

In his veto message, Reagan said he agreed with the bill's intent but felt the measure was "contrary to the principle of local control and home rule."

The measure (AB3301) by Assemblyman Paul T. Bannai, R-Gardena, would have wiped out such existing city ordinances and prevent enactment of new ones.

'Braless' robber distracts teller

LOS NGELES (UPI) — "I guess she provided the distraction and he got the money," a police spokesman said of the man-woman robbery team that stole $2,000 from an office of Empire Savings and Loan Monday.

The braless woman bandit wore a knit white top so sheer that police first reported the bank had been robbed by a barebreasted woman. Her partner menaced a teller with what appeared to be a pistol hidden in a handkerchief.

Police said the male teller could not describe the woman bandit's face.

Palmdale site recommended for airport

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A site near Palmdale in the Antelope Valley appears to be the best location for a proposed $1 billion intercontinental airport despite the ecological problems involved, an environmental impact study reported Wednesday.

The study, presented to the Board of Airport Commissioners, said the alternative to putting the airport near Palmdale is to increase traffic at existing civil and military airports, which would cost money and cause bigger environmental problems in order to handle the predicted increased air travel in the next 25 years.

The location of Palmdale for the airport, proposed for the early 1980s, was favored over four other sites "in terms of available land with minor relocation of population, the least airspace conflicts, initial available ground access, the least major air and noise pollution potential and visible community and institutional support," the study said.

The other sites considered included Edwards Air Force Base, Fox Field in Lancaster, the Chino Hills area and a location offshore from Long Beach.

These locations were rejected because of environmental damage, unavailability or plans to build homes there.

The report said the airport would be good for Palmdale, by bringing in more people and money, but would drive away desert animals.

The report predicted, "Many species sensitive to man and his activities would retreat to the more remote areas of the desert, and endangered species such as the golden eagle, the desert tortoise and the Mojave ground squirrel would be further threatened."

Although the site has not yet been approved —public hearings on the airport and the environmental impact report will begin in mid-November — the Department of Airports has already acquired 12,893 acres of the estimated 17,700 acres needed for the airport.

RUSH HOUR RECON—Norm Callahan, rear, enjoys the respect and awe given his restored World War II armored car. He likes to drive the M-8 to the store and back, to children's birthday parties and parades. His daughter, Stephani, is at left.

Armored car restored by Texan creates sensation on highways

By GARY L. TAYLOR

HOUSTON (UPI) — Peace-loving Norm Callahan, standing Patton-like high above the crunch and confusion of rush hour traffic, soaked up the respect given his restored World War II M-8 armored car.

"It's just an expression of the individual," he said, cruising along Interstate 610, feeling the warm, moist breeze in his face.

"Just another way of expressing individuality; another way to get away from the crowd, as the cigarette ads go."

Looking much like an armored, olive-drab turtle, with a humpback gun turret aimed harmlessly at a tiny yellow car in front, Callahan's "tank" accelerated smoothly and quickly.

"Patton used it as his point for recon platoons," Callahan said, "because he could penetrate with it.

"He would send a recon platoon behind enemy lines, and really mess them up. And with this 37 millimeter cannon on here, you could really wipe them out."

The M-8 was built by Ford in 1944 and nicknamed the "Greyhound" for its 65 mile an hour capability.

Callahan, a lieutenant colonel in the Texas National Guard, his daughter Stefani Koch and a friend bought it last winter.

"We bought it at a Department of Public Safety auction in Lubbock, worked on it three days and obtained a license and drove it 600 miles back to Houston," Callahan said.

Mrs. Koch now owns the M-8 under the corporate name of Armored Fighting Vehicles.

"She hopes to own a string of them, just for fun you understand," Callahan said.

Just for fun, Callahan, Stefani and Callahan's son, Stephen, drove the tank into a drive-through hamburger stand.

"The kid at the pay window did a double take," Callahan said. "I was riding the side of the tank and was eyeball to eyeball with him. He was speechless.

"After we paid, everybody from the street started coming up, looking at our 'tank' and asking about it. It's like that everywhere we go.

"It's insured just as an ordinary passenger automobile," he said. "It is a lot safer from the standpoint of other motorists because they can't miss seeing it."

As a light rain began to fall, Callahan came down from his spot above the gun turret, crouched down inside the tank and hand cranked the turret and its cannon around to the rear for protection against the driving rain.

Other drivers, meanwhile, seeing the cannon barrel swing wide over the tank and then come their direction, gave it a wide berth.

Callahan and his son drive the M-8 to the store and back, to children's birthday parties and, of course, in military parades.

The tank, which uses non-leaded regular gas, is more economical to drive, Callahan said, "than that Thunderbird there in front of us."

Callahan wants drivers in Houston to consider his "car" just one of the gang.

"That's the concept we have to get across," he said, "that this is an automobile with a lot of armor on it."

Year round auto registry bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill officially delaying staggered year-round registration for California's 15.7 million vehicles until 1978 has advanced to the Assembly floor.

The measure (SB1140) by Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, unanimously cleared the Ways and Means Committee Tuesday on an 11-0 vote.

Because of delays in developing a new consolidated computer system for the Department of Motor Vehicles, state officials have planned to postpone implementation of a year-round registration program until 1976. It had been scheduled for next January.

The bill simply makes it legal for the DMV to delay the program for one year.

Air bags, lap belts would cut road toll

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If all cars were equipped with air bags and lap belts, there would be 15,000 fewer auto fatalities a year and 1 million fewer injuries, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

In a report issued recently the government agency said the air bag-lap belt system would add $210 to the cost of a car.

The question facing motorists, said NHTSA director James Gregory, is whether they are willing "to pay the added cost for saving thousands of lives during the next decade."

Seat belts that prevent the engine from starting until they are locked are now mandatory. The House of Representatives recently passed legislation that would make the seat belt and air bag systems optional equipment.

The American Automobile Association and the American Safety Belt Council also oppose the mandatory safety features.

The annual highway death toll is now running at 56,000 a year.

The agency said if the air bag-lap belt system were made mandatory for 1977 model cars it could save "an estimated 85,000 lives and reduce vehicle injuries by more than 5.4 million over a nine-year span."

By comparison, the seat belt interlock system would save more than 47,000 lives and cut the injury rate by more than 2 million.

When the entire automobile population was equipped with air bags and belts, the death toll would even out to a saving of "15,600 lives annually and a reduction of the injury toll by 1 million," the report said.

"This study clearly shows the superiority" of the air-bag lap belt system, Gregory said.

The annual highway death toll is now about 56,000.

U.S. trade balance in the red

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The value of U.S imports outpaced exports by $728 million in July, pushing the nation's trade balance almost $1 billion in the red for the first seven months of the year, according to the Commerce Department.

The high cost of foreign-produced oil continued to be the chief cause of the deteriorating trade picture.

The United States now has run trade deficits in four of the first seven months of the year and the combined deficit totals $983 million. This is well ahead of the $823 million deficit for the comparable January-July period last year. In 1973 the United States chalked up a $1.7 billion surplus.

Last month, the U.S. spent a record $2.3 billion for petroleum products. The volume of foreign produced crude oil and related goods, 200 million barrels, was also an all time high for one month.

Overall imports rose nearly five per cent in July, faster than in the previous three months. Exports, on the other hand, fell 0.6 per cent after an unusually fast 10 per cent jump in June.

Teaches art to inmates

In prison 23 years, couldn't stay away

HOUSTON (UPI) — Larry Condon, the son of Irish immigrants caught in the poverty of the depression, spent 23 years behind bars of New York prisons for armed robbery.

"I was a violent criminal. I was into the worst scenes in crime, but I was able to make a complete turnaround," said Condon, 48. When he was released April 23, his only thought was to get away from prison life. Instead the three-time loser went to work for the South Carolina Department of Corrections as an art instructor and, hopefully, as an example prison rehabilitation can work.

"I'm an old dog. I thought I was condemned, but I started to make something of myself through painting," he said, standing near a display of his works at the 104th Congress of the American Correctional Association.

Condon dabbled with sketches as a child in Brooklyn to escape the squalor around him. In 1959, he began painting again.

"While I was in Greenhaven Prison, there was a prisoner named Jerry Moore. He said he'd been a painter for 10 years and was not as good as I," Condon said.

"I resisted. He kept harrassing me. I finally said okay just to get him off my back. Out of my first five paintings, I sold four, made $95 and got my money back for paint and supplies."

Condon has since won numerous prizes for his work including a $5,000 first prize in the Grand Galleria national competition in Seattle, Wash.

William P. Leeke, director of the South Carolina Department of Corrections, noticed Condon after he won the top prize two years in a Columbia, S.C., exhibit.

"He wrote me a letter while I was in prison and asked if I would be interested in establishing an art program and relocating in South Carolina," Condon said.

"At first I thought he had to be kidding. When I got out, I thought at first I just wanted to get away from it all. But I decided to try it for a while. I don't plan to make it a lifetime career. I thought I'd try a few years."

"Maybe prison, the soul searching, was destiny —to find myself and what I wanted," he said. "If it had not been for prison, I wouldn't be as complete a person as I am today."

DEFIED HITLER — Otto Strasser, the man whom the Nazis at one time named Hitler's "enemy number one," is dead in Munich at the age of 77. He was a publicist for the Nazi Party in 1920s, but later repudiated Hitler.

Shell strikes oil in sea off S. Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — A major Western oil company has discovered petroleum nearly a mile under the South China Sea just off the coast of South Vietnam, the Saigon government said today.

Pecten, a subsidiary of the Shell Oil Co., struck oil Sunday in the country's first test drilling, Industry Minister Nguyen Duc Cuong told a news conference today in a nationwide radio broadcast.

"At this time we can only say that there is oil there, that the oil is of a very good quality —a light, brown oil —and the surrounding rock is of a good quality and able to hold the oil," Cuong said.

But he said the actual amount and commercial value of the petroleum was unknown.

Patrick Glover, Pecten's president and general manager, said the oil was found about 250 miles southeast of Saigon, 120 miles east of the southern tip of South Vietnam and some 4,500 feet under the South China Sea.

He was less enthusiastic than Cuong, however, about whether or not huge oil deposits lie beneath the sea.

Glover indicated that although the findings are encouraging, the amount of oil beneath the sea may be too small to justify the high cost of pumping it out.

"At this time, we cannot say too much about the significance of this finding because additional drilling and much study will be required," Glover said.

Saigon government sources said the test drilling showed a large oil field of high octane petroleum existed in the area of the Pecten oil rig, the Ocean Prospector.

TRUCK DRIVER HONORED

Planners spur proposal to seek state aid for parks

Asst. City Editor

An application for state funding to improve six Pomona parks and a school playground cleared another hurdle Wednesday night when the Pomona Planning Commission approved environmental impact report exemptions.

The action was needed in preparing a blanket request for $264,560, which is the city's share of the state's park and recreation bond act approved by voters last June.

Necessary paperwork must be submitted to the state by Sept. 15 for submittal as a budget request for the 1975-76 fiscal year. Funding could begin after next July 1.

The recreation areas involved are Lincoln, Garfield, Kennedy, Weber, Harrison and Jaycee parks and the Palomares Junior High School.

These projects were selected from a priority list established by the city staff and Parks and Recreation Commission.

The largest allocation sought is $100,000 for Harrison Park, a new site now in the initial stages of development. Officials propose extensive tree planting, particularly along the borders of the 4.5-acre site; concrete walkways in the park interior; overhead lighting along the walkways; picnic tables and combination restroom and maintenance equipment storage buildings.

The park, located at Valera Avenue and Battram Street, adjoins the Harrison Elementary School.

Another significant project will be at Palomares Junior High School. This includes the lighting of a existing softball field and construction of a scorer's booth. Officials propose to place six, 60-foot light poles along the perimeter of the left and right infield and an outfield. Total cost is estimated at $40,000.

Other projects include:

—Garfield Park. Conversion of the existing lawn watering system from the old "quick coupler" system to an automatic system with pop-up sprinkler heads controlled by an electric timer clock. Officials also plan to upgrade the existing walkways from dirt and gravel to concrete and install picnic tables. Estimated cost, $12,000.

—Kennedy Park. Expansion of the lawn sprinkler system to complete coverage of the entire park, extensive planting of trees and shrubs, construct concrete walkways and improve the parking lot. Estimated cost, $50,000.

—Weber Park. Extensive tree planting, particularly along the borders of the six-acre park, overhead lighting along existing walkways, picnic areas, construction of a combination restroom-maintenance equipment storage building, and installing a chain link fence along the north and east boundaries. Estimated cost, $65,000.

—Jaycee Park. Extensive tree planting, concrete walkways, overhead lighting and picnic tables. Estimated cost, $60,000.

City officials sought an exemption from the state-required environmental impact report since all the projects are limited to the existing park or school sites. And as such, these should result in only limited impact on the surrounding areas.

In commission discussion, Jim Lightfoot, a planning staff member, reported that all the projects are in the northern part of the city.

This has resulted, he explained, from federal funds being used to develop parks in other areas. He mentioned Sharkie Park, Cherrieville Park and Martin Luther King Park.

Board to ask revenue-sharing funds for demolition of 2 school buildings

The Bonita school board agreed Tuesday to apply for $30,000 in revenue sharing funds to be used to demolish two buildings on the San Dimas Elementary School site. School officials weren't optimistic about getting the money however.

Several trustees were informed by school administrators of the application to the Department of Urban Affairs by phone prior to the application deadline of Aug. 23 and gave tentative approval. The application calls for $22,000 for the demolition and $8,000 for cleanup and grading.

The school's demolition has been the topic of many discussions between the district, citizens and San Dimas city officials, with each of the groups calling for the destruction of the buildings which they agree are unsafe and a potential danger to residents living in the area of the school. So far, legal technicalities have prevented the action.

According to Supt. James T. Johnson Jr., the application for demolition was necessitated by the continuance of vandalism at the school. He stated that Molotov cocktails which had not functioned properly were found on the roof of one of the school's buildings and that graffiti and weeds on the site continue to be a problem.

Johnson also said that the chances of the district's application being approved are not great. "It (the approval for a school district) is not common, but this is a community as well as an educational problem." He added that the district had included pictures of the buildings with the application.

The superintendent explained that the City of San Dimas could not apply for the demolition funds because the city does not own the school property. But he added that the city has received an acceptable bid for the demolition that the school district could use should funds be approved.

In other business the trustees approved an increase in Type "A" lunches from 40 to 45 cents at intermediate and high schools, from 35 to 40 cents at elementary schools and from 60 to 65 cents for adult lunches.

Increases in the cost of food, supplies and utilties were cited as reasons for the price hikes.

Seniors get warning about con operation

Los Angeles County Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess today warned senior citizens receiving Social Security benefits about a man posing as a special Social Security agent.

The impostor approaches elderly persons, claiming he is either a state Department of Social Services worker or a federal Social Security agent, Pitchess said. Then he suggests that he may be able to get their benefits increased.

After gaining entry into the victim's home the man attempts to find out where any money is and ask the victim to leave the room, usually stating he needs a urine specimen. Once the resident is gone, the bunco artist steals the money and flees, Pitchess said.

The man has been reported operating in Pasadena, Duarte, Monterey Park and Azusa.

He is described as white, 5 feet 7 to 6 feet, weighing 200 pounds. He has dark hair and was seen driving a late-model, brown, two-door sedan. Any information about such a suspect should be given to the nearest law enforcement agency, Pitchess said.

$206 million county budget holds tax line

San Bernardino County supervisors have adopted a property tax rate of $3.0034 per $100 assessed valuation—the same as levied the past fiscal year.

Officials said the rate will raise about $60 million of the county's $206 million budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year.

In a percentage breakdown, they said 50 per cent of the budget funds will come from state and federal sources, 20 per cent from fines, fees and service charges, and 30 per cent from property taxes.

Last year's budget total was $212 million. The reduction this year resulted from new budget procedures involving state and federal funds going to the county's welfare and hospital departments.

South Hills asks for food donations

The South Hills Neighborhood Service Center staff is appealing to the community for donations of canned food for needy valley residents.

Sandy Hester, social services coordinator at ths center, reports that the reserve of canned foods has been gone for two weeks and the demand to provide food to the poor cannot be met. She stressed urgency in replenishing the food supply at the service organization in order to respond to requests from Pomona residents.

"Families are going hungry in your community. We need your help in providing food for these families," said Miss Hester.

Persons wishing to make donations may call 623-8602 for pickup service.

2 on committee on tax override

Nelson D. Scherer and Michael A. Wharton, both of Pomona, head a committee of Pomona and Diamond Bar residents "committed to the passage" of the school district tax override which will be presented voters Nov. 5.

Bill Montgomery of Pomona heads a subcommittee for community contact.

Appointments were made at an organizational meeting this week.

"Passage of this measure in November will insure the continuation of better programs of study in the Pomona public schools and will reflect the ongoing revitalization of the community as a whole," said Scherer and Wharton in a joint statement.

The committee will open headquarters in the Speidel Building at 300 S. Park Ave. prior to the election. Those seeking additional information, or desiring to volunteer to assist, may call 622-9705 or 622-4945.

The district will ask approval of a $1.44 per $100 of assessed valuation increase in the general purpose tax rate to become effective in 1975-76.

HEARTLINE

800-543-2393

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions—fast. It costs you nothing. Call Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. or write Heartline, 8514 North Main St., Dayton, Ohio, 45415. Remember, Heartline pays for all calls on its toll-free number . . . 800-543-2393.

Heartline: I am 63. I will retire in 1976. I'd like to know what is meant by "fully insured under Social Security."—O.I.

Answer: This means that you have worked long enough under Social Security to be eligible for Social Security retirement benefits. If you were born in 1911, you need credit for six years of work under Social Security to be fully insured. No one needs more than 10 years of credit to be fully insured.

Heartline: I applied for a senior citizen's apartment in Dayton, Ohio, but gave my daughter's address in Dayton since I live here in Pittsburgh, Pa. If they find out that I live here, will I be disqualified?—H.W.

Answer: No. It makes no difference. When your name comes up, you will still be entitled to the apartment.

Heartline: I am confused as to who pays for blood when you are on Medicare.—I.C.

Answer: Under Medicare, you pay for the first three pints. However, there are many different blood programs across the country. Please inquire at your hospital or local community blood center.

Heartline: I have worked under Social Security for 12 years. I am not a citizen of the United States. Can I still receive benefits?—Y.R.

Answer: Yes. Your checks are the same whether you are a citizen or not. The checks may be affected, however, if you leave this country.

Heartline: I need the pressure test for glaucoma. The ophthalmologist charges $25 for the test. Is there any way I can get this done cheaper? It only takes a minute.—F.B.

Answer: Yes. Call your local optometrist. Many of them can give this test. Their usual charge is anywhere from three to ten dollars.

Rocky moves in on Teddy's turf

President Ford has stolen the ground from Ted Kennedy for 1976.

The partial amnesty proposal was a starter.

The nomination of Nelson Rockefeller for vice president was the coup de grace.

Theodore White in his 1968 book on "The Making of the President" recalls that some of Robert Kennedy's most ardent supporters, including a major Kennedy California organizer, moved into the Rockefeller camp when Kennedy was assassinated. White relates in detail the way in which the ex-Kennedy youth mobbed Rockefeller with their cheers and banners — "Rocky is Zap," "Go Go Go with Rocky" and "Rock, Rock, Rock, with Rocky." Other reporters noted that some of Rockefeller's speeches at that time echoed Bobby, using virtually the same phrases.

Some careful political analysts (perhaps prejudiced) believe Rockefeller could have defeated John Kennedy in 1960 if he could have been nominated.

Now for the Kennedy issues.

Nelson Rockefeller's great grandfather ran an Ohio station in the underground before the Civil War, helping runaway slaves escape to Canada. The Rockefellers have donated heavily to Martin Luther King and his Southern Leadership Christian Conference and secured low-cost loans for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. They have over the years been major donors to black colleges.

Nelson Rockefeller has carried on the family tradition. There is no suspicion here as with Kennedy, that this concern for civil rights may be political. For it was a part of Rockefeller's life long before he ran for office. So much for Robert Kennedy's hold on the black vote.

Rockefeller has staked out a record in urban renewal transportation, pollution control, medical assistance, aid for education and scholarships that will win a Ford-Rockefeller team votes with traditional Kennedy issues and in the heart of traditional Kennedy strongholds in the big cities. He has pushed for gun control and compulsory health insurance. It is powerful political medicine when you can say as governor you put these concepts into effect rather than lobbied for them as a legislator.

Kennedy was counting on a hefty percentage of labor. Rockefeller has AFL-CIO chief George Meany as a friend. He has won the approval of most major unions in New York. And so it goes with the Spanish speaking, the youth, independents, the poor. His works in Latin America are legion. He has argued with strength the poor should have a greater voice in welfare, else these programs are doomed to fail.

Worse yet for Kennedy (and any other opponent for that matter) he is a dangerous campaigner. His managers are the best that money and a skilled judge of men can employ. He loves to pin his opponent on issues, leaving him explaining for days, weeks and months after. He is willing to spend millions on research to make points that will stick. In battle he presses so vigorously that even those who defeat him find, more often than not that they have been mortally wounded in the process. Goldwater and Nixon will attest to this.

There is, perhaps, one fly in the ointment. Larry King in Harpers Magazine for February 1968 quotes Rockefeller, standing on the White House grounds, as saying: "I think there are a lot of things I could do here, a lot of things I want to do, but I just don't have the drive anymore."

A hymn to city life

Despite the fact that churchgoers in America are overwhelmingly urbanites, the hymns they sing each Sunday morning that have environmental references are mostly rural in nature, according to Dr. Stephen Stephan, professor emeritus of sociology at the University of Arkansas.

Analyzing hymns from several books used by different denominations, he found that the verses are "replete with rural thought forms and imagery."

For example, of 72 hymns in The Methodist Hymnal that contain environmental references, 66 are rural in nature and only six urban. Much the same ratio is found in the 1956 hymnal of the Southern Presbyterian and (northern) United Presbyterian Churches. Even in the hymn book used by many Unitarian churches, the rural emphasis is pronounced.

Stephan's research showed that "the more fundamentalistic and 'old timey' the hymn books are, the more rural is the imagery." He points out that many urban worshippers, particularly in fundamentalist faiths, have been uprooted from rural heritages in recent years. The hymns may assuage their feelings of alienation and loneliness.

Another reason for the emphasis on rural themes is a bias against the city and urban life growing from the early-day association of rural areas with "the good life" and of cities with that which is bad — sin, vice, poverty, crime and the more recent ills of pollution, noise, waste and ugliness.

Hymns are more than just the music of the church, says Stephan. Rather, they reinforce what he terms "the teaching ministry." He suggests that the ecological movement could benefit from new hymns that are "relevant to modern urban man."

Tax and business reform

I am sorry to see you supporting Sen. Goldwater's 10 per cent federal wage cut comment which unfairly singles out the federal worker as the cause of inflation.

Besides being unfair, the proposal would cripple the federal government's ability to attract and retain personnel. Budget cutting should be done by setting priorities on programs. Incidentally, all federal programs are not for salaries but include capital expenditures for highways and buildings, and grants to local government and to nonprofit agencies.

I hope to see some comment on income tax reform which would close unfair tax loopholes for the wealthy. Much has been written in the last few years that shows that our income tax law is inverted and regressive. The lost revenues could help balance the budget.

In addition to tax reform, we need business reform that would put some teeth in the anti-trust laws and protect the consumer so he would know what he is purchasing. This would return competition to the market place.

While you are at it, you could support some changes in our welfare laws. At present a father is punished for trying to work but if he leaves home his wife is rewarded by a supplement if she takes the same job as her husband had. In this way the taxpayer pays but still loses the benefit of these families' production.

All sectors of the nation will have to make sacrifices if inflation is to be licked. The fight must look for basic causes of inefficiency and waste. Band Aid cures like high interest rates and price freezes only stagnate growth and cause shortages. Blaming one group over another avoids facing the real issues and, worse, causes more national disunity. Incidentally, I am not a federal employe.—Charles R. Donaldson, Montclair.

JACK ANDERSON AND LES WHITTEN

Greece to shut NATO bases

WASHINGTON — Public statements to the contrary, Greece is already making plans to shut down every NATO base in the country within a year, thus leaving a gaping hole in the fabric of the Western world's defense systems.

So secret are the new Athens civilian government's plans that even top U.S. officials are unaware of the seriousness of the threat. Just a few days ago, Defense Secretary James Schlesinger was speaking honestly when he said he had "little indication" of such a move.

Our information, however, from high but confidential diplomatic sources who backed up their talk with documents, is that the NATO shutdown is already a matter of Athens policy, barring a radical change in the current U.S. attitude towards Cyprus.

The importance of the Greek NATO bases is difficult to overestimate. Naval, bomber, missile and communications facilities in Greece give NATO a striking power directly beneath the belly of Soviet Russia and her satellites.

At the same time that Greece was setting its course on NATO, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger was assuring a private meeting with President Ford and Republican leaders that the U.S. policy on Cyprus is neutral.

"We have made major efforts to elicit concessions from both the Greeks and the Turks," he said, according to confidential minutes of the White House meeting. "We will take a new look if the Turks cross the cease-fire line."

The restive Republicans wondered why Kissinger had not simply halted aid to Turkey. Kissinger replied, according to the minutes, that this "would not have stopped the three-day occupation."

Indeed, Kissinger warned, such drastic action "would have enormous consequences on NATO, Turkish nationalism and (the) possible approach to the Soviet Union." One "possible solution," Kissinger said, "may be a federalized republic or a Cantonal structure" — in short, a semi-partitioning of Cyprus with Greece and Turkey each controlling part of the island.

Added President Ford hopefully, "I think we'll come out all right as friends of both parties."

Kissinger also met privately with five congressmen of Greek descent who gave him a far more obstreperous going over than the Republican leaders. One of the Greek-American legislators who attended the off-the-record meeting told us they tore into Kissinger "in a manner to which he is unaccustomed."

The congressmen were Louis Bafalis, R-Fla., John Brademas, D-Ind., Peter Kyros, D-Me., Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., and Gus Yatron, D-Pa. At one point, they told Kissinger he was personally responsible for a "grievous policy . . . The U.S. has egg all over its face."

The strong-willed Kissinger was "patient" but "stuttered, reeled back and reddened" under the onslaught, we were told. At one point he left the meeting for a telephone conversation with Turkish Prime Minister Bulent Ecevit. But at the end of the meeting, Kissinger courteously invited the lawmakers to come back again.

Despite appearances of even-handedness, we are told by high diplomatic sources that Kissinger tentatively and confidentially agreed in recent meetings with British Ambassador Peter Ramsbotham to a Cyprus plan drawn up in London.

To the distress of the Greeks, it would, in effect, chop Cyprus into Greek and Turkish enclaves. The Turks would make an ostentatious pullback to a line running across the northern third of the island to pacify world opinion — a move they had intended anyway.

When the plan was delicately put to deposed Cypriot president Archbishop Makarios in London by Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Foreign Secretary James Callaghan, the peppery Makarios was outraged, we were told.

In Athens, Greek leaders are also fuming. For years, they have gone along with almost every twist and turn in American policy, while the Turks have often refused to cooperate with Washington. A few weeks ago, for instance, Turkey defied the United States and resumed cultivation of opium.

Meanwhile, we have learned that Athens risked her good relations with the Arabs by secretly permitting the United States to use Greek NATO bases for shuttling supplies to Israel during the Middle East war last October. As a result, Israel is secretly grateful to Greece and hopes it will keep its NATO ties.

During the October War, Greece also allowed U.S. intelligence services to use a communications station outside Athens to monitor Soviet and Arab radio broadcasts. Turkey, on the other hand, reportedly permitted the Soviets to overfly her territory to deliver arms to the Arabs.

Footnote: At the State Department, a spokesman denied Greek bases were used by the United States to resupply Israel. He also said the British initiative was not yet "developed." It does not have any "arms or legs" yet, he said.

Chronology of unfortunate events

It is history now. What I am about to recite, however wearied you may be of the subject, is not recapped without purpose. I would hope that you will accept my chronology of the unfortunate events and hear me through.

It started in the Sixties, and it is important that we remember this. It started in the Sixties when our people were bitterly divided by a brutal and tragic war. There were parades and protests against the draft, against the war, against federal policies.

Then, in an ugly outburst of hatred and venom, the President was assassinated, the Vice President took over. Even after the climactic assassination, resentment of national policies continued so President Johnson decided he would not run for re-election in '68. That year's race was hotly contested, ended with a very narrow Republican victory. But re-election four years later was by a landslide because the Democratic candidate was characterized as "the most inept man who ever ran for high office."

The Republicans enjoyed the heady euphoria of their big victory for only a little while before an Eastern newspaper began picking at and probing election practices of the President and the conduct of his office.

Almost overnight, whispers became shouted accusations of graft and corruption. The President's chief of staff and other trusted aides were involved in a far-reaching scandal. The President protected them by declaring their innocence, claiming executive powers, invoking privilege to suppress evidence.

The federal prosecutor hired to handle the case was fired by the President. And gradually it came out that the burglary of an office safe had been engineered by the White House. Cabinet members began to desert the sinking ship: three secretaries of interior, four secretaries of treasury, five attorneys general.

As related scandals engulfed the White House, the Vice President was forced to retire from office, ruined. Even the President's personal family came under attack.

His brother-in-law was accused of accepting a bribe from one of the richest men in the nation in exchange for trying to influence important legislation.

With the war over the President was under continuing pressure to grant amnesty to draft dodgers. Indians near Wounded Knee in North Dakota staged a major protest.

Against this background the dollar lost purchasing power, inflation was rampant, unemployment increased, interest rates soared, the stock market declined and the price of gold skyrocketed to more than $160 an ounce.

The only bright spot was the President's record in foreign affairs. He and his brilliant secretary of state managed landmark treaties promising a generation of peace.

Now it is history. Just as it happened—to President Ulysses Grant 100 years ago.

Just in jest

One reason you get so many busy signals these days when you try to make a phone call is because the party you are trying to reach is in the process of dialing the time, dialing a joke, dialing the weather or dialing a prayer. And from here on out the situation is undoubtedly going to worsen. How could it be otherwise now that DIAL A THRILL has been added to the list? Designed for the special benefit of this nation's millions of frustrated females, DIAL A THRILL connects them with a husky, sexy, suggestive male voice which whispers 60 seconds of insinuating sweet nothings into their twitching ears.

Amnesty for Rocky won't come easily

WASHINGTON — Ford and Who in '76? The issue is anything but foreclosed. And yet, it could be. It's all up to Nelson Rockefeller.

No matter how tight Gerald Ford's lock on the presidency, Sen. Barry Goldwater has served notice that the Republican vice-presidential nomination could be up for grabs two years from now. The Arizona Senator isn't sounding empty threats. Nor does his interest in who will be President Ford's running-mate stem from any personal ambition Goldwater might have for the job.

In declaring that delegates to the next Republican convention ought to have a free hand in naming the other half of a Ford-led ticket, Goldwater is only speaking for millions of conservatives who, like the symbol of their party, own long memories.

To be sure, editorial pundits along the Hudson-Potomac Line have been ecstatic about Ford's vice-presidential selection. Many, in fact, have gone so far as to write obituaries regarding Democratic chances to capture the White House in '76, if faced with a Ford-Rockefeller ticket. But let's keep such predictions in perspective: these are the same "experts" who less than a month ago were lighting candles over the imminent demise of the Republican party.

Nevertheless, I expect that we'll be reading and hearing a great deal in the months upcoming about an old editorial bugaboo. Specifically, our pundit friends and kibitzers will be arguing that since a Ford-Rockefeller ticket seems unbeatable, the brewing right-wing campaign to dump Rocky reflects a conservative "death wish."

I can practically give you the words and phrases, verbatim: "Don't conservative Republicans want to win? Would they rather tear the Republican party to pieces for mere ideology?"

The trouble with this old bugaboo argument is that it misses the point of conservative objections to Rockefeller. It's not a matter of ideological purism at all. The fact is that Republican conservatives over the years have been quite flexible in compromising ideological purity to keep the party unified.

Too flexible at times for the party's own good. Remember 1960? The right wing dutifully accepted Nixon's desire for a "balanced" ticket, with Henry Cabot Lodge as his vice-presidential running mate. A real winner, that one.

Again, in 1968, some conservative purists—including Goldwater and Sen. Strom Thurmond—were "pragmatic" enough to turn away from a pure conservative candidate, Gov. Ronald Reagan, in order to support Richard Nixon. Big win. So big that here we are six years later recovering from our victory hangover.

No, the record shows that it hasn't been conservatives who've proved unwilling to bend, in order to win election. It's been Republicans like Nelson Rockefeller—especially Nelson Rockefeller.

Time and again, like the petulant, self-centered rich kid on the block, Rocky has picked up his mitt and gone home when the intraparty game hasn't gone to his liking. And now, in the name of "pragmatism," conservatives are being asked to wipe the slate clean. Forgive and forget.

What Goldwater is saying, I think, is that all will not be forgiven and forgotten simply because a popular Republican President waves a hand. Right-wing amnesty for Rockefeller's past sins won't be automatic.

But neither, let me say, should it be out of the question. The Vice President-designate spent one day last week paying courtesy calls to Democrats on Capitol Hill. If Rockefeller is truly interested in wiping out old, bitter memories, he has the next 24 months to show similar courtesies to some of his old intra-party rivals. All conservatives might need, really, is some sign that their new Republican Vice President now recognizes party loyalty as a two-way street.

SOME DAYS AN ELEPHANT WANTS TO FORGET—With the circus coming to town North Beach publicist Davey Rosenberg picked the elephant for the walk from the circus train to San Francisco's Cow Palace. Rosenberg weighs 340 pounds and it took three circus hands and 15 minutes to mount him.

Army housing men, women in same barracks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army is quietly housing both men and women in some of its barracks without the same fanfare that greeted other military concessions to modern mores.

Male and female soldiers are not allowed to live in mixed rooms or even adjoining ones, but many barracks now have a separate female floor above a floor of males, an Army spokesman said.

The two sexes share the same day room with television, games and other entertainment diversions.

Normally women have been assigned to a separate WAC barracks. But in recent years women have poured into the Army and can no longer fit in the WAC barracks.

They also have been allowed into all jobs not involving combat such as the engineers and military police. This means women are being assigned to bases that don't even have WAC barracks, requiring base commanders to make new housing arrangements.

It is now, according to the spokesman, "a common practice on Army posts where women are assigned."

At all barracks, a sergeant is normally assigned in the evening and over night to handle telephone calls and security, the spokesman said. Among the sergeant's responsibilities would be seeing that the sexes don't mingle in the rooms —at least between 4:30 p.m. and 7:30 a.m.

The spokesman said there had been no fanfare because there had been no changes in Army regulations or Army policy.

The housing rules have long stated simply that women must be billeted with "separate entrances" from the men and with separate latrines and showers. Mixed rooms have thus always been forbidden but a separate floor or wing for women long permitted even if not followed in practice.

Longer skirts mean trouble

By ERMA BOMBECK

The skirt is coming back.

I know this won't choke up women cello players, but it's true. Not only do designers say American women are going to be wearing more skirts and dresses, but the hemlines are going to be longer.

This is bad news in more ways than one. Several years ago, someone figured out as the hemlines go . . . so goes the economy. The longer the hemline, the more acute the depression . . . the shorter the hemline, the greater the country's prosperity.

The way I look at it, with beans at 87 cents a pound I'm stuck with a closet full of blouses.

"What am I going to do with all those short dresses?" I asked Mother.

"Like I always said, 'You can make a skirt shorter,' said Mother. 'But you can't make it longer after it's cut off.' "

"When did you say that?" I asked.

"When you cut off your winter coat."

"Mother! You can't walk around in a coat with a hem so thick you look like you're storing rifles in it."

"So, don't yell at me. You're the one with the closet full of blouses."

"Remember Margaret Shelhaas? I went to school with her and when hemlines dropped in 1947, she made new tops for all of her skirts out of muslin, wore long sweaters and never raised her arms."

"Did it work?"

"No, it was miserable. She couldn't try out for cheerleading, mail a letter, wave good-bye, hang up her coat, or comb her hair in public. She finally dropped out of school."

"Because of fake tops on her skirts?"

"Yes. She was failing everything because she never participated in class by raising her hand to answer anything."

"Maybe hemlines won't get too long and you can just slouch for a few years," offered Mother.

"Oh, they're going to get long all right. Remember the economy in 1900 to 1927 and then how skirts went thigh-high by 1928? And how they went down in 1929, and up again in 1940?

From '47 to '54 they were mid-calf and in 1967 hemlines went as high as 30 inches."

I was still discussing the problem with my husband last night at a movie when we saw a young girl lean over the drinking fountain.

"I don't remember the economy being that good." I said.

"It wasn't," he said dreamily. "But when skirts get that high no one seems to care."

Meat packer fined $30,000

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Bernard Fineman was fined $30,000 and his firm, the Highland Meat Packing Co. in Vernon, was also fined a similar amount Tuesday following a guilty plea on charges of bribing federal meat inspectors.

Fineman and his company were accused of paying $1,180 in cash bribes to a federal inspector last year and of offering a $200-a-week bribe to influence the grading of certain meats.

Only monkeys, apes, humans

Maybe a little more than $500, that's all the great composer Franz Schubert earned from his music during his entire lifetime. However, Sigmund Romberg made at least $100,000 from "Song of Love," which he lifted from Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony." Was that fair?

AM TOLD the only mammals that can distinguish colors are monkeys, apes and humans.

CHARLES DICKENS' novels depict an average of 60 characters each. His 1,425 fictional individuals outnumber those in the works of any other English author.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS

Q — "What's Canada's official national anthem?"

A — Doesn't have an official one. But both "God Save the Queen" and "O Canada" are sung as such.

Q — "I CAN'T even get this sink white with scouring powder and chlorine bleach. . . .?"

A — Try scrubbing it with a paste of cream of tartar and hydrogen peroxide.

Q — "I KNOW the people who migrate from Japan elsewhere are called Issei. And their youngsters born outside Japan are Nesei. But what are the children of the Nesei called?"

A — Sansei.

OUR LANGUAGE MAN thinks the word "mummy" came from the Arabic "mumiya" meaning "pitch." Maybe you already knew the ancient Egyptians used pitch to embalm their dead.

RIO

It was just about 50 years ago that the citizens thereabouts air conditioned Rio de Janeiro. A high hill called the Morro do Costello blocked off the sea breezes. So teamsters hauled away said hill in wagon loads. Average summertime temperature downtown dropped almost 10 degrees. This comes to mind because a client asks if any city in the world is completely air conditioned. Know of no other.

THOSE SLEEP SPECIALISTS just about always come up empty when they try to research nightmares. Ordinary dreams, no problem. Citizens do indeed dream when they serve as subjects in laboratory experiments. But they don't have those screamy scarey terrifiers. Something about the controlled circumstances prevents such, evidently.

Deserter tries running back to Canada, caught

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — An Army deserter who tried to run back into Canada was in the Ft. Lewis stockade today.

The incident occurred recently when Ronald J. Anderson, 31, decided to move from Canada to the United States with his two children.

When customs officials at the border 140 miles north of Tacoma ran a computer check on Anderson, a customs official said, Anderson decided to make a dash back to Canada.

He ran out of the customs station and was pursued by customs agents, who caught him. A customs official was not clear whether Anderson was caught on American or Canadian soil.

"It's an international park at the Peace Arch," said resident customs agent Ed Kennedy at the border.

An FBI agent, who did not want to be identified, said the whole question of the arrest "is a bit of a touchy subject right now."

Canadian officials were not available for comment.

A military spokesman at Ft. Lewis Monday night said Anderson was being processed into the stockade here. The spokesman said he could not answer questions on how long Anderson had been missing, what his home town was, his rank, where Anderson's children are now and whether Anderson was returning to the U.S. because of President Ford's promise of possible amnesty.

This isn't the kind of help I need.

At this moment I'm on the floor. You're all staring at me. And, right now you can't help me. But, tomorrow you can. You can literally help pick me up off the floor...by understanding epilepsy.

You see, my epilepsy isn't hurting me. Your attitudes are.

What is your attitude? Would you hire me? Work with me? Invite me to join your club?

Do you really know as much about epilepsy as you may think you know? For instance, that epileptics aren't absent from their jobs as much as so-called "healthy" employees are with the common cold? Or, that many epileptics may have I.Q.'s higher than your own? But, most important of all...are you perhaps just a little frightened in the presence of a known epileptic—frightened he'll suddenly become the way I am right now?

There's no reason to be. Write or phone the Los Angeles County Epilepsy Society (LACES) for the facts. Your understanding will be of great assistance; also, your gift of love, no matter how large or small, will help minister to the special needs of other people like me.

Make it a real gift...give out of love.

Ford sets outline on amnesty issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford, in unveiling his proposal for the possibility of an "earned re-entry" of American war resisters before the Veterans of Foreign War, was doing politics at its best.

By setting his own proposal for a limited leniency for resisters and deserters within the context of the adamant opposition of the veterans organization, Ford carefully set the limits of the national debate on the amnesty question between those who totally oppose amnesty and those who favor a limited or conditional amnesty.

Left on the outside, it appears, are all of those who favor a general, unconditional blanket amnesty.

Ford's own position, however, seems grounded in the political realities. He was urged to make the proposal by former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird who had urged a similar action on former President Nixon but was rebuffed.

In addition, administration officials met with Sen. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, only days before the Ford speech and carefully went over Taft's proposed "Earned Immunity" legislation which would give case-by-case immunity from prosecution to resisters who complete up to two years alternate service for the country.

Those who favor a more liberal approach to the amnesty issue —generally religious leaders whose position is based on moral rather than political considerations —are attempting to broaden the limits set by the Ford speech.

Bishop James S. Rausch, general secretary of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, for instance, said the Ford initiative was "a constructive step toward opening a genuine national dialogue on this pressing issue."

Rausch also noted that the general position of the NCCB was "fully supportive of the approach" suggested by Ford. But he added:

"Consideration should be given to unconditional amnesty at least for those who resisted military service because of their conscientious convictions."

Rabbi Balfour Brickner, co-director of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations' department of social action, in a letter to Ford, appealed to the President to include the religious community in the process that would develop the machinery for any amnesty program.

He, too, "enthusiastically" supported Ford's "initial effort" at beginning to focus attention on the problem of amnesty.

At the same time, Brickner carefully pointed out that his organization, which represents 1.1 million Reformed Jews in the United States has adopted a position supporting unconditional amnesty both for draft resisters and deserters who found "they could not participate in that war...."

Ford, however, in plunking himself down between the religious leadership's call for unconditional amnesty and the VFW's adamant opposition — restated a day after the President's speech —has placed himself squarely with a majority of Americans.

A Gallup poll, taken in April shortly after extensive and well publicized hearings on the amnesty question, showed that a significant majority of Americans —58 per cent — oppose unconditional amnesty for war resisters.

At the same time, only 8 per cent said they believed the conditions imposed for a resister or deserter's return should be a fine or imprisonment.

That is precisely the course Ford is trying to steer in his proposal.

50,000 stolen credit cards recovered

BOSTON (UPI) — About 50,000 stolen blank Master Charge credit cards that banks said could cost them $15 million if distributed nationwide Tuesday were seized by Massachusetts officials who said it was the largest such recovery in the United States.

Suffolk County district attorney Garrett Byrnes said the cards were seized in an automobile in Boston's Park Square area. Two suspects were arrested and taken into custody. Byrnes declined to identify them until they were formally charged and arraigned.

Byrnes said the seizure and arrests resulted from an investigation begun sevra-weeks ago at the request of Master Charge credit card officials. He said the officials estimated that if the cards were distributed nationwide, it would result in a loss of $10-15 million.

"The officials told me this would be the minimum loss," Byrnes said. "They said it was the largest seizure of credit cards that they knew of."

The recovered Master Charge cards were in small cardboard cartons. The names of three different banks appeared on the cards, but the names of customers were not in evidence.

The banks were Valley National Bank, Phoenix, Ariz., the Bank of Mexico and Marine Midland Bank.

Also seized were photographic plates upon which were printed what appeared to be names and account numbers of existing Master Charge customers. The dates on the cards indicated that most had expired.

Pair accused of stealing autos

LONG BEACH (UPI) — Peter Angles, 31, and Michael Armendares, 28, were arrested Tuesday and booked on suspicion of grand theft auto for allegedly stealing 50 old cars during the last month and selling them to a Wilmington junk yard as scrap metal.

The suspects were arrested as they were towing a car into the junk yard.

Saxbe sees U.S. downfall in crime rate

CHICAGO (UPI — Attorney General William B. Saxbe Tuesday warned that the nation will need a national police force to keep it from "falling apart," unless another means is found to reverse a skyrocketing crime trend.

With the crime rate soaring from a 6 per cent increase in 1973 to a 15 per cent increase in this year's first quarter, Saxbe said, the nation is in "deep trouble."

"If we go on as we are, there is every possiblity that crime will inundate us," he said in a speech prepared for a conference of law enforcement administrators from the nation's major cities.

"The nation would then be faced with the prospect of falling apart or devising a national police force in one final effort to restore domestic order," Saxbe said.

But he said this would be a great danger because a national police force could become "an instrument of national repression."

"A police state can control crime, but that is not our way," Saxbe said.

Rejecting police state "efficiency" as a solution, Saxbe said the answer lies in restoring the "inner strengths" of the people and their institutions.

"It is partly the job of every citizen, of every institution, of every business," Saxbe said. "Because if they fail, then our system of criminal justice simply will be unable to hold back the tide."

Will stop 10-cent gas tax hike--Mills

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee says any proposal to raise the federal gasoline tax by 10 cents a gallon would die in his committee.

"If I know anything about President Jerry Ford, I know he's not going to recommend a 10-cents-a-gallon increase on gaslone," Mills told the Southern Farmer's Association. "If he did, he would know that as long as I am chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, it would not be enacted."

The White House said the gasoline tax hike is under considera'ion. The measure would go to Mills' committeee, and the Arkansas Democrat said he would fight it "as strong as I can fight it."

"And I guarantee you one thing, as long as I'm chairman of the committee, it will never see the light of day. It will never get out of the committee."

The doctor comments

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am so angered by your reply to the parent of the 16-year-old girl who died of subaortic stenosis that for the first time in my life, I am motivated to write to a newspaper. For 17 years I'd been told by several of New York City's best cardiologists that, through surgery was known for this condition the mortality rate was too high to subject my son to it. He was an active, alert, bright individual who could lead a normal life, with periodic checkups by a doctor.

At 17 he suffered an aortic aneurysm and after an excruciating week he died in 1967. Obviously when seven years later a 16-year-old girl succumbs to the same condition the medical profession knows no more now than it did then! How can you assert that subaortic stenosis can go unnoticed by the victim?

Dear Reader — You need to appreciate that subaortic stensis (obstruction to the oulet of the heart) is an unpredicatable disease. You doctors gave you the best advice available at that time. I checked my own experience with the leading text on heart diseases and note that in 1968 the death rate for aortic stenosis at surgery or in the next four years following surgery was about 20 per cent. With thsese odds most heart specialsits then agreed it was not wise to subject a person to surgery unless he already had symptoms. You say your son suffered no ill effects and was active, so it is quite understandable that his doctors did not recommend surgery at that time. Open heart surgery was just beginning around 1955. The risk 17 years ago was very great indeed. The problem is quite different if the patient has symptoms. As soon as there is some evidence that the obstruction in the heart is great enough to cause the patient to have symptoms then the risk of sudden death is high enough that most heart specialists think surgery should be done right away, unless there are other problems. The doctor has to balance the risk of operation against the risk of not having the operation. In unpredictable disorders of this type and sometimes because of sudden changes in the patient's condition, it is not possible to always make the right choice, regardless of training or experience. Hindsight is so much better than foresight.

I think you are being unnecessarily hostile about some matters in which you are not adequately informed. There has been some improvement in surgery in the past seven years and better information about when to operate. But still there is no foolproof way to be absolutely sure.

Now, about my stating that a patient may not notice the condition. I have seen men in the service in uniform, some of them doctors, who had this problem and had been unaware of it until an abnormal sound in the heart led to its discovery. It is simply a statement of well established fact that if the obstruction is mild it may cause no symptoms at all. So the person will first find out about its presence when the doctor notices it on an examination. I'm sure you did all that could reasonably be expected for your son. It was just a series of unfortunate and unpredictable events.

CHP pay raise by $12 million

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation providing Highway Patrolmen with annual pay raises totaling an estimated $12 million has passed the Senate.

The bill (AB3801) by Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, was passed Tuesday night on a 28-6 vote, one more than needed, and returned to the Assembly for acceptance of amendments.

It requires the state Personnel Board to set Highway Patrol salaries according to the average pay for equivalent officers in the state's five largest metropolitan police departments.

Floor sponsor Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, estimated the annual cost to taxpayers at $12 million a year.

DAVEY STEALS IT

Chicago shortstop Don Kessinger leaps high to snag the peg that was intended to catch L.A.'s Davey Lopes, who stole the base in Dodgers' 7-6 win Wednesday at Dodger Stadium.

Dodgers trim Cubs behind a little luck

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — "I was lucky," observed Dodger first baseman Steve Garvey in reference to his five-hit performance Wednesday night.

The Dodgers en masse would probably agree to that statement after Wednesday's wild 7-6 win over the visiting Chicago Cubs before 27,053 fans. L.A. came back to win a game it very nearly let slip away.

The Dodgers were more than fortunate to pull the game out on Willie Crawford's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the last of the ninth. Chicago, which has proven to be a special Dodger patsy of late, once pitched in with a barrage of miscues Wednesday to pave the way to the L.A. triumph.

The wild game saw a little bit of everything. The two teams almost erupted into a beanball war, there was a pinch-hit grand slam homer, a Chicago "bush" play backfired, and, appropriately enough, the most meager of diamond weapons, the bunt, won the battle.

The win, despite its tribulations, was a welcome one for the Dodgers. It enabled them to protect their slim three-game lead in the National League West over Cincinnati, a 4-3 winner over Philadelphia Wednesday.

Until an unscheduled appearance by the Cubbies' Bill Madlock, the Dodgers appeared to have the victory salted away.

L.A. rode 11 singles and four stolen bases to a 6-2 lead going into the top of the eighth. But Dodger starter Don Sutton suddenly lost it, as three straight Cub singles were followed by Madlock's grand slammer.

Madlock, an off-season resident of Pomona last year was not supposed to play in the game due to some recent leg problems, but he picked on Sutton's first delivery and then could have crawled around the bases as the ball soared out just above the 385-sign in left-center.

However, even with Madlock's spirit-lifting blast, the Cubs found yet another way to lose to the Dodgers.

Mike Marshall, entering the contest for the shell-shocked Sutton, got the side out in the eighth but ran into immediate trouble in the ninth.

One-out singles by Don Kessinger and Jose Cardenal put runners at first and third. With rookie Pete LaCock at the plate, Chicago got itchy for the go-ahead run and it cost them.

In the Chicago version of the old "bush" play, Cardenal broke for second on a Marshall delivery and drew a throw from catcher Joe Ferguson. Cardenal then rightly stopped and got into a rundown, supposedly allowing Kessinger time to break for home plate.

Kessinger hesitated as the Dodgers ran Cardenal back and forth between second and first. By the time he finally broke for the plate, he was easy game for Davey Lopes, who fired a strike back to Ferguson to nail him sliding in.

Marshall proceeded to retire LaCock and the Dodgers proceeded to put Chicago out of its misery.

Sun storms past Portland, 45-15

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — There is little thunder and even less lightning in the Portland Storm.

The Southern California Sun dominated play from the outset Wednesday night at Anaheim Stadium and rolled to an easy 45-15 victory.

It marked the third straight win for the Orange County entry and enabled the Sun (5-3) maintain its lead over second-place Houston in the WFL's Western Division.

Quarterback Tony Adams picked the Storm secondary apart as the Sun wrapped up the game in the first half.

Adams completed 12 of 13 passes for 166 yards and three touchdowns, two of them to Dave Williams as the Sun built up a 37-7 halftime lead. Portland made only 26 yards passing.

"Our offensive line did a great job, especially Dennis Crane," said Adams modestly. "He was only switched to offense this week and he did a super job."

Crane, a 6-6, 273-pound USC grad, was switched to offense to replace the injured Booker Brown.

"Portland's personnel was okay," Adams continued. "But they played a man-to-man defense and kept it the same the whole game. I called the game I'd like to call all the time. But you just have to get the feel. Earlier in the year, I just didn't want to take chances. I'm young and still learning."

Coach Tom Fears agreed. "Tony was hitting good tonight," he said. "We're trying to get him to be less conservative. He can throw. Dennis Crane had only three days of practice at offensive tackle and did a helluva job. He's a dedicated player and a fast learner."

Fears also singled out Williams for some special attention.

"Dave has superb reflexes and good timing," he said. "He's as as good as there is around. But he's very underrated. Some may do as well, but none better."

The Portland defensive backs were no match for the tall Sun wide receiver. At 6-3 and 205 pounds, there are few defensive backs that are tall enough or strong enough to compete with him at jumping for a ball. He finished with six receptions for 68 yards.

The Sun stampede started on the second play of the game following the kickoff. Linebacker Cleveland Vann recovered Marv Kendricks' fumble at the Portland 41.

Kaline belts homer, praises Halos' Tanana

DETROIT (UPI) — Al Kaline thinks Frank Tanana has a brilliant future. He wouldn't hurt himself if he'd learn how to get a guy like Kaline out when it counts.

Kaline unloaded his 10th home run, one of the hardest he's hit in perhaps a couple of years, on Tanana's second pitch of the ninth inning Wednesday night and it gave the Detroit Tigers a 2-1 victory over the California Angels.

Kaline's 396th career homer, which left him just 26 hits shy of 3,000, was a rocket that landed in the upper deck in left. The only doubt that existed when he hit it was whether it would go off the seats or through them.

Tanana also gave up a home run on his first pitch of the eighth inning, Ed Brinkman's 12th, and now has allowed 25 this season. Nine of his losses in a 9-16 season are directly attributable to the big blast.

"He's going to be a great pitcher—if he doesn't hurt himself," Kaline said. "He's got a great fastball, a real good curve and great control. You usually don't find a pitcher that young with control as good as he's got."

Despite the loss, Tanana still ended August with a 1.65 earned run average for the month. He's lost his last two starts but had a pair of shutouts before that.

Connors, Evert begin their bids

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (UPI) — Chris Evert and Jimmy Connors are expected to start their walk down the aisle to the U.S. Open Tennis titles today, but one, or both of them could trip on the carpet.

The love match between the two Wimbledon winners may be the stuff of which dreams are made but each of them will have to prove their tennis greatness here today on the second day of the 12-day, $271,760 tournament, the richest in the game's history.

Connors, plagued with an intestinal disorder, was getting snappish during the first day's matches, watching John Newcombe, Ken Rosewall, Ilie Nastase and the other seeds moved to the second round without too much difficulty in a day of smothering heat and humidity.

The 21-year-old independent soul was to face Jeff Borowiak in his first test, slated for center court in the stadium as the fourth match there, after his girl, Chris, had the honor of opening women's play against Gail Chanfreau of France.

"If one more guy asks me how I feel," Connors said after what he thought was the 6,342nd question about his tummy aches, "I think I'll punch him on the nose."

Miss Evert, meanwhile, took her ponytails and trimmed-down figure onto the court seeking to continue her 52 straight match wins over 10 tournaments, which had been climaxed by her Wimbledon triumph and victories in Italy and France.

Newcombe toyed with a last minute fill-in opponent when Leif Johannson of Sweden decided there was no point in showing up. Last year's winner trounced young Ramiro Benavides of Bolivia, 6-2, 6-0, 6-1, then said he was having a bit of trouble with his back because of an injury he sustained in his conditioning program.

Rosewall, too, has been out of tournament competition, playing WTT, But he showed much the same skill and form which brought him to his fourth Wimbledon final this year. He suffered a momentary lapse in the second set, but then brushed off countryman Colin Dibley, 6-4, 7-6, 6-1.

Rams deal Schuh to Green Bay

FULLERTON, Calif. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams traded veteran tackle Harry Schuh, who is beginning his 10th pro season, to the Green Bay Packers Wednesday for an undisclosed draft choice, it was announced.

Intrepid's victory over Courageous may have turned table in yacht trials

NEWPORT (UPI) — Intrepid, which had to win Tuesday's race against Courageous to avoid elimination in the U.S. America's Cup yacht trials, has turned the tables and it was Courageous which sorely needed a victory in today's race.

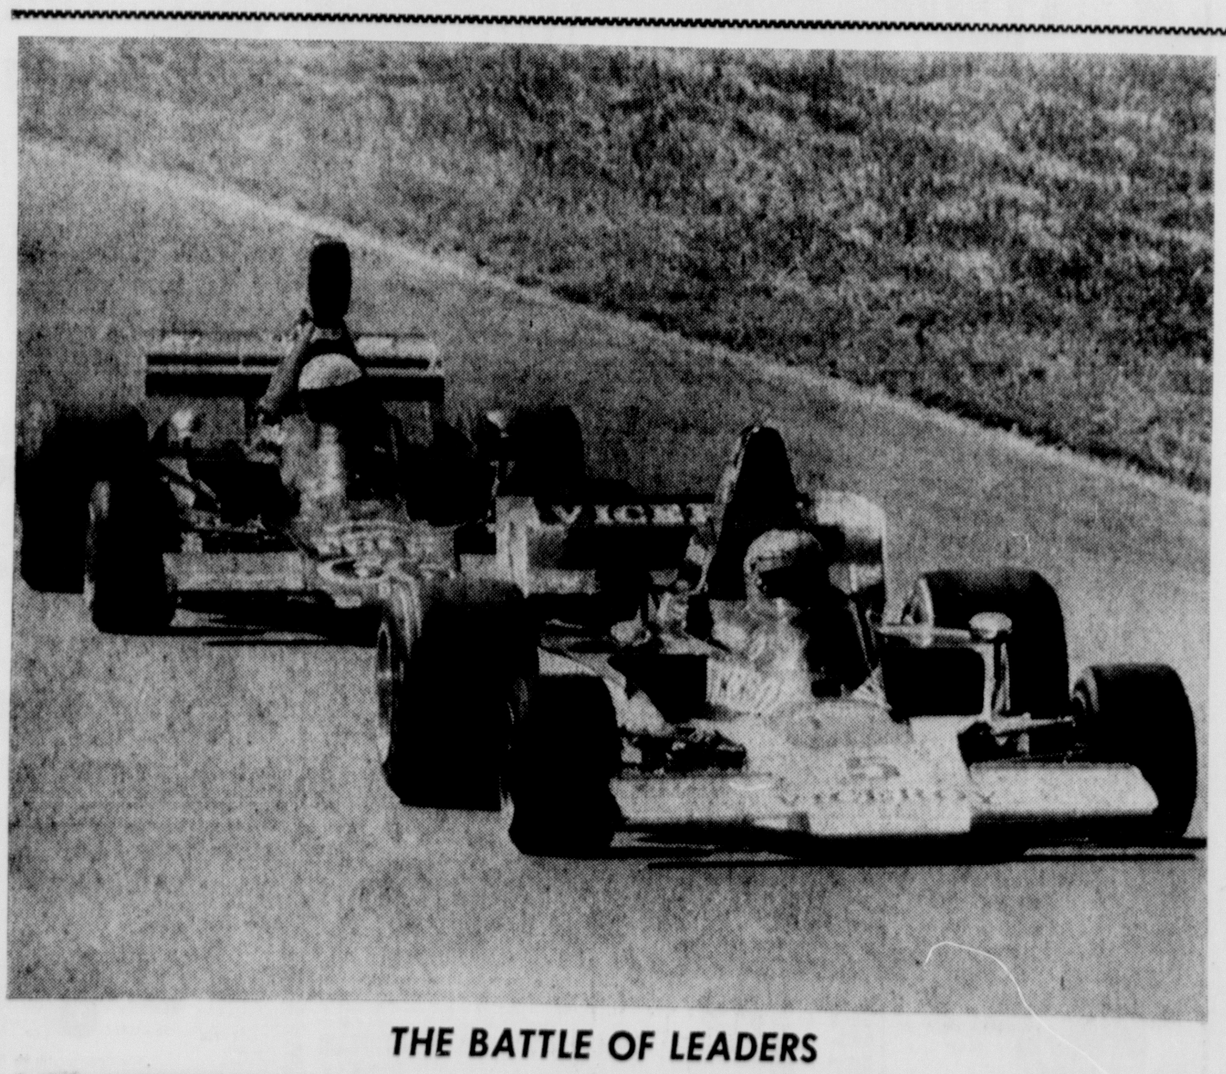
As expected, Australia's Southern Cross beat France Wednesday by four minutes 22 seconds to win the best-of-seven series 4-0 and become the challenger in the best-of-seven Cup races starting September 10th.

In the U.S. trials, Intrepid beat Courageous Wednesday for the second straight day, this time by 52 seconds, and appeared to be in peak form. Courageous still leads 4-3 in head-to-head racing with Intrepid in the final series, but the selection by the New York Yacht Club is made on an overall basis..

All of the Courageous victories came in light air—winds of five to eight knots. The two latest Intrepid victories have been in winds of about 15 knots —which is the usual September weather on the 24.3-mile triangular course on Rhode Island Sound.

"The selecton committee wants an all-around boat, of course," said Intrepid skipper Gerry Driscoll. "The race selection committe is looking at the whole picture, not just aluminum or wood, light air or heavy."

Courageous is a new aluminum 12-meter while Intrepid is a wooden-hull which has beaten Australian twice in Cup defenses—against Dame Pattie in 1967 and Gretel II in 1970.



THE BATTLE OF LEADERS

Mario Andretti (No. 5) and Brian Redman (No. 66), currently tied for the point lead in the Formula 5000 series, play cat and mouse at a recent race. They'll be at Ontario Motor Speedway Sunday for the California Grand Prix. Andretti has won the last two races of the series.

Mario Andretti doesn't really have advantage after all in this Sunday's California Grand Prix

Mario Andretti won the first — and only — major road race at Ontario Motor Speedway, the Questor Grand Prix in 1971.

If his rivals in the California Grand Prix here Sunday consider that an advantage for the 34-year-old star of the Viceroy racing team, it isn't.

"Yes, I was happy when this race (fifth among seven in the Formula 5000 series) was scheduled at Ontario," recalls Andretti. "I felt I at least would know the track."

Not so, though.

In 1971, an international field of Formula One and Formula A drivers drove the course, which winds within the track's 2½-mile oval, in a clockwise direction. This time, however, officials reversed the route and shortened it a bit to 2.9 miles.

"You almost can't compare the courses," commented Andretti after a recent test run in his Viceroy-Lola. "It's really like they are at two entirely different locations."

Andretti feels the change of direction was for the better. It will provide more interesting racing for the spectators in his opinion. But it will also mean a little more work for the drivers.

"There is not a single turn with the same approach or line," he explains. "In some ways it is harder to drive this way.

"The radius of the turns doesn't open up for acceleration. Instead, they're just the opposite since the track was originally designed to go the other way. Now the approaches are wide and the radius in each case tightens. You must take a different line and approach altogether."

This amounts to what Andretti sees as "a pretty tricky course."

Another challenge for drivers, he adds, is the fact that the course is "so flat there are no reference points."

"The cars are so low," he says, "that it is hard to see the apex of each turn. And you don't dare get a wheel off the track or you're in trouble."

Andretti describes the track also as "quite fast, about a 120 m.p.h. course."

"I like it. It's one of those places where you've really got to get your car working right."

Andretti feels his Chevrolet-powered Viceroy-Lola is all of that. "Our recent tests here were very successful."

That has been the way things have been going lately for the 1969 Indianapolis 500 winner. He's won the last two Formula 5000 races (Elkhart Lake, Wis., and Watkins Glen, N.Y.) and has been the fastest qualifer in each of the season's four events. In the drive for the championship, he shares the lead with Britisher Brian Redman at 50 points each.

The competition is expected to be considerably deeper at Ontario for the 100 miler which is jointly sanctioned by the Sports Car Club of America and United States Auto Club.

Several of Andretti's USAC championship car rivals have entered the Coca-Cola sponsored race, including Indianapolis champion Johnny Rutherford. Another addition is Formula One campaigner James Hunt of England.

"Maybe the numbers (of competitive drivers) are greater," observed Andretti, "but it's been competitive for me right along with Brian Redman. I don't care who shows up. My chief rival is still Redman."

Redman won the season opener and has finished second behind Andretti in the last two races. Between them, they have won all eight of the 50-mile qualifying races this season.

Earlier this week, Andretti opened tests with the Vel's-Parnelli Jones Racing Formula One car at Riverside International Raceway. The car is being readied for its debut Sept. 22 in the Canadian Grand Prix at Mosport.

Illustrating his versatility, Andretti has another winning streak working. He scored wire-to-wire victories in the last two races for the front-engine USAC Championship dirt cars in his Viceroy-Ford at Sedalia, Mo., and Springfield, Ill.

He holds a strong lead in championship points with 560, 120 ahead of runnerup Tom Bigelow of Whitewater, Wisc.

Someone finally stopped Matuszak

WFL roundup

By United Press International

A deputy sheriff did with a little piece of paper what three bruising New York Stars were having difficulty accomplishing.

He stopped John Matuszak.

Matuszak, the 6-foot-8, 282-pound defensive tackle who was made the No. 1 pick in the National Football league draft last season by the Houston Oilers, suddenly jumped Wednesday to the Houston Texans of the World Football League. The former Tampa star had practiced with the Oilers for the last two days before his switch Wednesday.

The Oilers threatened legal action but Matuszak was in a Texan uniform Wednesday night when they played host to the Stars at the Astrodome. He wasn't hard to miss. He was the big guy sitting on the Stars' backfield.

Matuszak entered the game in the first period and promptly made his presence felt by nearly decapitating New York quarterback Tom Sherman. After running back Bob Gladieaux was nearly split in two by Matuszak, the Stars decided that one man could not handle him.

But two didn't help as Matuszak again wound up squatting on Sherman's shoulder pads after a pass and New York finally assigned three men to stop the onrushing giant.

But all they really needed was John Growson—once he found his way to the field.

Growson, a Harris County deputy sheriff, served Matuszak on the Houston bench with a temporary injunction prohibiting him from playing for the Texans and the big tackle was through after just five plays, much to the relief of the Stars' offensive line.

Matuszak responded by waving the court order to the slim crowd of just over 10,000 and then taking his seat alongside owner Steve Arnold for the rest of the game.

"I didn't have time to read the court order and evaluate it," Arnold said. "But God, it looked real. And I didn't want to go to jail."

What Matuszak saw was a reversal of last week's game in which the Stars routed Houston 43-10 in New York. Houston played defense Wednesday night and Mike Taliaferro threw TD passes of six yards to Willie Frazier and 35 to Rick Eber to spark a 14-11 Texans' victory. Sherman threw 11 yards to Kreg Kapitan for New York's lone TD as the Stars saw their five-game winning streak snapped.

Matuszak, who may have been stopped from appearing at all if Crowson hadn't gotten lost trying to get to the playing field, is confident he can remain in the WFL.

"I can beat them in court," he said. "I've got principle on my side."

He jumped after issuing the following statement:

"The most important aspect of my signing with the WFL was not to demean or undermine the National Football League, but rather to make professional football a form of employment where management recognizes its workers as individuals capable of communicating on an intelligent level."

In other WFL action Wednesday night, the Bell edged the Detroit Wheels 27-23 before 15,100 in Philadelphia; the Memphis Southmen downed the Florida Blazers 26-18 before 17,148 in Orlando, Fla.; and the Southern California Sun trounced the winless Portland Storm 45-15 before 27,814 in Anaheim. Undefeated Birmingham is at once-beaten Chicago tonight in the national television game.

Bell 27, Wheels 23

King Corcoran threw TD passes of 17 yards to Claude Watts and 24 to Donnie Shanklin to lead Philadelphia over winless Detroit, now 0-8. Watts also plunged for another TD while quarterback Bubba Wyche scored both Detroit TDs on short runs.

The Wheels played one of their best games of the year despite the fact they were not sure of being paid for the game because of financial problems in Detroit. There is a strong possbility the club may be moved to North Carolina.

Suothmen 26, Blazers 18

John Harvey's 49-yard run for a TD ignited Memphis past the Blazers. John Huarte threw a 35-yard scoring pass to Ed Marshall for Memphis while Bob Davis had TD passes of 22 yards to Greg Latta and 25 to Charles Collins.

Despite the loss, the Blazers remained one game ahead of New York in the eastern race.

Sun goes wild against Portland in 45-15 win

It took only four plays for the Sun to score with Adams passing 28 yards to Williams for the touchdown. Williams, in the left end zone, simply went up higher than either 5-10 Phil Borjas or 5-11 Joe Larkin and grabbed the ball.

Nine minutes later the Californians scored again. After a 35-yard punt, one of many miserable punts by the visitors, Adams again required only four plays to drive the Sun 51 yards, passing 37 yards to Terry Lindsey for the TD.

In the second quarter the Sun signal caller engineered drives of 57 yards (five plays) and 56 yards in six plays for scores. Ralph Nelson scored once on a one-yard plunge and it was the Adams-to-Williams combo for the other. Again Williams got into the left corner of the end-zone and went high in the air for the pass. He caught it with the head of 5-11 Robin Sinclair tucked in his stomach.

The other first half touchdown came midway through the second period when former Ram Gene Howard picked off a Greg Barton pass at the Portland 44 and went all the way with it.

The Storm scored 2:12 into the second quarter. Barton passed four yards to tight end Bob Christiansen to climax an 11-play, 61 yard drive.

Kendricks scored the other Portland TD on a one-yard sweep around left end late in the third quarter. That completed a 73 yard-13 play drive with two penalties for 33 yards helping out. It also completed the scoring for the night.

It came after the Sun had scored with backup quarterback Gary Valbuena taking the Sun 41 yards in five plays, passing 26 yards to Lindsey for the TD. Ralph Nelson scored on the action point and it gave the Sun a 45-7 lead.

Lindsey's touchdown was made simply when defensive back Ray Jones went for the interception at the 20 and missed leaving Lindsey an open road to the end zone.

Valbuena played the entire second half completing 8 of 14 passes for 77 yards and the one touchdown.

Alonzo Emery led a host of Sun runners with 40 yards on seven carries for an average of 5.7. Kermit Johnson gained only 14 yards on five carries.

The Sun now must play three more games in the next 14 days. Fears' team will host the Chicago Fire Monday night then travel to Ypsilanti, Michigan for a Friday game with the Wheels, then over to Chicago for a return match with the Fire the following Wednesday.

SUNSPOTS — Fears thinks Greg Herd, the big fullback, will be a good one. Herd averaged 6.1 yards per carry on five carries. "Herd is just getting in shape," revealed Fears. "He weighed 272 pounds when he reported. He's down to 236 now."

Middle linebacker Eric Patton led the defense with nine tackles. Patton and company kept the Storm runners pretty well bottled up. Rufus Ferguson was tops with 31 yards in 13 carries.

WILMINGTON, Ohio (UPI) — Neal Craig, a starter at safety for the Cincinnati Bengals the past three years who lost his job while walking the picket line, has been traded to the Buffalo Bills.

HAVERFORD, Pa. (UPI) — Defending titlist Straight Clark of Villanova, Pa., scored a 6-2, 6-3 win over Scott Garman of Lititz, Pa., Wednesday to advance to the third round of the 56th National Senior grass court tennis championships.

National League roundup

Lou may steal MVP award

By United Press International

Lou Brock has just about "stolen" the National League's Most Valuable Player Award from the sluggers.

"Lectrifyin' Lou moved two thefts closer to Maury Wills' single season stolen base record Wednesday night and became only the third player in modern history to steal at least 90 bases in a season when he pilfered a pair to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-1 triumph over the San Diego Padres.

Brock joined Wills and the legendary Ty Cobb as the only three players since 1900 to steal at least 90 bases in a season, and it now seems he will easily beat Wills' record of 104 steals set during the 1962 season.

If he can accomplish that feat, which is akin to breaking Roger Maris' single season home run record, he would stand a pretty good chance of being named the league's MVP ahead of such powerhitters as Cincinnati's Johnny Bench, Philadelphia's Mike Schmidt and Los Angeles' Jimmy Wynn.

Brock has, after all, been the soul of the Cardinals' club this year by making a contender out of a team that does not hit the long ball very often. He is hitting .315, has scored 81 runs and his daring baserunning has forced the opposition into innumerable mistakes which do not show in the box score.

Brock, who was thrown out for the 21st time in his first attempt Wednesday night, stole his 90th base in the fifth inning then singled in the seventh and promptly stole No. 91 to set the stage for a four-run inning which proved decisive.

Walks by Reggie Smith and Joe Torre moved Brock to third and Bake McBride snapped the 1-1 tie with a two-run single. Ted Simmons then capped the rally with a two-run double. Simmons also doubled home a sixth inning run in helping Lynn McGlothen to his 15th win.

In other NL games, Cincinnati nipped Philadelphia 4-3, Atlanta topped Montreal 4-2, Pittsburgh beat San Francisco 3-1 in 11 innings, Houston edged New York 3-2 in 10 innings and Los Angeles downed Chicago 7-6.

Reds 4, Phillies 3

Pinch-hitter Terry Crowley doubled home Darrell Chaney in the eighth inning to give the Reds a victory over the Phillies. Chaney singled off losing pitcher Ron Schueler with two out and scored when Crowley doubled. Bob Boone homered for the Phils.

Braves 4, Expos 2

Ralph Garr's two-run triple triggered a three-run ninth inning that lifted the Braves over the Expos. A double by Vic Correll and a walk to pinchhitter Hank Aaron preceded Garr's double and Marty Perez singled home the final run of the inning. Carl Morton gained his 14th win for the Expos.

Pirates 3, Giants 1

Ed Kirkpatrick doubled home two runs in the 11th to give the East Division-leading Pirates their sixth consecutive triumph. Kirkpatrick's hit came with two out after loser Jim Barr had walked two batters.

Astros 3, Mets 2

Cliff Johnson's fifth pinch-hit homer of the year with two out in the 10th enabled the Astros to defeat the Mets. Johnson connected off reliever Jerry Cram and moved to within one of the record for most pinch-hit homers in a season set by Johnny Frederick of Brooklyn in 1932.

American League roundup

A typical night for Oakland A's

By United Press International

It was just another typical night on the pennant road for the Oakland A's.

Steady Jim "Catfish" Hunter became a 20-game winner for the fourth straight year; Reggie Jackson won it for him with a pair of homers; Charlie Finley was on hand to share the spotlight.

And Manager Alvin Dark managed to spoil the occasion just a bit with one of his mystifying decisions that leaves the A's shaking their heads in disbelief.

That's the way it is for Oakland, a club that is rapidly proving itself to be one of the great teams in baseball history. It has a real shot at its third straight world championship—a feat performed only twice in history.

But the A's do it in their own style. For example, they don't hide the fact they don't like some of the moves that Dark makes. But they win anyway.

On Wednesday night, Hunter was rolling along with a 3-1 lead over the Milwaukee Brewers in the ninth inning. With one out, Tim Johnson singled and Dark went out to lift Hunter.

"I told him I didn't want to go out," Hunter admitted. "I didn't think he was going to take me out and when he put up his left hand, I just flipped the ball up in the air because I wanted to stay in. Lucky for me, it didn't hit the ground."

Hunter said Dark told him after the game, "I didn't want to take you out but I had to." Dark brought in both Paul Lindblad and Rollie Fingers to preserve the triumph.

Reserve Ted Kubiak said, "everyone on the bench was surprised when he took Hunter out. Everyone felt he should have stayed in. Like Ken Holtzman has said before, it's done so often, you come to expect it." Holtzman has complained in the past about Dark's quick hook.

But these incidents don't bother the A's, a group of unruffled veterans who live together in easy camaraderie.

When Jackson went up to the plate in the seventh inning with the score tied 1-1, Hunter asked him to hit a homer. He responded with his 25th homer.

"Are you glad I took you seriously," Jackson smiled when he returned to the dugout. Jackson then added his 26th homer in the ninth inning, a shot that almost cleared the rightfield bleachers more than 400 feet away.

Jackson got annoyed at himself earlier in the game when he got picked off base in the fourth inning. "Here my team is fighting for the pennant and I get picked off base so I earn my dough with two homers," Jackson said.

In the other games, Chicago downed Boston 3-0, New York blanked Minnesota 5-0, Texas beat Baltimore 4-2, Cleveland routed Kansas City 7-1 and Detroit nipped California 2-1.

Dodgers slip past Chicago

Garvey led off the last of the ninth by hitting his fifth straight single of the evening, as he bounced one to deep short and outlegged Kessinger's throw.

Roy Cey followed by bunting the ball down the first base line. Cub reliever Oscar Zamora, in a spirit of self-destruction, grabbed the ball just before it would have rolled foul. To compound that miscue, he then dropped it and everyone was safe.

Ferguson followed with another bunt, this one moving the runners along to second and third. Von Joshua was given an intentional pass, but Crawford, pinch-hitting for Bill Russell, smacked a Zamora delivery far enough to right field to allow Garvey to scoot home with the game-winner.

Outside of Madlock's blast and a two-run homer by Rick Monday in the second, the game was anything but on the pleasant side for Chicago.

A near-beanball war broke out in the fifth when Sutton nicked Cardenal with a pitch. Cardenal started towards first, but suddenly turned and began towards Sutton on the mound. Cardenal was restrained, and play continued, but not without Cub retaliation.

Batting in the sixth, Sutton was hit on the arm by a Jim Todd toss. The Cub hurler was promptly warned (and fined) by plate ump Shag Crawford, who also gave a friendly reminder to the Dodger dugout that the close shave antics were at an end for the evening.

Andy Messersmith (15-5) will oppose Bill Bonham (10-16) in tonight's 7:30 p.m. series finale, after which the Dodgers will bid a sad farewell to the Cubbies. L.A. now has won four straight and seven of their last eight.

Malone signs contract with ABA's Stars

PETERSBURG, Va. (UPI) — The next time Moses Malone writes his name, he can add the middle initial "M" to his signature. "M" for millionaire.

With quick, brief strokes of a pen, the Petersburg, Va., teenager Wednesday vaulted from 19 years of poverty and doing without to the strange, new world of money, more than he perhaps ever knew existed, and surely more than he once ever expected to earn in a normal lifetime.

Sitting in the office of Washington attorney Donald Dell, Malone, his mother and officials of the Utah Stars of the American Basketball Association agreed to terms of a professional basketball contract estimated to be worth over $3 million.

In a matter of seconds, it was over. Weeks of secret meetings, hide-and-seek games and "now you see me, now you don't" melted into wide grins as Malone turned aside a scholarship to the University of Maryland—and a probable national college championship—to become the highest paid teenager in pro basketball.

Giles upset by architect

RIDGEWOOD, N.J. (UPI) — It figured that a golf course architect would know where all the trees were planted.

And it was just such a fluke that ended Vinnie Giles' remarkable run of success in the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

Graham Cooke, a 27-year-old Canadian who has a landscape architecture degree from Michigan State and designs golf courses for a living, bounced two shots out of the woods on the final hole Wednesday when he upset Giles 1-up in the third round of this year's tournament.

"There's just no excuse for it," said Giles, who was four under par for three days and is going nome today.

That's what happens in match play, however.

Cooke, who had gone ahead with a 40-foot birdie putt from the back of the green at 17, pushed his drive on 18 far to the right of the fairway and into the trees.

It bounced out to the middle of the fairway.

"Someone must have thrown it out," Cooke joked.

Then he pushed his second shot to the right, too. It caught some limbs, came down in front of the green, and he got it up and down from there for the par that ended the match. Giles also parred 18.

"He hit it absolutely into the middle of the woods and it bounces out into the fairway," complained Giles. "Then he hits his second shot off another tree and it bounces out. I hit three perfect shots on the hole and don't get anything."

Not since Giles finished 38th as a 23-year-old in 1966 had a U.S. Amateur championship been decided without him as a leading figure.

Giles, who now is in business as an agent representing among others, young pro golfers like Allen Miller, Eddie Pearce and Tom Kite, finished second in the Amateur in 1967, 1968 and 1969, when it was conducted at stroke play.

He was sixth in 1970 and third in 1971.

Finally, in '72, Giles beat a field including Ben Crenshaw and won the title, and in last year's return to match play he was knocked out in the semifinals by the eventual winner, Craig Stadler.

Dick Siderowf, the 1973 British Amateur champion, also was an upset victim Wednesday, losing 2-up to Julian Arnold, a 50-year-old food packager from Miami, Fla.

Among those advancing to today's fourth and fifth rounds were 1964 champion Bill Campbell, now the only former winner still in contention, George Burns, the 1973 Canadian Amateur champion and current North & South titlist and Seniors champion Bill Hyndman III.

Curtis Strange, the NCAA champion from Wake Forest, stopped Jim Joseph of Homewood, Ill., an early two-hole lead before rallying from behind for the third straight day. Walker Cuppers Marty West and Gary Koch also won on Wednesday.

Game bird regulations set by CFG for '74-75 seasons

SACRAMENTO — The California Fish and Game Commission has adopted 1974-75 resident game bird hunting regulations that restore the quail limit in the southeastern desert and increase the chukar limit statewide.

Upland game bird regulations until this year were adopted with those for mammals at the end of May. The change was mandated by the Legislature in an effort to give commissioners more current data on which to base their decisions on seasons and big limits.

The FGC approved a suggestion by Commission President Peter T. Fletcher to ban the use of shot larger than No. 2 in hunting upland game and waterfowl. Fletcher had proposed outlawing BB and buckshot-sized pellets as a means of reducing crippling losses. Also approved was a regulation requiring that shot remain loose in the shell—this to prevent "stringing." Both provisions will remain in effect for one year.

The decision to increase bag limits for the two species came after the second consecutive year of wet weather that produced good forage, resulting in high reproduction levels and more quail and chukar.

The bag and possession limit for quail in the southeastern desert was restored to 10 birds, the limit for the balance of the state. This limit was reduced to six two years ago because of poor reproduction.

Also two years ago, the bag and possession limit for chukar was decreased from eight to four birds. The limit for 1974-75 is six.

The commission also added a week each to the fall and spring turkey seasons, expanded the areas open to hunting and increased the bag limit in the spring season.

No major changes were made in regulations for other resident game bird species.

Eighteen counties were added to the 23-day fall turkey season, bringing the total to 32, and the bag and possession limit will remain at two birds of either sex per season.

The spring season, also running 23 days, will include all of the fall hunt area with the addition of Madera, Mariposa and Tuolumne counties where turkey were stocked in 1969 and 1970. The seasonal limit was increased from one bearded tom to two.

The following is a rundown of regulations by species:

PHEASANTS — Nov. 16-Dec. 8 statewide. Bag and possession limit two birds of either sex per day for first weekend, four birds of either sex thereafter in southern counties; two males per day for first weekend, four males per day thereafter in balance of state.

ARCHERY PHEASANTS — Dec. 14-22 statewide; bag and possession limit two birds of either sex per day in southern California; two pheasants per day Dec. 14 and 15, four pheasants per day Dec. 16-22 in balance of state.

Bag and possession limit 10 per day statewide. Special additional mountian quail season Sept. 14-Oct. 25 in same counties open in 1973. Bag and possession limit 10 per day.

Dove hunting starts Sunday

California's 1974 dove hunting season will open Sunday, Sept. 1, and prospects in the southeastern desert areas are equal to last year.

The Department of Fish and Game says prime hunting opportunities should be found in the Palo Verde Valley and along the Colorado River.

Elsewhere in the state, fair hunting is forecast in southern California along the south coast whereas hunting will be less productive further north because of recent cold weather. A sharp drop in the number of birds in the northeastern part of the state was noted during the second week of August.

This year's 46-day split season continues through Monday, Sept. 30, then reopens Saturday, Nov. 23 and runs through Sunday, December 8. Daily bag and possession limits are 10 birds, with 20 allowed in the bag after opening day.

Cat avoids getting poisoned by spiders

By Dr. Frank Miller

DEAR DR. MILLER: Midnight often catches spiders, but more than once, I've caught her with a black widow from a nest behind our garage. She's either escaped being bitten by them, or else's she's immune to that poison. Which do you think it is? Is this a dangerous game, or can she take care of herself? Oh yes, Midnight's a cat. — K. S.

Dear K. S.: Most likely Midnight's skillful or lucky, rather than immune to black widow venom. Her hunting has to be hazardous to some degree. Pursuing poisonous prey (spiders, anyway) close to home is actually likely to be less menacing to Midnight than crossing streets in her expeditions after meadow mice or what have you. Hunting hazards, whatever the prey, are frequently fewer and less lethal than those encountered in getting there and back.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Sugar Pie, my Maltese, is a little bit on the chubby side. Her doctor told me to reduce her food by 60 per cent until she's lost five pounds and then increase her food by ten per cent. I'm curious. How many calories will she be getting? — D. F.

Dear D. F.: Dry commercial dog foods contain approximately 1,500 to 1,600 calories per pound. Canned dog foods have about 500 (ration-type) to 600 (all meat) calories per pound. Soft-moist foods average 1,300 to 1,350 calories per pound. Naturally, the total calories Sugar Pie is ingesting depends on the type and quantity of food you're feeding.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Fanny, my doe rabbit, a Flemish giant, has raised two litters, or almost raised them. Both litters left the nest at well under three weeks which, I understand, is the age that they're supposed to do this. Most of the babies survived, and they had excellent appetites, but I was wondering how come they left "home" so soon. Is this anything to worry about, or are they simply precocious? — V. W.

Dear V. W.: Precocious, possibly. More probably though, the youngsters left the nest early (three weeks IS the normal time) because the nest was uncomfortable: Possibly it was too hot, or packed with parasites, i.e., fleas. Most often, though, youngsters leave because of hunger pangs related to short rations. Does, particularly of the larger breeds, may be hard pressed to produce enough milk to maintain their litter for the normal three weeks. If Fanny's production has fallen behind the cause could range from her own poor nutrition, to heredity.

'Short' club zaps declarer

By Oswald James Jacoby

There is a certain abomination that is used in connection with not opening four-card majors. It is what is popularly called the short club. This is not otbe confused with the artificial club systems like the Vanderbilt, the Neapolitan and the Precision. It is just a sort of nondescript club opening, with three small or a doubleton.

South can make a grand slam in hearts, if he just pulls one round of trumps and then crossruffs. Six hearts will make if he takes two rounds of trumps. If he pulls all East's trumps, he will hold himself to five.

However, South never opened four-card majors. Most five-card majorities would make an exception and open one heart, but South was going to rise and fall with a silly short club.

Everything might have been, fine if good old West hadn't stpck in a nonvulnerable four-spade bid. North wasn't going to be shut out. He Blackwooded but settled for a six-club bid, in spite of South showing both missing aces.

East was too happy to double. He just waited and collected three trump tricks.

Cite dangers in foraging for edible wild plants

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — With more and more Americans foraging edible wild plants, a Purdue University research team is checking on the unsuspected dangers of a wild harvest.

The team, under a national science foundation undergraduate research program grant, is examining 60 to 80 types of wild plants and some house plants for poisonous agents.

"I don't want to buck the trend," said Dr. Jerry McLaughlin, the professor of pharmacy who heads the project. "But there are many poisonous plants that may look edible to the untrained gatherer.

"There are also those where poisonous agents are removed by proper cooking, plants that have certain parts edible and others poisonous, some that should be eaten only in certain times of the year and some that are poisonous if consumed in sufficient quantities."

McLaughlin, who has been called in often as a consultant to hospitals treating patients for plant poisoning, said, "There isn't too much known about the chemistry of plants."

"When you consider the amount of testing and re-evaluation that goes on before a new drug is tried on human beings, much less put on the market, it is amazing that plants are not treated with all this caution," he said.

After isolating the chemical in wild plants, the substances are then fed to mice to see what effects they have on them.

"We give the mice a pretty high dose, equal to a gram of the substance to a thousand grams of the mouse's weight," McLaughlin said. "Our research is just sort of a starting point because if something happens, more tests will be needed.

"Also there can be mistakes in trying to over extend the data of lab tests. For example, our tests with skunk cabbage showed it didn't kill mice, but that doesn't mean it could not harm humans."

McLaughlin said another reason for checking all types of chemicals in plants was that some of them are now being used differently than in the past. For example, for years people have made a "herb tea" from catnip —containing water soluable extracts —but in the past few years, some persons have started smoking it.

He also cited cases where persons have been poisoned because they ate the wrong part of a plant. Perhaps the most common example of this is rhubarb leaves, which contain deadly oxalic acid although the stalk is edible. But, McLaughlin said, the kernel in the pits of peaches, apricots, plums and apple seeds all contain prussic acid — cyanide.

The dangers to children from eating a harmful substance are much greater than for an adult because poison is more toxic the greater its strength is to the weight of the person.

McLaughlin recalled once he had been asked to help find out what was wrong with a little girl who had become ill and later died.

"She said she had eaten some spinach, but when we traced her path back to where she had picked the plants, we found it was wild hemlock —the same stuff that Socrates drank and the same stuff the Greeks used to give their criminals to execute them," he said.

Scouts vied for two $1,000 scholarships with 70 entrants receiving scout merit badges and award certificates. Among the more impressive entries was Philip Voss' seascape (above). The 14-year-old Gettysburg scout won $250 for this blend of craggy rock and a picturesque lighthouse scene. At right, 15-year-old David M. Davie won a first place scholarship for his stop-action picture of his sister emerging from the swimming pool.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Environment

HELEN, Ga. (UPI) — Four Southern governors warned recently that the South must curb its rapid industrialization to save its environment and protect its natural resources.

Winding up a three-day conference of the Commission on the Future of the South, the governors drafted a report for submission to the Southern Governors Conference in Atlanta Nov. 13.

"If we want reins on the wild horse growth, we'll have to suffer the harness," said the report prepared by Govs. Jimmy Carter of Georgia, John C. West of South Carolina, James E. Holshouser of North Carolina and Mills E. Godwin of Virginia.

Carter said the time is past when the South will welcome new industry with promises of cheap labor.

"We formerly took as a basic premise the proposition that one of our major advertising efforts should be, 'Come on down here, South, where you can get cheap labor and produce your product cheaper in the South because labor's cheaper,'" said Carter.

"We don't want to have industry move into Georgia or to other southern states anymore with the basic premise that they can depend on cheap labor."

The governors and 160 delegates from 13 southeastern states agreed that booming population growth in the South is inevitable.

Carter, chairman of the commission, said that rigid population controls have been ruled unconstitutional in other areas, so that states cannot dictate where people will live or whether a farmer can sell his pasture for development of housing tracts.

Assembly OKs pilot light ban by 1976

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The assembly has voted to outlaw pilot lights on gas appliances sold after 1976.

The bill (SB1521) by Sen. Alfred L. Alquist, D-San Jose, was passed Monday on a 46-6 vote and returned to the Senate for agreement on Assembly amendments.

Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles said that pilot lights currently consume 16 per cent of the natural gas burned in California.

Warren, floor sponsor of the bill, said the measure was designed to promote development of devices which could easily light gas appliances without continuously burning pilot light.

Assassination by car suspected in Belfast

BELFAST (UPI) — Police said today they have ordered three youths charged in court in what could be a new assassination method in Northern Ireland — killing by automobile.

Police said an 18-year-old Roman Catholic youth was killed and four persons were critically injured in a Catholic enclave Friday by two automobiles which drove at them on the sidewalk.

Police said if the incident was part of the province's Protestant-Catholic conflict it would be the first such killing in five years of strife between majority Protestants, minority Roman Ctholics and security forces which has taken 1,064 other lives.

From mouths of babes oft come . .

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Becky Schroeder was 10 years old when she became frustrated while trying to do homework one night waiting in a car for her mother at a local shopping center.

"I couldn't see what I was writing and I wondered why someone didn't invent something so people could write in the dark," she said.

The youngster, now 12 years old, went home and invented "luminescent writing sheets" — an invention that may have many people, including the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, knocking on her door.

Becky explained her invention as being a heavy sheet of paper coated with phosphorescent paint. The paper is coated and exposed to light for a minute or two. It then glows in the dark "pretty brightly" for one to two hours. She said her invention will allow people not only to write in the dark but also to write neatly.

Becky applied for a patent number and got it. Patent No. 3,832,556 will become official Aug. 27 —making her one of the youngest inventors in the nation.

"My dad helped me by buying the materials I needed," Becky said, noting the invention was all her own idea.

She said she recently received a letter from the NASA expressing interest in the invention for possible use on spaceflights.

She said her idea would also prove helpful to police officers writing tickets and reports in the dark and to movie critics trying to take notes in theaters.

When in debt

No need to panic

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UI) — You need not head for bankruptcy court or hide behind bushes (to avoid collectors) when monthly payments for debts exceed income — be it from paycheck or pension fund.

A lawyer who makes his living helping debtors survive said in an interview there are stratagems for survival before bankruptcy court —and after you've stopped hiding from collectors.

Sidney Sherwin, the lawyer, said: "Don't panic."

His Rx: fill yourself with advice and information and then select the wisest, most economical, most painless legal way to get out of debt.

You won't survive, unless the experience teaches you to stay out of the debt trap, says Sherwin.

It sounds as though Sherwin, who once advised creditors how to get deadbeats to pay up, is peddling some kind of tricky solution.

"I'm not," he said, "for it is possible for people in debt over their heads to survive without bankruptcy. The trip to bankruptcy court, when necessary, has no substitute. But I say bankrutcy isn't always the avenue of best resort."

Sherwin, of New York City, is out with a new book, "What To Do When Your Bills Exceed Your Paycheck" (Prentice Hall).

As a lawyer who advises persons in debt head over heels, he is dismayed over the rise in bankruptcies and the extent to which young marrieds and young single workers are running into debt beyond control.

"Most debtors don't realize," he said, "that immediate mental relief can be obtained if one will bear in mind that one can never be put in jail for merely being in ordinary debt."

"I say 'ordinary' because the exceptions to this rule are being delinquent in the payment of alimony or in support payments for members of the family."

If the creditor uses unreasonable harassing tactics or unreasonably frightens you with deliberately prepared documents that look like court processes, you can do something about it.

Sherwin says he advises his clients to send a telegram when so threatened or exposed to such tactics. In the telegram clients are advised tell the creditor to bug off or he will be sued.

Under the law unreasonable harassment or threats are no-nos.

"In trying to collect his debt, a creditor may commit extortion by threatening the debtor enough to induce fear in him of extreme consequences," Sherwin said.

In many states, the lawyer indicted, this is extortion.

Now suppose you realize you can't pay and the creditor is threatening to sue. Quick, before that point, contact the creditor. Find out the basis of his action. You may have some defense—an out—in that.

In his book, Sherwin explains the various defenses. They include legal defenses that may justify not paying a debt.

Excerpts from the list:

—USURY. Defined as charging excess interest. More than the legal rate. If you signed a contract rate that is higher, you may have an out.

—INFANCY. This applies to anyone under 21 —considered an infant. Various states have changed the ages to under 20 or under 18. It is worth checking.

A case study: an infancy may be entitled to any money he has paid on a contract he declares void, but he must return the goods. To wit: An 18 year old buys a car under a conditional sales contract. He makes one payment and does not make any more. He is sued. The "infant" can and should advise the dealer by certified mail he is giving up the contract and then return the car to the dealer.

Another legal defense: incompetency. Say you were drunk, insane or incompetent when you signed an agreement. You plead that as a legal defense.

Donna Woods is wed in Ontario rituals

Turner photo

MRS. ROBERT ZANIN

Now making their home in Alta Loma are newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Robert John Zanin.

The bride is the former Donna Lynn Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Woods of Montclair. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Zanin, also of Montclair.

The Rev. R. C. Andersen officiated at the double-ring service in First Lutheran Church of Ontario.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of organza over taffeta designed with lace inserts on the bodice outlined with pearls. A coronet of pearls held the bride's fingertip veil.

White orchids and white rosebuds on a white Bible were carried by the bride.

Honor attendants were Gale Tarockoff and Mrs. Thelma J. Woods.

Timothy Zanin was his brother's best man. Ushers were Alan Yates, Robert Lewis Woods and R. Martin Woods.

The couple was feted at a reception in the church fellowship hall.

They honeymooned in Colorado.

Sue Folk, Mr. Smith say vows

The La Verne Church of the Brethren was the setting for the marriage of Miss Sue M. Folk and Gary Dale Smith.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Folk of Yorba Linda, was given in marriage by her father. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolf Weltner of Claremont.

The marriage was performed by Mr. Weltner, assisted by the Rev. Charles E. McAllister and the Rev. Leland Wilson.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of angel poie de soie with lace appliques at the neckline and on the sleeves. She wore a chapel-length veil and carried a nosegay bouquet of daisies and carnations.

Mrs. Ellen Cadarette was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Diana Williamson and Miss Barbara Jefferson.

The bride's nephew, Forrest Folk, was ring bearer.

Henry Wilkinson was best man. Ushers were David Smith and David Vos.

A reception at the church followed the evening, double-ring service.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside in La Verne after a honeymoon near Bishop.

Ede, Howland vows recited in Carlsbad

MRS. RICHARD EDE

Miss Gay Priscilla Howland of Claremont and Richard Charles Ede, also of Claremont, were united in marriage in an afternoon ceremony read by the Rev. William A. Driver in St. Michael's By-the-Sea Episcopal Church in Carlsbad.

A reception for 160 guests at the church was followed by a buffet at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Ede of Carlsbad.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Howland of Fremont was given in marriage by her parents. She wore an empire gown of white eyelet with a tiered skirt. Yellow ribbon trimmed the gown. Her veil was floor-length.

Mrs. Les Compton was matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Dorothy Amos and Miss Susan Sugg.

Dr. Oran W. Palmer of Claremont was the best man. Ushers were Dr. Les Compton of La Jolla and Jamie White of Claremont.

After a honeymoon in northern California, Mr. and Mrs. Edie are residing in Claremont.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Pomona College and is attending Claremont Graduate School. Mr. Ede graduated from Pomona College and received his master's degree at Claremont Graduate School. He is a teacher and coach at Claremont High School.

Many rings

Rings for schoolgirls are sweet things dangling initials from a narrow braided band. They also are gold filled and coiling a tiny snake. The newest ones include, too, one that's just a curved golden heart. Many rings on the fingers of each hand is still the jewelry accent schoolgirls most like.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "HOW DID MUSEUMS START?"

ROSANNE ACARA TONAWANDA, NY

Where could you go to see an Egyptian mummy or the paintings of great artists? Where could you see the bones of a dinosaur?

The answer is "a museum."

Just as you may collect stamps or coins, museums are places that collect and display valuable art works, stuffed animals and many other interesting historical and scientific objects.

The first museums were founded in ancient Egypt.

They were usually places where art, music and the sciences were studied. Museums as we know them did not develop until many centuries later.

They grew out of the private collections of works of art and other treasures started by wealthy people during the Middle Ages. Today there are many different kinds of museums to visit. Art museums, for example, collect and show paintings, statues and other masterpieces of art.

And you can see model dinosaurs in museums of natural history.

A BRITANNICA Atlas, radio, camera, globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061
